HE WINS, HE WINCES

Teen-ager Bobby Todd of Denver, Colo., gasps in pain and surprise as a mare he had just won steps on his foot. The steed, named Ginger, was the prize in a contest young Todd won today by guessing the attendance at the Denver race track. Probably the first thing he will teach her is to be more careful with her hooves. (UPI Telephoto)

TWO SLAYING PARTNERS ESCAPE FROM QUENTIN

Take Civilian Car, Flee Over Bridge

By STEPHEN COOK

Two murder partners serving life sentences escaped from the minimum security area of San Quentin Prison at 10:50 a.m. today by hot-wiring and driving off the car of the prison's chief uniformed correctional officer.

Jimmie L. Bushbaum, 29, and Arthur G. Jones, 32, made their zany escape in the white 1962 Pontiac Hardtop belonging to Capt. Carl G. Hocker.

Before the prison sent an all-points bulletin, the convicts, dressed in prison denims, had traversed the Richmond-San Rafael Bridge, paid their toll and sped on to the east.

Associate Warden James W. L. Park said the men were both assigned to maintenance activity outside the prison walls.

They were seen in a prison electrical shop truck this morning, driving down one of the roads in the reservation which houses families of prison employees.

Park said the truck was found atop a hill overlooking the prison's east gate. He said the men climbed a cattle fence and walked down to the Hocker home outside the gate.

FIND CAR

They found the captain's car in the garage, Park said, hotwired it and drove away.

"From that point on, they did not have to pass through any gates," he said.

Hocker was at work inside the prison. His wife, Ethel, was in the house, but did not hear the car drive off, Park said.

The alarm was sounded by R. J. Campbell, painter foreman at the prison, who lives across the street from the Hockers. He said he was driving up the street when he saw the car go by with two men in it.

TOLL GATE

Toll Sgt. Charles Seaman, on the Richmond-San Rafael Bridge, said collector James Thompson of Richmond may have been the man who took the toll from the two convicts. "But we can't be sure at all," he added.

He said the radio description of the escape vehicle came through long after the car passed through the toll gate. The sergeant said Thompson thinks he may have processed the vehicle.

PRISON DENIMS

"But he was not watching for it at the time and doesn't even recall who was driving, how many were in the car or what they were wearing," recounted Sergeant Seaman.

Park said the convicts—Bushbaum and Jones—were wearing prison denims.

The pair entered the prison in 1960. The two halted a man on a darkened San Bernardino County road to rob him. The victim was shot in the leg and bled to death before he was found.

Park described Bushbaum as standing five feet eight inches tall, with brown hair, blue eyes, ruddy complexion, medium build and a weight of 150 pounds.

He said Jones is the same height with brown hair, hazel eyes, ruddy complexion, medium build and weighs 135 pounds.

SHORELINE CRASH

Reunion Of Four Friends Ends With Highway Death

Killed was Guadelupe de los Santos-Velasquez, 55, of Marshall, passenger in a car driven by Jose Gallegos Diaz, 41, of Lamont, Kern County.

His death was first attributed to a heart seizure. Diaz said Sabtos-Velasquez suddenly suffered a seizure, lunged at him, and the car went out of control and crashed into an embankment.

However, an autopsy showed Santos-Velasquez died of a crushed chest, reported Asst. Coroner William C. Bradley. Broken ribs punctured his heart. There was no sign of a heart attack.

The death was the 20th this year in Marin County traffic. To this date last year, there had been 31.

Santos-Velasquez' three friends, Diaz and Jose O'Hara and Feliciano Nodal of Healdsburg, tried to revive Santos-Velasquez, then waited in the foggy night for almost two hours before going to the Jack McPherson Ranch on Shoreline Highway at Tomales, where the county fire department was called.

Firemen arrived at 3:49 a.m. and also tried to revive Santos-Velasquez. He was pronounced dead by Bradley at 5 a.m. and taken to Redwood Funeral Home, Novato, for the autopsy.

O'Hara, 46, and Nodal, 45, had driven from Healdsburg with Diaz to visit Santos-Velasquez, an employee of the Earl Maggetti Ranch at Marshall for eight years. Both O'Hara and Nodal have worked at the Maggetti Ranch.

The four visited several bars in West Marin, Bradley reported, and stopped at the Tomales Hotel before starting back to the Maggetti Ranch at 12:30 a.m., when Santos-Velasquez was stricken.

Bradley said Santos-Velasquez had been in ill health for several months and had been under a physician's care for treatment of a growth in his stomach.

Santos-Velasquez was born Dec. 12, 1909, in Mexico. He had been in the United States for 11 years, working as a ranch hand.

He leaves his wife, Marie Rios Santos-Velasquez of Mexico; two sons, Jose Guadalupe, 30, and Ignacio, 20, both of Mexico, and a daughter, Maria De Lurdes, 15, visiting relatives in Oakland.

Peninsula Sports Car Crash Kills Sausalitan

A 23-year-old Sausalito traffic analyst was killed instantly last night in Woodside when the sports car he was driving hurtled over a 40-foot embankment, throwing the driver onto a horse trail.

In serious condition at Sequoia Hospital, Redwood City, today was Ellis's passenger, James J. Bettett, 27, of Redwood City.

California Highway Patrolmen said the 1964 red Jaguar sports car in which the youths were traveling was reported missing from a San Francisco garage where it had been left for repairs.

The car was owned by John Walker, owner of Farallones East, a Stinson Beach restaurant. Walker had left his car at Golden Gate Garage. He said it had been taken without his permission.

Ellis apparently ran a stop sign at about 10:35 p.m. at Edgewood and Canada roads in Woodside and tried to make a right turn at 50 to 60 miles an hour, patrolmen reported. The sports car struck a small sign, rolled over, flipped end-over-end down the embankment, throwing Ellis out.

The car landed on its top, pinning Bennett in the wreckage for several minutes. Parts from the vehicle were scattered 360 feet.

Patrolmen had been unable to get a statement from Bennett.

Ellis, who worked as traffic analyst for Continental Can Co. in San Francisco, is survived by his parents of Sebastopol.

Dodgers Win; No-Hitter In The A.L.

CHICAGO (AP) — Sandy Koufax came on in relief in the ninth inning today to help Claude Osteen nail down a 2-0 victory over the Chicago Cubs that snapped a three-game losing streak by the Los Angeles Dodgers.

BOSTON (AP) — Boston's Dave Morehead pitched the first American League no-hitter in three years today, allowing only one man to reach base as the Red Sox defeated the Cleveland Indians 2-0.

Morehead, a 23-year-old righthander in his third year with Boston, walked Rocky Colavito on a 3-2 pitch leading off the second inning, then retired the next 24 batters in a row. After Calovito walked, Morehead struck out Fred Whitfield, Chuck Hinton and Pedro Gonzales, retiring the side.

That walk kept Morehead from duplicating Sandy Koufax' feat of exactly one week ago when the Los Angeles Dodger ace pitched a perfect game against the Chicago Cubs in the National League.

The Red Sox didn't get Morehead a run until the sixth inning when Jim Gosger got only the second hit off Luis Tiant, his second single, and raced home as Dalton Jones tripled. In between Gosger's hits, Tiant retired 17 consecutive batters.

Morehead, who has been playing professional baseball for only five years, reached a three-ball count to only two other batters, going 3-1 to Tiant in the sixth and to Colavito in the seventh. He struck out Tiant and retired Colavito on a grounder.

Morehead was as strong in the ninth as he had been in the entire game. Larry Brown batted for Sims leading off the inning and lined to shortstop Eddie Bressoud, who made a leaping catch.

LBJ Tells Barristers U.N. Best Peace Tool

In an address prepared for judges and lawyers from 100 countries attending the Washington World Conference on World Peace Through Law, Johnson said:

"Central to the hope of world peace through law is the United Nations. . . .I hope we can strengthen the United Nations, not simply as a forum for debate but as an arena for the solution of disputes. . . . And my country will fully support the efforts of the secretary-general to bring peace between the great nations of India and Pakistan."

This was the only reference in Johnson's prepared text to the latest Asian conflict. He made no mention of a suggestion yesterday by President Mohammed Ayub Khan of Pakistan that the United States assume a larger role in trying to end fighting over Kashmir.

While the administration has not ruled out possible direct American efforts to promote a Pakistan-India settlement, the immediate response to Ayub's statement was to reaffirm support of U.N. Secretary-General U Thant's mediation attempts — and to gather more information about the private thinking reflected in Ayub's public statement.

In London, Thant said to-tary-General U Thant said today his peace mission to India and Pakistan was not a failure.

"You will discover this tomorrow when my report is made public," he told reporters at London airport.

Thant is heading back to New York to report to the U.N. Security Council on his mission.

The secretary-general spoke to newsmen after talking with Foreign Secretary Michael Stewart during a stopover en route to New York from Bombay.

In New Delhi, Indian Prime Minister Lal Bahadur Shastri said today he accepted a ceasefire proposal by Thant, United Press International reported. Shastri blamed Pakistani conditions for preventing the ceasefire in the war with Pakistan from going into effect.

Shastri said in Parliament today that Thant told him "if by the evening of Sept. 15 no reply is received from Pakistan we should take it that agreement on a cease-fire has not been reached."

Shastri referred to Pakistani President Mohammad Ayub Khan's remarks in Rawalpindi yesterday that "good sense . . . required India and Pakistan to live in peace."

Shastri said "if this is a new and sincere thought I greatly welcome it, however belated it may be."

Indians Press Attack Against Kashmir City

By U. P. INTERNATIONAL

Indian troops today stormed across the Icchogil Canal defending the West Pakistan city of Lahore and were only six miles from the city itself, Indian Defense Ministry Sources announced in New Delhi.

The Indian advance on the city from which more than 600 Americans were evacuated yesterday came as efforts to win a ceasefire ground to a virtual standstill.

The U.S. Embassy in Karachi said a U. S. Air Force plane today evacuated 30 American women and children from the Pakistani capital of Rawalpindi and that another group went overland toward Kabul, the capital of neighboring Afghanistan.

Informed sources said it was likely Americans would be evacuated shortly from Peshawar which was bombed by Indian planes today for the second time.

An Indian spokesman said Pakistani troops yesterday blew up a bridge across the canal on the road leading from the border town of Wagah to the city—Pakistan's second largest —16 miles inside the borders of Pakistan.

The canal is described as 100 feet wide and 10 feet deep. It was constructed by Pakistan in 1954 to ensure the defense of Lahore in event of any possible advance into Pakistan.

PETITIONS PLANNED

Historical Group Wants To Save The Courthouse

"Save the Courthouse" petitions will be circulated by the Marin County Historical Society.

Members of the society at its annual meeting last night at the San Rafael Improvement Club voted to undertake a petition campaign to prevent destruction of the courthouse which has served Marin County for nearly a century.

The county board of supervisors plans to sell the courthouse square in downtown San Rafael in hope of raising $1,400,000 toward the seven-million-plus cost of the next stage of the Civic Center.

Huldah Moorhead of Ross sparked the society's action with a speech in which she stressed historical value of the edifice, the cornerstone of which was laid in 1872, and the park-like atmosphere it creates in downtown San Rafael.

San Rafael City Council and county board of supervisors have both expressed concern lest the property be sold to a speculator who would subdivide it for commercial use. The city has employed Dan Coleman Associates to make a survey of best possible uses for the property. In a preliminary report last week, Daniel P. Coleman, San Rafael resident who heads the engineering-planning organization, said community leaders seemed in agreement the square should be concerted to a public park or plaza with underground parking and carefully designed commercial or office buildings.

The historical society went further, however, advocating the courthouse itself be kept. Only the courthouse annex, completed eight years ago, should be demolished, members agreed.

The "Save the Courthouse" petitions will advocate that the

Thief Takes $4,535 In Paychecks

A thief walked into the office of Dickman Construction Co. in the Uplands Apartments at 5208 Paradise Drive, Corte Madera, yesterday and stole $4,535 in signed payroll checks.

Steve Lyon, company bookkeeper, said the checks, drawn on the Mountain View branch of Crocker-Citizens Bank, were stolen between 1:30 and 2:30 p.m.

He said he was at the post office during that time and had left the door to the office unlocked. The 46 checks, which are yellow and bear the signature of Lois J. Morrison, were in a folder on a shelf, he said.

Corte Madera Police Inspector Harold Hockett said he notified banks and stores to be on the lookout for anyone attempting to cash the checks.

Spencer Tracy's Condition Worse

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)— Spencer Tracy was reported in critical condition today in Good Samaritan Hospital following surgery earlier this week.

A spokesman for the hospital said the two-time Academy Award-winning actor was admitted for medical observation last Aug. 30.

Tracy, 65, underwent a prostatectomy on Sept. 4 when his condition was pronounced as "good." Last Tuesday his condition worsened and today he was placed on the critical list.

Military Told To Hire Civilians Overseas

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara today ordered the hiring of civilians to replace military personnel in foreign noncombat jobs. He estimated it would reduce draft requirements by about 75,000 men.

McNamara told a news conference he had ordered the military services to hire some 60,000 civilians during this fiscal year as the initial phase of the program which he said would both speed up and reduce the cost of the nation's military buildup.

Bombers Strike Delta Target

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — U.S. Air Force B-52 bombers made their first raid into the Mekong River delta, south of Saigon today, striking a suspected Red target 90 miles below the capital, U.S. military authorities said.

The raid over Vinh Binh Province was the 25th reported made by the jets of the Strategic Air Command against targets in Viet Nam.

The other raids have been carried out north of Saigon mostly in Zone D, long a Communist stronghold, and in the Ben Cat area a few miles north of the capital.

On the ground U.S. and allied troops ran into sniper and mortar fire as they tried to clear the Viet Cong from thick jungle near Ben Cat. Vietnamese paratroopers, joined by U.S., Australian and New Zealand troops have not yet made major contact with the elusive guerrillas, a spokesman said.

Australian and New Zealand troops suffered light losses in the jungle probe near Ben Cat, about 30 miles north of Saigon in Binh Duong Province, but no U.S. casualties were reported, he said.

A U.S. patrol came under Viet Cong fire and ordered the guerrillas out of their underground bunkers. When they refused, a grenade was tossed into one opening. A newsman said women and children were among the casualties resulting from the grenade explosion.

The area of the joint operation, being cleared to establish a U.S. base, has long been considered a Viet Cong stronghold.

U.S. Air Force planes attacked North Viet Nam's Yen Khoai military barracks 35 miles west-northwest of Hanoi, a spokesman said. U.S. planes hit the same target Sunday and Tuesday.

Vietnamese sources claimed an 11-day-old operation 13 miles southwest of Da Nang has resulted in 167 Viet Cong killed. U.S. spokesmen said 122 bodies were counted.

East, West Pick U.N. Candidates

(AP) — Eastern and Western European countries have come up with candidates for president of the 20th session of the U.N. General Assembly, which opens next Tuesday.

Youths, Police Clash At Singing Concert

BERLIN (UPI)—West Berlin police clashed with rioting youths last night at a performance of the "Rolling Stones" singing group at Waldbuehne Stadium. Police said 12 policemen were among 73 persons injured.

About 20 persons were arrested after the youths damaged the stadium and fought with police on the streets, in elevated railway trains and in stations.

Ex-Defense Aide Found Innocent

ALEXANDRIA, Va. (AP) — James Robert Loftis Jr., former administrative assistant to Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara, has been acquitted of charges that he embezzled government funds.

A federal District Court jury returned the verdict after two hours of deliberation yesterday.

Loftis, 53, was accused of taking $3,873 in 1960 and 1961 from special overseas travel accounts in the Defense Department, and with making false statement about use of some of that money.

WIRE NEWS BRIEFS From Everywhere

Machinists Strike At Boeing

SEATTLE, Wash. (UPI)—The International Assn. of Machinists and Aerospace Workers went on strike today against Boeing Co. plants from here to Cape Kennedy, idling 34,300 workers.

The walkout followed a last-ditch attempt by federal mediators to work out an agreement between the firm and the union in their dispute over the company's employee rating system.

Boeing announced that it would continue to operate behind the picket lines, stating that workers not involved in the labor dispute would be expected to work as usual.

39 Die In Viet Plane Crash

QUANG NGAI, South Viet Nam (AP)—Thirty-nine persons, including an American, were killed today when an Air Viet Nam C-47 commercial airliner crashed shortly after takeoff from Quang Ngai airfield.

The dead American was Jerry Rose, described as a free lance writer who also was a civilian adviser to the South Vietnamese government. His wife lives in Hong Kong.

Among the dead was the South Vietnamese minister of rural pacification, Nguyen Tat Ung.

Greeks To Try New Coalition

ATHENS (AP) — Informed sources said today Stephanos Stephanoupulos was practically assured of becoming Greece's next premier designate.

He was said to be waiting only for King Constantine to summon him to the palace and give him a mandate to form a coalition government.

Stephanopulos, who backed away from a mandate six weeks ago after his party refused to support him, was now reported certain of winning a parliamentary vote of confidence.

Demonstrator Jailed

PORTLAND, England (UPI) — Terence Spencer, 19, told a court yesterday that he illegally boarded two warships Sunday in the Portland Naval Base for "personal satisfaction." Spencer, a sympathizer with the campaign for nuclear disarmament, was jailed for 10 days on a charge of entering a prohibited area.

Rumors Persist Of Shakeup In Russ Command

One persistent rumor, widely credited in Western diplomatic circles, was that Anastas Mikoyan will retire as president on his 70th birthday Nov. 25.

It was the earliest of the rumors to build up around the regime of Premier Alexei Kosygin and Communist party chief Leonid Brezhnev which took over last Oct. 14 after the ouster of Premier Nikita Khrushchev.

The Communist party Central Committee is scheduled to meet Sept. 27 and presumably any changes will be announced after it starts.

Among the rumors is one that Alexander Shelepin has been and ambitious leader, has been trying to engineer a takeover with the intention of seizing both the premiership and the party leadership.

Indonesia Bomb Reports Leave Diplomats Puzzled

JAKRTA (UPI)— Indonesia's announced intention to explode an atomic bomb sometime in the near future — possibly through an underwater test—is puzzling diplomatic observers here.

There have been no indications of preparations for the explosion of anuclear device, although officials condinue to declare that Indonesia will explode an atomic bomb shortly.

There have been no reports of construction on any of the Indonesian islands or of ships arriving or being built to carry a nuclear device for underwater testing.

Experts say some sort of construction to house equipment and scientists would have to be undertaken if there is to be an explosion in Indonesian territory any time soon.

Brig. Gen. Hartono said such an explosion might occur around the dates of the second Afro-Asian Conference to be held in Algiers. Afro-Asian foreign ministers are scheduled to begin meeting in Algiers in October. Heads of state will meet on Nov. 5.

West Marin Pool Access Still Issue

Is purchase of public access to White House Pool in West Marin a dead issue?

Leonard Tibbott of the Marin Rod and Gun Club raised the question yesterday before the Marin County Park and Recreation Commission.

He told the commission that Waldo Giacomini, owning the land adjacent to the pool, is asking $50,000 an acre, a prohibitive price for the club to consider. He thought it might be possible to negotiate for an easement so that fishermen could at least have access to the waterway.

Park and recreation director Kelvin J. Nelson and Tibbott said that through a swap with the state to straighten out an old and confused survey, Giacomini's property line now goes to the middle of Paper Mill Creek, and this gave him enough of the creek for a dredging project.

Tibbott said the Rod and Gun Club would like to buy six acres between Bear Valley and Olema creeks where they enter Paper Mill, but "the price is way out of line."

Commissioner Melton Ferris, declaring that White House Pool is "tied to the very tradition of West Marin," urged that further efforts to obtain at least an easement.

The matter will be taken up by the commission again Oct. 6.

Tour Report Slated

Larkspur School District Supt. Milton S. Cohen will speak of his tour through Europe and Russia at a conference of the Assn. of School Administrators for Napa, Humboldt and Sonoma counties in Ukiah next Wednesday.

Park, Recreation Director Gives Views In Farewell

Members of the Marin County Park and Recreation Commission yesterday gave a formal farewell to the county's first park and recreation director, Kelvin J. Nelson.

Nelson will leave at the end of the month to become a resource specialists with the federal Bureau of Outdoor Recreation. He does not yet know where this assignment will take him, but hopes he can stay in the Bay Area.

In a lengthy farewell talk to the commission, Nelson suggested they would have to take a more active part in recreation and park projects and become "a working commission."

He said the $50,000 in the current county budget for park acquisition "does not even make good sense." Nelson announced his resignation soon after supervisors cut the budget item in June from $100,000 to $50,000.

Nelson also urged the commission to try to establish a position of supervisor of operation and maintenance in the department.

Chairman Gibbs Lawson and commissioner Elizabeth Davies praised and thanked Nelson for his services.

The commission agreed to ask Walter Horchler of the county planning department to serve as interim director, to prepare a study list of priorities to present at the next meeting Oct. 6.

Bird Trap Foiled

GENOA, Italy (UPI) — An angry crowd of pigeon lovers yesterday trampled nets baited with bird feed in the main square of Genoa. The crowd also made noises to frighten away the pigeons before the pigeon hunters could gather up the nets. Municipal authorities have been trying to get rid of the messy birds.

Coast Guard Raps Skipper After Search

Coast Guardsmen were miffed today at a Redondo Beach boat skipper for radioing for help Tuesday night off Half Moon Bay, but then never advising later that he made it safely into Sausalito.

"We spent a lot of taxpayers' money in looking for the boat and conducted a lot of search which was fruitless," a Coast Guard spokesman said.

The call came to the Coast Guard at 8:20 p.m. Tuesday. Harbors were checked all yesterday by two cutters. Three airplanes searched the coastline from the Golden Gate to Santa Cruz throughout the day.

About 6:25 p.m. yesterday a cutter discovered William Riley's 41-foot fishing boat, Tina, at Clipper Yacht Harbor No. 2. Riley, who said he had engine trouble, was accompanied by his three daughters and a son.

Lawmaker Set To Speak At School Workshop

Assemblyman Nicholas Petris (D-Alameda) is among speakers scheduled to appear at a workshop for school trustees from Marin at the Granada School, in Corte Madera from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. Saturday.

Petris, chairman of the assembly committee on revenue and taxation, is scheduled to speak about tax reform at 10:45 a.m.

Other speakers are Stanley Oswalt, superintendent of Roland School District, on "A Quality Program"; Raymond Johnson, assistant chief, division of public school administration, "State Support '65," and Arthur Phelan, acting assistant chief, bureau of National Defense Education Act administration, "Federal Participation in Public Education."

The conference is sponsored by Marin County School Boards Assn.

Island Proposal Review Sought By Commission

The Marin County Park and Recreation Commission last night asked that a committee of three, with representatives from their commission, the Strawberry Recreation District and Tiburon, be formed to review plans for the proposed improvement of an island in Harbor Cove.

Plans call for the island, jointly owned by the county, Tiburon and the Strawberry Recreation District, to be filled and developed as a recreation area.

At this time, the island becomes a marshland when the water level rises. One of the stated purposes of the committee would be to check with the Marin Audubon Society to see if it objects to the necessary filling.

State Doctors Set Up Medicare Committee

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The California Medical Association announced today creation of a 15-man task force to work on regulations for the Medicare program.

The objective is to help assure quality medical care under the vast program providing hospital and medical care to 1.5 million California residents over 65, said Dr. Ralph C. Teall of Sacramento, CMA president.

proposal be put on the ballot next June, although County Counsel Douglas J. Maloney told the society this could not be done.

Roy Graves, society director and curator of its museum at Boyd Park, proposed that the campaign take the form of a ballot initiative.

Several speakers attacked the county board of supervisors for committing the taxpayers to Civic Center development without a vote, and for deciding to sell the courthouse property.

One supervisor, Thomas T. Storer of the Fourth District, was present.

"Don't the people have anything to say about whether the courthouse is preserved?" he was asked.

"Unfortunately, I'm afraid they don't," he answered.

The historical society also voted to sponsor publication of a Marin County history, which has been discussed by the board of supervisors but dropped. Resolution for this was introduced by Mrs. Virginia Keating, county librarian, who was authorized to take advance orders for the book.

Elected to the society's board for 1965-66 were the following: Mrs. V. J. Bloom, William P. Murray Jr., Elinor Burt, Roderick P. Martinelli, Mrs. Henri Clouette, Dr. W. Scott Polland, Mrs. Elie E. Dalmon, Graves, Mrs. Florence Donnelly, Mrs. Keating, Dr. Leo L. Stanley, Mrs. Roy Graves, Mrs. Helen Park, Joseph B. Rice and Mrs. Thomas L. Harris.

Helen Park of Mill Valley reported on a class in Marin County history under the Tamalpais High School District adult education which had its first meeting Tuesday night at Sir Francis Drake High School.

Rev. John B. McGloin, S.J., principal speaker, talked on the Franciscan missions in California. He emphasized that in speaking of the Franciscan chain, it is often overlooked that the first were founded in Baja California. He said the reason for establishing the mission in San Rafael was the mild climate compared to that of Mission Dolores in San Francisco, where Indians were sick and dying.

Cyclist Injured On Blind Curve

Douglas Edward Thayer, 22, of 70 Lincoln Avenue, San Anselmo, was recovering at San Rafael General Hospital today from injuries suffered when his motorcycle collided with a car in San Rafael yesterday afternoon.

He told police the mishap occurred on a blind curve on Highland Avenue near Deer Park Avenue about 2 p.m. Police said the driver of the car was Richard Donald Reyes of Sonoma.

Thayer, who works at a San Rafael skating rink and attends College of Marin at night, suffered injuries about the head, arms, shoulders and hip .

Water Sought By Muir Beach

Muir Beach Community Services District directors are asking Marin Municipal Water District either to provide Muir Beach residents with surplus water or to take Muir Beach into the Marin Municipal Water District.

Directors, meeting Tuesday night in a special session, agreed on the request. Directors Albert Vidart and James Dixon were absent.

"It is the first time we have asked to join Marin Municipal Water District," reported board president Jack F. Harris, "but we're getting desperate for better water."

Prison Escapee Easy To Follow

Inmate Glenn Udell Scoggins, 30, walked away from San Quentin Prison's Conservation Camp 27 in Konocti, Lake County, early today.

He may not know it, but he is leaving a trail which could be followed by a 10-year-old child with a minor interest in sleuthing.

Associate Prison Warden James W. L. Park reported that prison camp officials were having an easy time trailing the convict because he wore a new pair of boots "and left very identifiable prints."

Scoggins, serving a one year to life sentence for robbery and bad checks in Yolo County, has been in prison since June 7.

Marin City Burglars Take And Use Tools

Burglars broke into a storage room of the Housing Authority of Marin County in Marin City last night, obtained tools and then apparently used them in safe burglaries at Manzanita School in Marin City and the housing authority office in Hilarita in Tiburon.

A door to the Hilarita office was pried open with a crow bar and the safe, weighing about 500 pounds and containing about $200 in rent money, was carried out.

The safe at Manzanita School contained only $18 in milk money, but the thieves also took a stereo phonograph and two typewriters from the school office and an adding machine, typewriter and fire extinguisher from the office of the child care center in the same building.

Forgery Case Drug Suspect Takes Stand

Defendant Ronald Romaine Wormuth took the stand today in Marin County Superior Court to say he could not remember going into the Woodlands Pharmacy in Kentfield on March 29, when he is charged with being one of two men who presented a forged prescription for nembutal.

The case against Wormuth was scheduled to go to the jury later today. Wormuth, 24, of 830 B Street, San Rafael, and Frederick Kitzmiller, also 24, of 56 Clayton Street, San Rafael, were arrested that day.

Kitzmiller later died in a San Rafael hotel room of an overdose of drugs. Wormuth contended today he had driven Kitzmiller to the pharmacy but knew nothing of the prescription.

Mrs. Marie Loeffler, wife of the owner of the Woodlands Pharmacy, did not testify yesterday that she had filled a prescription for nembutal presented by Wormuth and Kitzmiller.

The Independent-Journal erroneously reported that she had said she filled the prescription, but she is not a licensed pharmacist and only licensed pharmacists are allowed to fill prescriptions. She merely testified that she was present when the prescription was presented.

Club To Discuss Fire Protection

Homestead Valley Improvement Club board members Tuesday night agreed to invite members of the Marin Municipal Water District and the county and Tamalpais fire departments to a meeting to discuss fire protection.

The board is "concerned over lack of adequate fire protection" in some areas, reported President Bernard M. Weinstein, especially following the many recent grass and brush fires.

Directors voted to continue opposition to certain aspects of the Marincello development, a planned community west of Sausalito, but commended Frouge Corp., developers, for revising Marincello density downward and the county planning commission for requesting the lower density.

Parents Report Student Missing

A 16-year-old Novato youth, attending special classes at San Rafael High School, is missing from his home, the parents reported to police last night.

The missing youth is David Johnson of 560 Stone Drive, Novato. He is 6 feet tall, has blond hair and wore a maroon plaid shirt and white jeans.

Harmon Johnson, the boy's father, told officers his son failed to come from school last night. A check with school authorities showed he had not attended classes yesterday.

OBITUARIES

Kinsella Dies At 45; Mass Slated

Jack A. Kinsella, 45, San Rafael plumbing contractor, died last night in a local hospital after an illness.

Kinsella was a member of two pioneer families. His father was a San Rafael pioneer and his mother was a member of the Pacheco family, holders of a Marin land grand from the King of Spain. He was a lifetime resident of San Rafael.

He was active in his business, Kinsella Plumbing Co. of San Rafael, until his final illness.

Kinsella served as a Navy aviation metalsmith first class during World War II, being stationed in San Juan, Puerto Rico.

He was a member of San Rafael Lodge 1108, B.P.O. Elks, and of Mount Tamalpais Parlor, Native Sons of the Golden West.

Suriviving are his wife, Dolores M., and a son and two daughters, Richard A., Donna and Joyce Kinsella, at the family home at 37 Las Casas Drive, San Rafael; a brother, Donald Kinsella of San Rafael, and two aunts, Loretta and Irene Pacheco of San Rafael.

Requiem Mass will be offered Saturday at 9:30 a.m. at St. Raphael's Church, San Rafael, with the cortege forming at 9:15 a.m. at Keaton's Mortuary, San Rafael, where the Rosary will be recited at 8 p.m. tomorrow. Burial will be in Mount Olivet Cemetery, San Rafael.

Army Man Missing Near Red German Line

HEIDELBERG, Germany (UPI)—A U.S. Army sergeant in an intelligence unit is missing, an Army spokesman said today. The sergeant's car was found near the Communist border.

U.S. Army European Headquarters said Sgt. 1.C. Glen R. Roher of West Allis, Wis., has been absent without official leave since Aug. 16.

Mrs. Helen M. Nelson

Mrs. Helen M. Nelson, 74, a resident of Mill Valley since 1920, died of a heart attack yesterday at her home at 60 Mirabel Avenue.

She had resided in California all her life, being born in San Diego. She left San Diego as a small child and lived in Oakland from that time until moving to Mill Valley.

She was the wife of Thomas C. Nelson, a San Rafael attorney and former city attorney of Mill Valley.

Mrs. Nelson belonged to the Outdoor Art Club in Mill Valley, Order of Eastern Star 219, Mill Valley, and the Mill Valley American Legion Auxiliary.

She had long been active in volunteer Red Cross service, working with crippled children. During World War II, she worked in a clerical department in inventory control at Marinship, Sausalito.

Surviving her, besides her husband, are two sons, Thomas C. Nelson Jr. of Sunnyside, Wash., and Walter E. Nelson of El Cerrito. She is also survived by eight grandchildren.

Private family funeral will be a Russell and Gooch mortuary, Mill Valley.

LENA JONES

M. Lena Jones, who was the first principal of San Rafael's West End School, died yesterday in a Petaluma convalescent home after long illness. She was 87.

Miss Jones was born on the ranch of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Jones, on Red Hill Road in Marin County, and lived most of her life in San Rafael. She moved to Petaluma nine years ago and had been in the convalescent home the past year.

She was educated at McLean Normal School in Santa Rosa and had her first teaching job in Cazadero. From there she moved to San Rafael schools, teaching at E Street School until the West End School was opened in 1920, when she was made its principal. She continued in that capacity until she retired about 25 years ago.

She was a member of the California Teachers Assn. and had been active in the Marin County Historical Society.

Surviving are a sister, Mrs. Vivian Feliz of Monterey, and many nieces and nephews.

Funeral will be Saturday at 2 p.m. at Parent Funeral Chapel, 216 Washington Street, Petaluma. Burial will be in the family plot in Cypress Hill Memorial Park, Petaluma.

MRS. GORDILLO

Mrs. Soledad Gordillo, 79, of 240 Bayview Street, San Rafael, a native of Mexico, died yesterday in a local hospital after a long illness.

She had lived in Mexico City until six years ago when she moved to Texas. After residing there two years, she moved to San Jose, and two years ago to San Rafael, where she made her home with her daughter, Mrs. Carmen Serrett.

In addition to her daughter, she is survived by one grandchild.

EUGENIO DAVALOS

Eugenio S. Davalos, 66, a retired furniture finisher, died yesterday of a heart attack in his home at 74 Yolanda Drive, San Anselmo.

A native of Mexico, Davalos came to this country as a boy. He lived in Marin County 23 years. He was a member of San Francisco Local No. 134 of the International Brotherhood of Painters, Decorators and Paper Hangers. He retired a year ago.

Surviving are his wife, Josefina Davalos; three sons, Hannibal Davalos of Washington, Moses R. Davalos of San Anselmo and Hector Davalos of Novato; four daughters, Irene Del Valle of Texas, Armeda Rambke of Fairfax, and Josephine King and Margarita Hibbs, both of Novato; two brothers, Hannibal J. Davalos of Sausalito and William Davalos of Texas; five sisters, Margarita Shaefer of San Rafael, Vicenta Lozano of San Francisco, and Martha McCallick, Magdalena Castaneda and Lupe Gardea, all of Texas, and 14 grandchildren.

Reyuiem Mass will be offered Saturday at 9:30 a.m. in St. Anselm's Church, San Anselmo. Rosary will be recited at 8 p.m., tomorrow at Keaton's Chapel in San Rafael. Burial will be in Mount Olivet Cemetery.

For The Fourth Time, Tomales Area Unification Recommended

The Marin County Committee on School District Organization last night adopted a tentative recommendation for unification in the Tomales High School District area, a proposal that has been rejected three times by the State Board of Education.

Committee members said they had no choice if they were to submit a recommendation to the state board by the Nov. 20 deadline.

Mrs. Rachel P. Conner, committee chairman, said the group has to submit a proposal if it is to retain jurisdiction of unification in the area.

Division of the Tomales district into three parts, which would be distributed to Analy, Petaluma and Tamalpais high school districts, was suggested as an alternative. But Mrs. Conner said this would require consultation with the Sonoma County Committee on School District Organization and "there isn't time."

The committee set for Oct. 20 at 8 p.m. at Tomales High School a public hearing on its recommendation.

Vote on the tentative recommendation was 8-2, with Mrs. Betty M. Wallace and Mrs. Helen Binckley dissenting, and Dr. John Hamren absent.

There are seven elementary school districts within Tomales High School District. Four of them are in Sonoma County.

Committee member Roy A. Parks, a member of the Tomales High School District Board, said one of these, the Bloomfield School District, has scheduled an election Oct. 5 on annexation to the Tomales Bay School District.

He said he also had heard reports that sthe Bodega Bay School District Board had invited the American Valley board to discuss unionization of those two districts.

Committee members will have a special meeting at 10 a.m. Oct. 16 to tour the Tomales High School District area.

With a view toward studying unification throughout the county, the committee adopted all of Marin, plus the portions of Sonoma County in the Tomales High School district and Analy and Petaluma high school districts, as a study area.

Toward the close of the meeting, Mrs. Winifred Frederick of Lagunitas submitted a map suggesting three unified districts in Marin: north- central and southern.

The districts would stretch across the county from east to west, and would have a flexibility which would permit Dixie, Ross, Nicasio and Bolinas-Stinson school districts to go in either of two sections.

"You have to come up with something," Mrs. Frederick said. "You are running up against a brick wall at the state board, and at the polls, the voters won't accept the plans. You have to have new thinking, a new approach."

Three committee members will be elected at a meeting of the county school trustees Oct. 22. Members whose terms are expiring are Mrs. Wallace, David D. Ring and Floyd D. Fisher, who is filling out the term of former chairman Earl G. Marshall.

Louisiana Battles To Find Bodies, Fix Betsy's Havoc

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP) — Authorities continued a house-to- house search today for bodies in eastern New Orleans as flood waters from Hurricane Betsy — which unleashed its fury a week ago — slowly receded.

Police sealed off a 300-square block area after Dr. Rodney Jung, city health officer, said it was necessary because "conditions have deteriorated to an alarming degree."

The Mississippi River around Baton Rouge remained closed to shipping as a search went on for a barge loaded with 600 tons of deadly chlorine. The barge sank during the hurricane.

The list of known and presumed dead climbed to 68 in Louisiana with another 12 victims reported from Florida, Mississippi and Arkansas. In addition, the New Orleans' coroner had more than 100 names on a list of missing persons and there were still numerous persons unaccounted for in St. Bernard and Plaquemines Parishes.

The herculean task of cleaning up debris and repairing damaged homes and businesses was in full swing. Utility service was gradually being restored in all but the sections still under water.

Radio Tower Knocked Down

TORRANCE (UPI) — Police today sought a saboteur who cut down a 500-foot - tall steel radio transmitter tower, causing an estimated $100,000 damage and blacking out the AM facility of Los Angeles radio station KNX.

"Evidence shows one of the guy wires had been cut with a hacksaw," said a police spokesman.

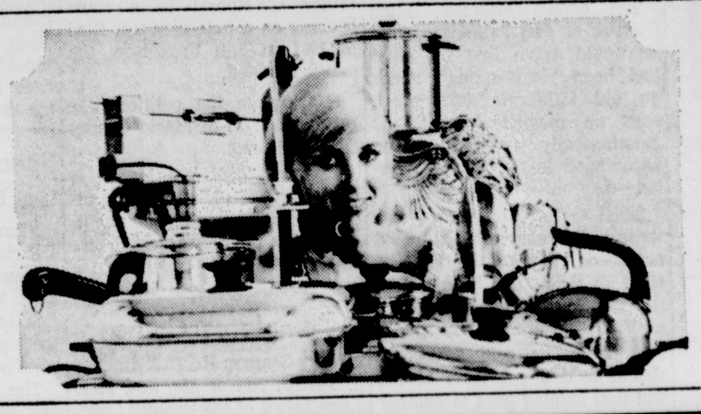

The tower, set in a fence-enclosed field, crumpled into a tangle of red and white wreckage like a giant accordion last night.

No one was injured and no other property was damaged, police said.

YACHT, ESTATE SOUGHT FOR BOY

Attorney Claims Restaurateur Campbell Acknowledged Sausalito Boy As His Son

Robert James Campbell, aged 4, should be named the new owner of Bob's of Marin, Bob's Steakhouse in San Francisco, a yacht called the Folly, and everything else in the estate of the late restaurateur Wyman F. (Bob) Campbell, the boy's mother said in court petition filed yesterday.

Mary Frances Leonard, 38, of 206 Caledonia Street, Sausalito, has been receiving $250 a month for support of the child from the estate on a temporary court order. She claimed her son, as the child of Campbell, is the sole heir, in spite of a will stating otherwise.

In fact, the petition stated, there may be another will around which will set the matter straight, if someone looks hard enough.

The child's attorney, Allen Spivock of San Francisco, said he would argue that the child had been "legitimated" under an old California law which says an illegitimate child is automatically adopted if the parenthood is publicly acknowledged.

Since the will on record was written 17 years ago, it could not have included the boy, he said. In that case, he claimed, the estate must be distributed as if there were no will at all.

However, he asid the court should hold a provision of the will that nothing goes to another son, Frank W. Moulthrp of Lafayette.

The petition claims that Campbell proudly announced to several persons, including workers at the Sausalito Nursery School, his dentist and friends that Miss Leonard's boy was his son. He visited the mother and child almost daily, Miss Leonard claimed. He took the boy home with him one night a week. Several times, he took Robert cruising on the yacht.

Value of the estate has not been determined but estimates have ranged from $70,000 to more than $500,000. The will provides that all goes into a trust fund for the dead man's mother, Mrs. Ela Maude Campbell, to be distributed after her death to Campbell's brothers and sisters.

The will disinherits a former wife and their son, Moulthrop.

Campbell admitted he was father of Robert in a court hearing on a paternity suit filed in 1961 in San Francisco, the petition added.

Hearing on the petition was set for Oct. 25 in Marin County Superior Court.

Campbell died last March 5, at the age of 61, of a heart attack while he was on his yacht, moored at the San Rafael Yacht Harbor.

Gov. Brown Wants Energy In Classrooms

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — The idealism of California's university students would be better used if they directed it away from the picket line and into the classroom, according to Gov. Edmund G. Brown.

In a keynote address that opened the one-day Governor's Conference on Education yesterday, Brown said he has applauded students for spending "summers in Mississippi helping Negroes get their voting rights," but added he had seen some examples of their idealism "perverted."

"I have hoped that some of the bounding energy of these young gadflies would be transferred from the picket line to the classroom," Brown said.

"All Negroes in California have the right to vote, but many do not know how to go about it. I sincerely hope that some of our young people's idealism might be transferred from the sit-in to a new type of teach-in, teaching our Negroes — right here in California—how to utilize their rights."

Special Meeting Set On Garbage Contract

Tamalpais Valley Sanitary District directors will hold an adjourned meeting at 8 p.m. Sept. 28 at the 305 Bell Lane office to discuss a garbage contract offered by Mill Valley Refuse Co.

The board, which met Tuesday night but took no action, will also consider applications of persons to fill the vacancy left by Director Tore Noren, who resigned.

LBJ Asks International Educational Campaign

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson announced today he will ask Congress next year to authorize a broad, long-range program to promote education in all parts of the world.

In an address prepared for a celebration of the birth 200 years ago of James Smithson, whose bequest led to the founding of the Smithsonian Institution, Johnson said:

"We mean to show that this nation's dream of a great society does not stop at the water's edge. It is not just an American dream. All are welcome to share in it. All are invited to contribute to it."

Johnson disclosed he already has created a special task force "to recommend a broad and long-range plan of worldwide educational endeavor." And he said leaders in both public and private enterprise will be invited to join in laying plans for what he described as "a new noble adventure."

In January, the President said, he will present to Congress a five-point program to:

Promote the the exchange of students and teachers.

"Increase the free flow of books and ideas and art, of works of science and imagination," and,

Scientists Urge Joint Moon Lab

By EUGENE LEVIN

ATHENS, Greece (AP) — American and Soviet scientists joined today in proposing an international laboratory on the moon manned by scientists from several nations.

Proposals for the laboratory were discussed in papers submitted to a special lunar laboratory symposium at the Congress of the International Astronautical Federation.

The American proposal came from C. William Henderson of Manned Lunar Mission Studies of the U.S. National Aeronautics and Space Administration and G. L. Mitcham of the Boeing Company of Seattle.

A group of Soviet scientists proposed a weather observatory on the moon to watch both the earth and sun.

Brown Asking Flood Funds

SACRAMENTO (UPI)— Gov. Edmund G. Brown today urged the federal government to appropriate $188.1 million next year for flood control and reclamation.

Brown noted the request was the largest in the state's history, but said last December's northern California floods "demonstrated that the need also is larger than ever."

ROAD HOGS WARNED

New State Laws Tomorrow For Drivers, Litter-Louts

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Come tomorrow and you can be arrested for not letting a line of cars pass yours, or riding in a trailer coach or letting a passenger litter the highways.

These are included in a spate of new laws that go into effect tomorrow, 90 days after adjournment of the legislature's regular session.

Altogether, some 2,000 statutes go into the books at midnight tonight, with a great many of them aimed at the state's mounting problems of traffic control and highway safety. Many other measures took effect earlier in the year.

A major new law in this field aims at the so-called slowpoke driver. It requires drivers traveling under the posted speed limit on freeways to stay in the right-hand or outside lane.

A companion law will make slow drivers on two-lane roads get off the highway every time five or more cars line up behind them.

Riding in a trailer coach being hauled on the highway will be illegal, and the maximum speed limit for school buses, farm labor buses and trucks will be boosted from 45 to 50 miles an hour unless otherwise posted.

You can be posecuted if you "aid or abet" anyone in your car or truck to drop litter on or along the road.

Juvenile drivers who are convicted of drunken driving face the possibility, starting Friday, of having the court impound their cars for up to 30 days. And anyone convicted for the second time of driving on a revoked or suspended license can be fined up to $1,000.

But highway and motor vehicles laws aren't the whole story. A major public health measure — which will affect thousands upon thousands of newborn babies — also goes into effect.

This is a statute requiring hospitals to test newborn infants for PKU — phenylketonuria — a dread condition that damages the brain and produces one mentally retarded baby out of every 10,000 born in California.

By testing for the disease, physicians can spot the condition and feed the baby a special diet that will assure a normal mentality.

Among the other new laws are these:

Provides state financing to allow counties to hire an attorney to defend indigent clients.

Requires drivers licenses issued to persons under 21 to bear profile instead of normal full-face photograph.

Permits recipient of county welfare funds to retain the tools of his trade and an automobile "of reasonable value" needed to seek employment.

Permits juvenile courts to seal the records of minors arrested but never brought before the court.

Provides for the death penalty for prisoners serving life terms who assault anyone other than an inmate.

Scion Dies

NEW YORK (UPI) — Ralph Pulitzer Jr., a member of the family which founded the St. Louis Post-Dispatch and the New York World, died today of cancer. He was 57.

He was a grandson of Joseph Pulitzer, the founder of the Post-Dispatch, and the son of the publisher of The World.

Clausen Helps Introduce Bills On Employment

WASHINGTON — Rep. Don H. Clausen, R-First District, Calif., today introduced bills to encourage job-training programs and the hiring of persons over 45.

One bill would permit employers to deduct, as a tax credit, up to seven per cent of the funds spent in training new employees or retraining current employees in higher skill jobs.

The other would give tax credits to companies which could show that hiring persons over 45 entailed extra costs for health insurance and retirement plans.

Clausen introduced the bills in conjunction with several other congressmen.

McCone Commission Starts Riot Hearings

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — A blue-ribbon commission headed by former Central Intelligence Agency (CIA) director John A. McCone today began hearing testimony in its investigation into the cause of last month's rioting in the predominantly Negro Watts District.

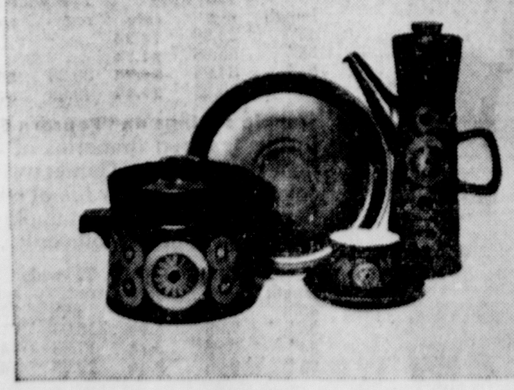

Gov. Edmund G. Brown, who appointed the commission, and Police Chief William H. Parker were expected to be among the first witnesses. Today's meeting was behind closed doors.

RUSS BARE SPACE STATION PROJECT

Gemini Pair Say Man On Street Soon Will Make Regular Space Journeys

ATHENS, Greece (AP) — Soviet Cosmonaut Alexei Leonov disclosed today that Russia plans to place a permanent manned satellite around the earth and try crew exchanges before landing a man on the moon.

Leonov gave no timetable for this program, which differed from American plans for the moon. The United States hopes to shoot its Apollo space ship to the moon before 1970. The Americans also plan a permanent manned satellite that would involve crew exchanges, but U.S. Apollo plans are not dependent on the permanent satellite program.

By holding up their moon shot until permanent stations are established, the Russians would be able to shoot a bigger ship to the moon by assembling it in space. The American three-man Apollo will be fired from earth.

Leonov, the first man to walk in space, indicated his own adventure was a rehearsal for an attempt at exchanging crews. He addressed a special plenary session of the International Astronautical Congress.

Leonov said a main goal of his space walk was to test his space suit and the airlock on the space ship.

The Soviet cosmonauts had their day at the space congress even as American spacemen L. Gordon Cooper Jr., and Charles Conrad Jr., arrived in Athens to begin a six-nation goodwill tour. The two, whose eight-day Gemini 4 trip set a record, also are guests of the congress.

A newsman asked if they thought the man in the street would ever be able to travel in space.

"Yes," replied Cooper. "The same question was asked 40 years ago about air travel. Now air transport has changed our way of life. I think that one of these days, before not too many years, space travel will also be commonplace."

Bedspreads, Towels Taken In Burglary

Thieves took about $300 worth of bedspreads and towels from two model homes in Bel Marin Keys, the sheriff's office was informed yesterday.

Officers said the homes, at 911 and 917 Bel Marin Keys Avenue, near Novato, were entered after silding glass doors leading to rear patios were pried open.

VISITING ROTARIAN — George Starbird, governor of District 513 of Rotary International, will address the San Anselmo Rotary Club at noon, Sept. 22, at the American Legion Lob Cabin in San Anselmo. Starbird is an insurance broker in San Jose.

Dining-In To Be Held Saturday At Hamilton

The first noncommissioned officers dining-in to be held for all of the noncommissioned officers, will be held at 7 p.m. Saturday at the Noncommissioned Officers Club at Hamilton Air Force Base.

This dining-in will commemorate the Air Force's 18th anniversary. The wives will join their husbands following the formal dinner.

New Grass Fires Set; Children Are Blamed

Three grass fires within an hour last night in Marin City were blamed on children.

First call was at 8:37 p.m. to 57 Cole Drive, where firemen extinguished ag rass blaze after it had burned an area about 20 by 40 feet.

Twenty minutes later, at 8:57 p.m., firemen were called back to the next-door apartment at 59 Cole Drive and doused a small grass fire after it burned a spot only about four-by-four feet.

Nearly two hours later, the third fire got a better start. Firemen were called at 9:32 p.m. to 49 Cole Drive. They found grass ablaze between the apartment building and Highway 101. Three-quarters of an acre was burned before it was extinguished.

Lengthy, Futile Disarm Session To Recess Soon

GENEVA (UPI) — The 17-nation Geneva Disarmament Conference headed for a recess today, ending a futile, seven week session.

The talks are to resume again after the next session of the U. N. General Assembly, probably sometime in January.

Publicly, delegates at the Geneva conference expressed disappointment that serious negotiations on new disarmament measures did not get off the floor. Privately, however, they were satisfied that the conference was able to meet at all in view of the Viet Nam war.

Most of the session was devoted to a treaty, proposed by the United States, to prevent the spread of nuclear weapons. The United States backed the treaty as a basis for future negotiations.

Berkeley Names Searle To Post

BERKELEY (AP) — John R. Searle, a University of California philosophy professor, has been appointed special assistant on student organizations for the Berkeley administration.

Searle's duties will be to negotiate with student groups about campus regulations, said acting Chancellor Earl F. Cheit, who announced Searle's appointment Wednesday.

Searle, 33, an associate professor and former Rhodes Scholar, often sympathized with dissatisfied students in last year's campus unrest. He encouraged faculty support of student goals in the Academic Senate.

Marinite Packs Her Boots For Peace Corps Journey

By ALAN M. ADELSON

BOOTS AND SADDLES—Geraldine A. Simenstad of San Rafael packs pair of fancy cowboy boots among things she's taking to Ethiopia as a Peace Corps volunteer. She'll teach English in Emperor Haille Selassie's country, but figures there'll be time for riding, too—if she can get a horse.

Geraldine A. Simenstad, 23, did not join the Peace Corps out of humanitarian interests.

"I could do as much for humanity at my old job teaching junior high in Ukiah," said Geraldine, who lives at 67 Forbes Avenue, San Rafael. "I'm looking for adventure — not wild things, but the opportunity to experience a real change in life."

Miss Simenstad should find all the change she's looking for when she begins a two-year stint as a Peace Corps volunteer in Ethiopia next week.

A graduate of San Rafael High School and Dominican College, Miss Simenstad applied for the Peace Corps in April. "I didn't say where I would like to be sent. I figured I'd leave that up to them."

Her father, Archibald Simenstad, is a pilot for the San Francisco Port Authority.

"He's been sailing all his life," she related. "I grew up in Singapore and the Philippines because Dad was working there. I guess we both have a real lust for travel."

LIKES HORSES

As she packed a pair of cowboy boots, she added:

"I'm really looking forward to doing a lot of horseback riding when I get to Ethiopia. I'll probably buy my own horse, or, if I can't afford it, a donkey."

Miss Simenstad was trained for 12 weeks at University of Utah in preparation for her work in Ethiopia. Most of the training consisted of intensive instruction in the country's national language, Amharic.

She will teach English to students aged 12 to 20. They will be among the intellectually elite in the country, since only six per cent of the population can read and write, she said.

'BEAUTIFUL PEOPLE'

"The Ethiopians are really physically beautiful people," said Geraldine, who met many men and women from the eastern African country during her training period. "They have beautifully regal features."

Geraldine will replace a Peace Corps teacher who has completed his two years of service. "Things shouldn't be too hard for us since the people are so used to Peace Corps people by now. Half the 1,000 teachers in the country are Peace Corps workers," she said.

The mail gets to the volunteers about once a week, said Miss Simenstad.

"It's going to be lonesome, but it gets lonesome here sometimes, too," she shrugged, and went back to her packing.

Youth Tells Of Stabbing Attack In San Rafael Alley

A 19-year-old Novato youth today reported he was beaten, stabbed and robbed by four men in a San Rafael alley about 1 a.m.

Carson Edward McKay III, of 930 George Street, suffered bruises on his chest and stomach and minor knife wounds on his arms. He was treated at San Rafael General Hospital.

McKay, who works as hospital orderly, told police officer D. A. Merkley the attack occurred in an alley near 56 Martens Boulevard.

The youth told police he was walking from downtown San Rafael to visit a girl on Martens Boulevard when he noticed a sedan parked in the alley. Four men jumped out and pummeled and kicked him, he claimed. One pulled a knife and jabbed him.

McKay said they stole his wallet containing about $5. Police later found the wallet, minus the money, on the roadway near the scene of the attack. McKay said three of his attackers wore T-shirts, and the fourth wore a dark plaid shirt.

Dixie Family Has To Get Out

AMERICUS, Ga. (AP) — An attorney who tried to help solve Americus racial problems has sent his wife and five children to Atlanta because of threats and harassment and is getting out of town himself.

"There's no reason to stay," said attorney Warren Fortson, 37, brother of Georgia's secretary of state, Ben W. Fortson Jr. "My law practice has come to a screeching halt."

The former Marine said yesterday he knew he was going to have to leave when he advocated formation of a biracial commission during the height of recent racial demonstrations in this south Georgia city.

"It was just like getting into a canoe in the Colorado River," he said. "Once you're committed to the rapids there's nothing you can do but ride them out."

Then, when the demonstrations subsided, Fortson said, "the freeze set in."

His wife, Betty, went to a meeting of the Junior League, he said, and "when she walked in, it was just like she was invisible. Nobody saw her."

Officially, Fortson remained attorney for Sumter County, but he said it was in name only. "The county has hired another firm to do its work. They don't come to me any more."

In addition, the attorney was not re-elected as a Sunday School teacher at the First Methodist Church.

His pastor, the Rev. Vernard Robertson, declined comment when told Fortson was leaving town. Local officials also refused to comment.

The attorney said he was leaving Americus as soon as he closes his law office. "I'm not sure where we will live, whether it will be in Atlanta or someplace else. But I had to get my family out of Americus."

Fortson said telephone threats and harassments were aimed at making existence unhappy for himself and his family but that there had been no direct threats on his life.

His wife said in Atlanta, "It just wasn't worth it any more. It's just like closing a door."

Benny Mentor Dies At 87

SAN DIEGO (AP)—Capt. John Brooks Kaufman, credited by some for getting Jack Benny started as a comedian, is dead at 87.

He died yesterday in a hospital after a long illness.

Kaufman, who served in the Navy 41 years, was recreation officer at the Great Lakes Navy Training Center, where Benny was stationed during World War I.

Kaufman heard Benny, then known only as a violinist, toss off some quips during a talent show tryout. The gags were written into the Navy Relief Society show and Benny was on his way as a comic.

Watts Riot Bullhorn 'Used By Police Aide'

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A Negro city councilman says the bullhorn cited by Police Chief William H. Parker as evidence the Los Angeles riots were partially organized actually was used by a person trying to help the police.

Councilman Billy G. Mills said yesterday the bullhorn was checked out of the 77th Street Police Station, in the heart of the riot area, to a responsible person who is a University of California graduate and a city employee.

Mills declined to identify him.

The man was using the bullhorn to direct traffic "to keep Caucasions from getting their heads blown off," said Mills.

Parker told a city council committee Tuesday police knew who the individual was and to what organization he belonged. But Parker declined to disclose the information.

In other developments yesterday arising from the riots:

California Highway Patrol Commissioner Bradford M. Crittenden told a State Senate Committee his officers were not responsible for triggering the riots.

"This was not a peaceful arrest," he added, "but 11 minutes after the (suspect's) car was stopped, officers were attempting to place the persons arrested in the transportation car, using a minimum of force."

As testimony continued before the city council committee probing the riots, Deputy Police Chief Tom Reddin said "large scale use of force to overcome resistance" was necessary in a police raid on a Black Muslim mosque near Watts Aug. 18.

Police found no weapons inside the mosque and charges against 19 Negroes arrested there have been dismissed.

A coroner's inquest jury ruled yesterday that the death of a third looting suspect killed by police during the riot was justifiable homicide.

The nine-member jury, which included one Negro, returned the verdict in the death of William V. King, 37, alias William V. Caston, a Los Angeles Negro who died in a Compton Avenue liquor store.

The jury also decided "justifiable homicide" in the death of Charles Smalley, 25, alias Charles Fizer.

The jury ruled that Smalley was shot by rifle fire when he tried to run his car through a roadblock established by national guardsmen in the riot area.

The number of U.S. federal employees working in Washington is nearing the 200,000 mark. Last year the total was 193,553.

Mill Valley Worker Hurt In Roof Fall

A Mill Valley roofer was in good condition today at Marin General Hospital after he fell yesterday off a Sausalito roof, landing 20 feet below in a truck bed.

Julian La Lone, 58, of 507 Barone Lane, was being treated for multiple cuts on his face and body.

La Lone, who works for Booth and Little, Larkspur roofing contractors, was on the roof of the home of G. M. Eickmeyer at 145 Curry Avenue. A wood A-frame derrick, being used on the roof to haul up gravel, reportedly collapsed and fell off the roof, taking La Lone with it into the truck.

Firemen, called at 1:28 p.m., gave first aid and United Ambulance took the roofer to the hospital.

Any Ideas For Using An Unwanted City?

LINCOLN (UPI) — Officials are trying to figure out what to do with a $55 million city near here.

Trouble is, it's underground. It was built as a Titan missile site and since abandoned. County officers have suggested making it an emergency headquarters for state government in case of attack.

San Francisco Risks Funds By Balking At Freeways

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — This city may lose some $185 million in unspent federal highway money to Los Angeles, Mayor John F. Shelley reported yesterday.

Shelley said Gov. Edmund G. Brown told him Tuesday that the money would probably be allocated to help build either the Century Freeway in Los Angeles or another interstate route in Orange County.

San Francisco's Board of Supervisors have opposed freeway projects proposed by the state Division of Highways, and currently has some $300 million unspent in federal interstate highway funds.

Under present law, money available from the federal government for approved interstate routes must be spent by 1972. The government pays 92 per cent of the cost of such projects.

Shelley said Brown told him that if plans for San Francisco projects are not completed within four or five months, the money will have to go elsewhere.

The mayor said he told Brown that he thought the state should press for an extension of time. The governor agreed, Shelley said, but added that it was his job as governor to see that the money stayed in California.

Major San Francisco freeway plans which the supervisors have rejected would be included in the federal highway program.

Goldberg Hopeful Over U.N. Session

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg said today his expectations for the coming U.N. General Assembly have been reinforced by U.S.-Soviet cooperation in trying to halt the war between India and Pakistan.

The chief U.S. delegate to the United Nations said in an interview that the assembly's 20th session, opening next Tuesday, faces difficulties, but he declared: "I am optimistic."

He made these other major points:

The work of the 114-nation assembly will not be affected by the fighting in Viet Nam.

The United States continues to command majority support on major issues despite the flood of new Asian and African members into the world organization.

Settlement of disputes such as that between India and Pakistan takes time and patience. The American people must be patient if there are setbacks.

Red China is keeping itself out of the United Nations by its attitude of belligerency and there is no evidence of any change for the better.

Goldberg was interviewed in the 11th floor office of the U.S. mission, overlooking U.N. headquarters. He relaxed in his favorite rocking chair, which he prefers to the executive desk chair used by his predecessor, Adlai E. Stevenson.

Asked about the apparent deterioration of U.S.-Soviet relations over Viet Nam, the Dominican Republic and U.N. financing, he said that recent Security Council meetings on the Indian-Pakistani war had produced "a very dramatic example of cooperation and unanimity."

And, he said, the United States and the Soviet Union had acted together "without any evidence of cold-war confrontation."

"This serves to reinforce my hope and expectation that, despite all difficulties, we will make progress here at the 20th assembly."

Goldberg, September president of the Security Council, declined to speculate on what steps the 11-nation body would take to follow up the apparent failure of Secretary-General U Thant's peace mission to Rawalpindi and New Delhi.

"I know," he said, "from a long 25 years of experience that a mediator in disputes of much less consequence does not ordinarily come out with a solution in a few days' time."

The security Council will meet tomorrow to consider Thant's report.

Goldberg was asked about the reluctance of the United States to have the council debate the Viet Nam question.

"We have never excluded Security Council consideration of Viet Nam," he said. "Rather, we have consulted with our colleagues at the United Nations here, and it has been a rather general point of view that the nature of the Viet Nam problem is such that a public confrontation would not lead to progress towards a solution."

He said it was a misconception, anyway, to believe that the U.N. Charter provided no ways to resolve disputes except by council debates.

"The charter in its various provisions calls for conciliation, mediation, quiet diplomacy," he said, "and this is what the United Nations is engaged in."

Lawmaker Takes Slap At Goldberg

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sharply criticizing U.N. Ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg, Rep. Wayne L. Hays, D-Ohio, declined today to serve as a congressional delegate to the forthcoming session of the United Nations.

In a letter to Chairman Thomas E. Morgan, D-Pa., of the House Foreign Affairs Committee, Hays said he could not "conceive of my own self as beong a Charlie McCarthy to Ambassador Goldberg's Edgar bergen."

"I would not feel right in having my speeches written or censored by Ambassador Goldberg or, for that matter, any other member of the executive branch," Hays said.

Morgan had invited Hays, a committee member, to serve as a congressional delegate to the United Nations.

CRUSADER — David S. Wilson has been named chairman of Marin United Crusade's commerce and industry division, John D. LaNoue, campaign chairman, announced today. Wilson, of 393 Nova Albion Way, Terra Linda, is operation manager of Saegertown Components of San Rafael. The Crusade begins Sept. 27 and runs through Oct. 15.

Pay Hikes Authorized For Library Workers

Sausalito library trustees last night authorized pay raises for the library staff retroactive to July 1.

Mrs. Dolly Georgetti, acting head librarian, was raised $360 to $5,640 per year. Part-time librarians Mrs. Mary Hoffman and Mrs. Barbara Jacobs were given raises of from $1.65 to $1.75 per hour.

Motor Scooter Gets Flat, Then Is Stolen

John Dale Friend, 25 Rocklin Court, Corte Madera, a Redwood High School student, yesterday reported his motor scooter, with one flat tire, had been stolen from Sir Francis Drake Boulevard at Wolfe Grade School.

Friend told sheriff's officers his 1958 gray Lambretta scooter had a flat about 1 p.m. while he was on his way to school. He said he had no time to make a repair, and left the vehicle parked beside the road. When he returned about 5 p.m., it was gone.

State Court Refuses Congress Redistricting

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The state Supreme Court refused today to order reapportionment of the state's 38 congressional districts in time for the 1966 elections.

The court suggested that the legislature take a close look at reapportionment and invited attorney Phill Silver of Los Angeles to renew his petition if the legislature fails to act by the close of its regular 1967 session.

However, the court did say the present congressional districts, set up in 1961, varied in population unconstitutionally. It said the largest was 43.4 larger than the ideal, and the smallest was 27.2 per cent smaller in population than the ideal.

"Although these deviations are not permissible" under the U.S. Supreme Court decision "we have concluded not to order reapportionment before the 1966 elections," the court said.

The court said two constitutional questions were colliding head-on:

The California Constitution requires that Congressional districts be comprised of whole counties, whole Assembly districts, or combinations which in no case will split counties or Assembly districts. The court said this complicated the difficulty of apportioning population equally. It added that the deviation between congressional districts were not so great as those between equally populous Assembly districts, which the court has ordered the legislature to reapportion before Dec. 10.

The court said that Congressional redistricting is not related to reapportionment of the Senate, which under both federal an state court orders must be achieved in time for the 1966 elections.

The court added that it did not believe that circumstances are so compelling as to cause the court to provide for election of Congressmen at large, or to appoint a master to create new districts in time for the 1966 elections.

Mariposa means "the butterfly." Padre Munoz, who accompanied the Gabriel Moraga expedition in 1806 into the Sierra, wrote in his dairy that they found a great multitude of butterflies in the section.

Jury Approves Marin Hospitals

Hospitals in Marin County were given a clean bill of health last night by the Marin County Grand Jury.

The jury heard a report from its health and welfare committee on its investigation of every hospital in the county where patients are cared for under any county-operated program. The committee had no recommendation for changes, according to foreman George R. Scott.

The committee found 314 such patients in Marin hospitals, the report said. Most were elderly persons supported by the medical aid to the aged program. Patients were interviewed and were reported to be satisfied with their treatment.

Phonograph Missing

A portable radio-phonograph worth $150 is missing from his home, Arthur William Grieb of 145 Maywood Way, San Rafael, told police last night.

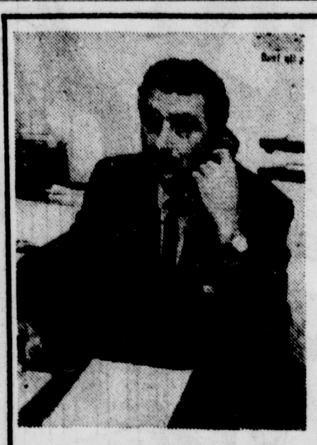

The thief must have entered through a sliding glass door in the kitchen or the garage door, both of which had been left unlocked, Grieb said.

Author's Trial Must Go Ahead

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — An appeals court has turned down novelist Ken Kesey's request for a dismissal of his case involving charges of illegal possession of marijuana.

Kesey's request contended that evidence against him and four of his house guests was seized illegally. The State District Court of Appeal refused his petition without comment.

Kesey's trial is set for Sept. 27 in the San Mateo County Superior Court.

Chief Asks For Shutdown Of One-Man Fire Stations

County Fire Chief Louis J. Bloom proposes elimination of county one-man fire stations at both Bolinas and Inverness.

Removal of the stations would provide greater efficiency and cut expenses about $24,000 a year, Chief Bloom said yesterday.

It would be more efficient to have responses to fires from sub-stations which have a full complement of firemen and equipment, he said.

Both the Bolinas and Inverness stations are in districts which provide their own fire protection, he noted.

If the two stations are eliminated, the only remaining one-man station would be in Chileno Valley. It will remain, Chief Bloom said. "We feel it is important. It's in our jurisdiction and there is no fire protection district in the area."

Chief Bloom said decision on removal of the stations is up to the county board of supervisors. "This is not a move to 'take away,' but to save money and provide efficiency," he said.

The chief said his proposal is in keeping with the recommendation of the State Division of Forestry that the county work toward eliminating one-man fire stations.

The county has a contract for fire protection of 224,000 acres of state lands and gets about 80 per cent reimbursement from the state, Bloom said.

(The fiscal 1966 county budget shows $448,260 for the fire department, of which $168,000 is expected to be rimbursed by the state.)

The state recommended five stations and four have been constructed — Woodacre, Hicks Valley, Throckmorton Ridge and Point Reyes—he said.

Bloom said that the fireman at the Bolinas station is scheduled to retire next month, and the fireman at the Inverness station could be placed at another station.

South Marin Retreat Set For October

An interdenominational retreat wil be held Oct. 8 and 9 for church members in Belvedere, Tiburon, Sausalito, Mill Valley and Marin City.

The retreat will be held at Lighthouse for the Blind facilities near Napa. It will begin at 8 p.m. Oct. 8 and end at 4 p.m. the next day.

Special attention wil be focused on education, housing and family tensions. Both religious and secular specialists in these fields are being recruited.

Theme of the retreat is "What Does God Want In Southern Marin?"

Mrs. Dorothea McEvoy, 526 Northern Avenue, Tamalpais Valley, has further information and is handling reservations.

Factory Workers Bay Area Pay Up

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Workers in San Francisco Bay area factories received a record average of $3.30 an hour during July, a state statistical office said Wednesday.

This average—which amounts to $133 weekly — was up one cent an hour from the previous month, and 10 cents an hour frm July, 1964.

Average factory earnings in the Los Angeles area during July remained at the $2.99 an hour June level. That was also an all time high, the state reported.

Berlin Convoy Safe

BERLIN (UPI)—A battalion of 600 American soldiers drove through East Germany to West Berlin yesterday without difficulty. A U.S. military spokesman said the 140 trucks and jeeps in the convoy passed speedily through Soviet checkpoints at each end of the 110-mile Helmstedt-Berlin highway.

Ex-NATO Generals Named: 'War Crimes'

BONN, Germany (AP) — A war crimes complaint against two retired high-ranking North Atlantic Treaty Organization generals has been investigated by the Bonn prosecutor's office.

A spokesman said yesterday the office had investigated complaints against Gen. Hans Speidel, who commanded the alliance's land forces in central Europe, and Gen. Hans Heusinger, who was chairman of its military committee in Washington.

Nation's Sweet Tooth Covers Much Ground

CHICAGO (UPI) — The National Confectioners Assn. says U.S. candy manufacturers in 1964 used 1.33 billion pounds of sugar from 291,000 acres of sugar beets and sugar cane; 818 million pounds of corn products from 479,000 acres of corn; 340 million pounds of cocoa products from 160,000 acres; 159 million pounds of shelled peanuts from 45,000 acres; 47 million pounds of fluid milk from 176,000 cows; 65 million eggs from 285,000 hens; 41 million pounds of desiccated coconut; 30 million pounds of almonds; and 18 million pounds of fruit products.

Congressmen Contradict Fulbright To Defend LBJ's Dominican Plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen and Democratic Sen. George A. Smathers challenged today Sen. J. W. Fulbright's contention that the Johnson administration bungled the Dominican crisis.

Fulbright, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, told the Senate yesterday President Johnson was given "unsound advice" and that fear of a Communist takeover in Santo Domingo was based on misinformation and on "exaggerated estimates of Communist influence."

The Arkansas Democrat said "the danger to America lives was more a pretext than a reason for the massive United States intervention." He said, "In their panic lest the Dominican Republic become another Cuba, some of our officials seem to have forgotten that virtually all reform movements attract some Communist support."

In a joint interview Dirksen and Smathers, secretary of the Democratic conference, disagreed with Fulbright's interpretation of the situation. Like Fulbright, they attended a White House meeting the night Johnson made his decision to send in troops.

Dirksen said he agreed with Johnson's decision then "and I agree with it now."

Smathers said those at the White House meeting were told there were available reports on 58 trained Communists already on hand in Santo Domingo who could be expected to attempt to take over leadership in the revolt.

"The consensus at the meeting was that we couldn't afford to have another Cuba," he said. "Nobody disagreed to the plan to send troops."

Fulbright said that by its intervention the United States lent credence to the idea that it is the enemy of social revolution in Latin America "and that the only choice Latin Americans have is between communism and reaction."

Fulbright said he had not heard from Johnson after delivering his speech.

Bill D. Moyers, White House press secretary, asked for comment, said: "I have talked to a number of officials in government, career and otherwise, who simply do not believe the senator's conclusions are justified."

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield, a member of the Foreign Relations Committee, said in an interview he agrees with Fulbright that there was "no major Communist threat" in Santo Domingo, although he said once a revolt starts "they swarm in like flies."

Legion To Honor State Adjutant

Mill Valley Post 284 of the American Legion will sponsor a dinner at 6:30 p.m. Oct. 25 at Sabella's Restaurant to honor Jack Stockman, adjutant of the California Department of the Legion.

Stockman, a former Greenbrae resident, now lives in San Francisco.

He will address a joint meeting of the Mill Valley post and its auxilary at the legion hall in Mill Valley after the dinner. Mrs. Dorothy Williams, district president of the auxiliary, will also speak.

Pope's New York Visit To Last 13 Hours

VATICAN CITY (AP)—Pope Paul's Oct. 4 visit to New York will last about 13 hours, the Vatican announced today.

After delivering a peace message to the U.N. General Assembly the Pope will meet with all delegates, spending nearly 2½ hours in U.N. headquarters. The program made no mention of a meeting with President Johnson, who will be in New York at the same time. There has been speculation, however, that the two might meet informally.

Manteca (city of San Joaquin County) means butter or lard, although mantequilla is properly the Spanish word for butter. Dairying is a leading industry there.

Labor Switches Tactics, Asks Taft-Hartley Probe

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The AFL-CIO told Congress today it wants a wide-ranging investigation of the Taft-Hartley and Landrum - Griffin acts to pave the way for extensive changes in the nation's basic labor laws.

Union sources said leaders of the big labor federation are hoping for a top-to-bottom overhaul of the statutes governing labor - management affairs, perhaps in 1966.

If so, this represents a switch in AFL - CIO strategy. In the past the federation has opposed any over - all revision of the Taft - Hartley Act, passed in 1947, and the Landrum - Griffin Law, placed on the books in 1959.

Union officials have hesitated to open up the subject lest Congress make the law even stiffer. This would be a defeat from labor's standpoint.

But House passage of a bill to repeal state "right to work" laws and its hoped - for approval in the Senate has given the AFL - CIO more confidence that any changes would be acceptable during the current Congress.

The endorsement of an extended investigation of the law's impact was made before the House Labor Committee by Thomas E. Harris, associate general counsel of the AFL-CIO.

Early Snow Blankets North Rockies, Plains

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

More than a week ahead of even the fall season, wintry weather surged into the northern Rockies and northern Plains today.

Chilling, gusty winds originating north of Alaska carried snow and freezing temperatures into at least five states — Montana, Wyomng, Nebraska and the Dakotas.

As much as six inches of snow lay on the ground in Wyoming today.

Montana and western South Dakota had a one-to two-inch covering, and on 7,000-foot Big Mountain north of Whitefish, Mont., the snow measured 18 inches. The snow and cold was due to reach northwestern Minnesota tonight.

The Weather Bureau issued freeze warnings and advisories to livestock men in the northern Palins and the northern and central Rockies. Frost warnings extend as far south as Utah.

Most major mountain passes in Montana were snowy and slick for the first time this season.

Temperatures dropped into the 20s this morning in Montana and Wyoming, as low as 22 at Butte, Mont.

Autumn-like weather covering the rest of the northern half of the nation included cold fall rains in the north Central states outside the snow zone.

Sunny and warm weather was prevalent across the southern part of the nation and Texas was due for more 100 degree temperatures, the Weather Bureau said.

Men First To Get Fussy About Hairdos

CHICAGO (UPI) — Men were the first to become fussy about hairstyles, reports the Toni Co.

Primitive men reserved curls for themselves to indicate superior social status. With the introduction of armor the hair was cut for convenience, also distinguishing the military man from the peasant.

Friendly Visit Ends In Slaying

STOCKTON (AP)—A Stockton farm laborer was shot in the back and killed yesterday night as he and his wife were leaving the home of a friend.

The friend, identified by sheriff's deputies as Leyve Padilla, 60, was booked on a murder charge and held in San Joaquin County jail.

Deputies said Ramon Fresquez, 40, was shot several times in the back by a .22-caliber rifle wielded by Padilla.

Fresquez' widow, Estrellita, was hospitalized for shock and was unable to tell deputies what happened.

"We have been unable to find a motive," said Deputy Dist. Atty. George Dedekam.

Canadian Gas Line Firm Wins A Round In Hearings

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A Federal Power Commission hearing on a proposed increase in Canadian gas deliveries to Northern California went into its second day today after an initial victory for Pacific Gas and Electric Co.

Vice President Charles Pennypacker Smith of Pacific Gas Transmission Co., a PG&E subsidiury, returned to the witness stand to continue testimony on purchase of gas in Alberta for transport to the United States.

Smith was expected to be followed by S. Robert Blair, vice president of PG&E's Canadian sidiary, returned to the witness Gas Co.

PGT scored an initial victory when FPC Commissioner Harry W. Frazee ruled out testimony urging rejection of the firm's proposed increase in Canadian gas deliveries if the FPC approves another application by Gulf Pacific Pipeline Co. to pipe gas from Texas to Southern California.

Henry F. Lippitt, attorney for California producers, contended construction of the Gulf Pacific line would release additional gas for Northern California. The PGT proposal, he said, was "too much, too soon."

PGT seeks to step up deliveries of about 400 million cubic-feet of Canadian gas per day to about 600 million cubic-feet to the parent PG&E.

Lippett said Frazee was "absolutely wrong" in ruling out the testimony and said he would appeal to the full commission and, if necessary, to the courts.

PGT pipes Canadian gas to the Oregon-California line through a 613-mile pipeline. The company also is licensed to operate in Idaho, Washington and Oregon.

Biggest Swim Pool

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The world's largest outdoor salt-water swimming pool, Fleishhacker Pool, located two miles south of San Francisco's Golden Gate Park, contains 6 million gallons of filtered sea water heated to an even 72 degrees.

Truck Rolls Over Trying To Pass

Wilfred Simmons, 40, of Hayward, suffered minor injuries at 2:30 p.m. yesterday when he swerved his northbound flatbed truck on Highway 101 one-quarter mile south of Lamont Avenue in Novato to avoid hitting a car, the California Highway Patrol reported.

Simmons was attempting to pass a Volkswagen driven by Patricia B. Morris, 30, of Vancouver, B.C., when it cut in front of the truck, the patrol reported. The truck swerved and rolled over on the east side of the highway.

Simmons refused hospital treatment.

CARGO OF OIL PAINTINGS

More than a dozen oil paintings by the late French post-impressionist Robert Henri Fouques have arrived for exhibition at the Musee d'Art International, San Rafael. The works include seascapes, landscapes, fishing ports and boating activities and were bought from Fouques' widow, according to co-owner Herbert A. Crocker, seen here with Nancy Stone, director.

Locker Yields More Of Gold From Burglary

About $20,000 worth of gold taken in the burglary of a South San Francisco refinery, in which a San Anselman is one of four suspects, was recovered last night from a locker in the Southern Pacific Railroad passenger station at Third and Townsend streets in San Francisco.

The gold recovered is about half of the $49,000 loot. Nearly $15,000 worth was recovered two weeks ago at the home of Paul P. Eipp in Rohnert Park.

The San Francisco recovery was announced by Sal Rosano, South San Francisco chief of detectives. He said it resulted from investigation and surveillance by three police officers and three Federal Bureau of Investigation agents.

Charged with the Aug. 12 burglary from Wildberg Brothers Smelting and Refining Co. in South San Francisco, and out on bail awaiting trial, are:

Arthur Cornuelle, 44, a self-employed landscape gardener who was arrested Sept. 1 at his home at 1380 Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, San Anselmo.

Eipp, 32, an unemployed bartender.

Emilio P. Paoletti, 59, a San Francisco bartender who was a house guest of Eipp.

Sausalitans Observing Chile Holiday

Chile's 155th year of independence will be celebrated in Sausalito today and Saturday with presentation of three one-act plays, a lecture, and flying of the Chilean national flag.

Sausalito is sister city to Vina Del Mar, Chile, where on July 4 a willow tree from the city of Sausalito was planted to honor United States Independence Day.

The plays, by Chilean Sergio Vedanovic, have settings in Vina and are titled "People Like Us," "The Exiles" and "The White Uniform". Curtain time today is 8:30 p.m. at the Sausalito Little Theater.

Dr. Cinna Lomnitz, Chilean earthquake expert, will speak on "Earthquakes" at 8 p.m. today at the Sausalito Woman's Club.

Scenic Marker Urged For Marin Highways

An assortment of connecting roads in Marin County would become the "Route of the Golden Hind" under a proposal by Walter Horchler of the county planning department.

Along them would be yellow signs, each bearing a blue silhouette of Sir Francis Drake's ship, the Golden Hind.

These signs, Horchler explained yesterday to the county parks and recreation commission, would cause no confusion with state road designations.

The "Route of the Golden Hind" was Horchler's answer to a request by county supervisors for study of scenic routes in the county. It would include Frank Valley Road, Ridgecrest Drive and Old Bolinas Road, Sir Francis Drake Boulevard from Fairfax over White's Hill through Samuel P. Taylor State Park, the Petaluma-Point Reyes Road from Point Reyes Station to Hicks Valley, up Hicks Valley over Wilson Hill Road to the Chileno Valley to connect with Highway 1 at Tomales and a spur to Dillon Beach.

Clinton DeLap, director of the Marin Visitor's Bureau, suggested a similar group of roads, but divided into several routes, each designated with a different colored sign.

Commission members thought the driving public could best plan a scenic trip with use of a map. DeLap said his bureau is already arranging for the printing of such a map and a local bank has agreed to sponsor the job.

DeLap urged that the bureau's emblem, a silhouette of the Golden Hind before a sunburst, be placed on the signs. He said the bureau has been working on the scenic route project for some time.

Commissioners made no commitment on this.

The park and recreation commission yesterday also:

1. Approved second phase development proposed for Paradise Beach Park on Tiburon Peninsula prepared by Asa Hanamoto, landscape architect. The commission deleted, by 5-1 vote, with chairman Gibbs Lawson dissenting and Lothar Salin absent, an auto turnaround at the waterfront.

2. Voted against urging county purchase of 90,000 square feet of beach land just east of San Quentin Prison because of poor access.

Shun Malaysia, Singapore Warns

SINGAPORE (AP) — Prime Minister Lee Kuan Yew threatened today to offer Russia a Singapore military base if the United States takes over the defense of Malaysia.

Lee, in another bitter anti-American outburst, declared: "If the Americans step into the shoes of the British, this place is lost."

He declared he could get the Russians into this newly independent island state.

"I could make sure that the U.S. 7th Fleet could not use the Singapore Straits," he added.

The strategic Singapore Straits are the gateway from the Pacific to the Indian Ocean.

Confidence Man Ordered To Pay $6,000 In Fines

PORTLAND, Ore. AP) — A man accused of defrauding Westerners of more than $1½ million was sentenced yesterday to eight years in prison.

Judge John F. Kilkenny of Federal District Court also ordered Charles M. Simmons Sr., 54, San Mateo, Calif., and Los Angeles, to pay $6,000 in fines.

An associate got a lesser penalty.

Both Simmons and the associate, William F. Gressinger, 45, Portland, pleaded no contest last month. This plea admits no guilt, but throws the defendant on the mercy of the court.

"You are a complete fraud," the judge told Simmons in imposing the penalty. Simmons, a persuasive speaker, and his associates were accused of conducting personality development courses in a number of Western cities in recent years.

An indictment accused him of gaining the confidence of students and then getting money from them as loans and investments.

Mailers Seek Strike Sanction

Mailers Union Local 18 of San Francisco last night asked the Marin County Labor Council for strike sanction against the Independent-Journal.

The local said only that it has not been able to reach a contract with the newspaper. The request was referred to the council's executive board, which council secretary-treasurer Hugh Cassidy said will probably meet next week.

The labor council heard reports "of continued spotty employment" in the county from the building trades locals, according to Cassidy.

Five Arrested At Fair Grounds All Plead Guilty

Five San Rafael men, arrested June 20 after a fist fight at the Petaluma Fair Grounds, pleaded guilty to charges of resisting arrest in Petaluma Justice Court Tuesday.

Other charges of disturbing the police, battery on a police officer and inciting a riot were dropped.

Louis M. Molles, 28, of 11 Roger Drive, Richard W. Gudgel, 19, of 15 Charlotte Drive, Ronald D. Abrao, 21, of 609 C Street, Thomas D. Palmer, 19, of 523 D Street and Frank E. Molles, 25, of 83 Woodland Avenue.

Sentence on a charge of resisting arrest carries a penalty of up to one year in jail and $1,000 fine.

Novato Swimming Pool To Be Open Weekends

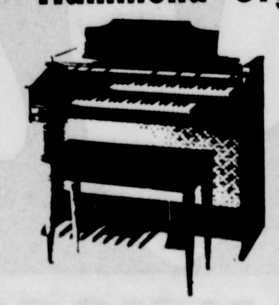

The city swimming pool on the Novato High School campus will be kept open Saturdays and Sundays for recreational swimming as long as the weather permits, according to Edward Adams, parks and recreation director.

The pool will be open from noon to 1 p.m. for adults and children under six, and from 1 to 5 p.m. for everyone on these days, Adams said.

No Prosecution Plans For Heroin Convicts

Dist. Att. Bruce B. Bales said today he has no plans for prosecution of eight San Quentin Prison convicts suspected of participating in use and distribution of heroin within the prison walls.

He said there might be action against one man, who prison officials said was seen throwing something away. The "something" turned out to be heroin. The drug, valued at $1,400, was found Sept. 7 in a bucket at the prison maintenance shop.

Bales said the only evidence against the other men was needle marks on their bodies. But having needle marks is not a crime in California, he said.

He said he knew of no evidence showing who had had possession of the drug or how it had been smuggled in.

Accused Sniper Being Examined

HONOLULU (AP) — Michael Moeller, 23, accused of a sniping killing, is undergoing psychiatric examinations to determine if he is fit to stand trial on a first degree murder charge.

Moeller is accused in the sniper slaying of a Honolulu policeman July 3. He is a television repairman whose mother, Mrs. Lester Moeller, lives at Napa, Calif.

New Head Of Homeowner Association Takes Office

At the Aug. 2 meeting, Martin, who was vice president, took over the presidency after a two-hour stormy session had seen the resignation of James R. Simon as president.

Elected with Martin this week were Patrick McKelvey, vice president, and Mrs. Richard Maldonado, secretary, the slate proposed by the nominating committee. The vote was unanimous among the approximately 25 members present, because there were no nominations from the floor, said Mrs. Arnold Baptiste.

Mrs. Maldonado replaced Mrs. Elmer Lindsey, who resigned as secretary when Simon resigned as president at the August meeting.

Developing Countries Held Slipping Away

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A Chilean journalist said today "The developing countries are slipping away from the western world."

Augustin E. Edwards, publisher and board chairman of Empresa El Mercurio at Santiago, added: "They have not yet made a conscious choice against free enterprise, because the free enterprise system has not really had a chance to develop and grow in most of these countries. But the tide is turning toward growing state intervention in the economic process."

Edwards was a member of the panel on "Private Enterprise and Public Planning," at the Third International Industrial Conference. More than 500 industrial and financial leaders from 55 nations attended.

The turning of the tide toward state intervention, he said, "must and can be reversed." Edwards told the panel that the people of underdeveloped nations must get their governments to guarantee a policy of long-term stability for private capital. Meanwhile, he stated, the developed countries must give the emerging nations the energetic support of private capital, lest they "fall victims to a growing statism that not only chokes free enterprise, but also fails to satisfy the peoples' desires for development."

Edwards, who also is chairman of the board of Banco de A. Edwards y Cia., told the conference: "I realize it is not easy for the developing countries to attract foreign capital, even assuring realistic exchange rates and full freedom for the transfer of funds. Too many other attractive fields exist to tempt the businessmen of the developed western world.

"However, if capital is willing to assume certain risks with the imagination and vigor it has always displayed in the past, there is a great world to conquer and a way of life to preserve."

"Planning," Edwards explained, "is meant to be a strategy for escaping from the blindness of economic process, for forseeing its development, and for guiding it towards fixed objectives by means of the free association of its participants."

As had other speakers at the conference, which opened Monday, Edwards noted that "in the young countries, such nationalism as there is, readily takes the road of anti-imperialism with which it associates private enterprise . . .

"Although in new countries there is a theoretical acceptance of the legitimacy of private enterprise and of its beneficial role, the public is often suspicious of the motivation of private enterprise and considers it somehow less respectable than economic activity carried out by the state."

Chronicle Late Again, Blames Some Printers

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The San Francisco Chronicle today was late for the fourth straight day in reaching the streets. A front page editorial blamed some printers.

The paper contained fewer pages than usual, and many spaces reserved for advertising were left blank. The editorial apologized to readers for the paper's "unattractive, abbreviated form."

"Certain dissident elements within the printers union" objected to the establishment of a joint production facility for San Francisco's major daily newspapers," the editorial added.

"Many of our printers are loyal employees, and good friends. However, a rebellious group among them has spread confusion and obstructionism. These men have embarrassed their responsible fellow printers, their colleagues in the other newspaper trade unions, and the leadership of the International Typographical Union, the oldest trade union in the United States," the editorial declared.

There was no comment from among the printers.

Today's Chronicle did not start rolling off the presses until well after midnight. Usually the morning newspaper's first editions appear in the late afternoon.

The merger was the prelude to the establishment of a single production plant for publication of both the Chronicle and the new evening Examiner and News Call Bulletin. Editorial functions on both papers remain separate.

Guild Strike Hits Times In New York

NEW YORK (AP) — The American Newspaper guild, demanding job protection against automation and mergers here, struck the New York Times today.

Early editions of afternoon newspapers came out as scheduled however, as publishers withheld immediate action on their threat to close six other metropolitan dailies.

Negotiators went back into conference after a short recess from an all-night session.

In calling the late-morning meeting, Theodore W. Kheel, special mediator, said:

"Within the next few hours after we resume negotiations, we will reach an agreement. Both sides have a constructive attitude. The area of difference is now better understood."

The AFL-CIO Guild, representing 2,200 Times employes in the newsroom, advertising and commercial departments, and on the building services staff, set up a picket line at 8 a.m. Members of the nine newspaper craft unions did not cross it.

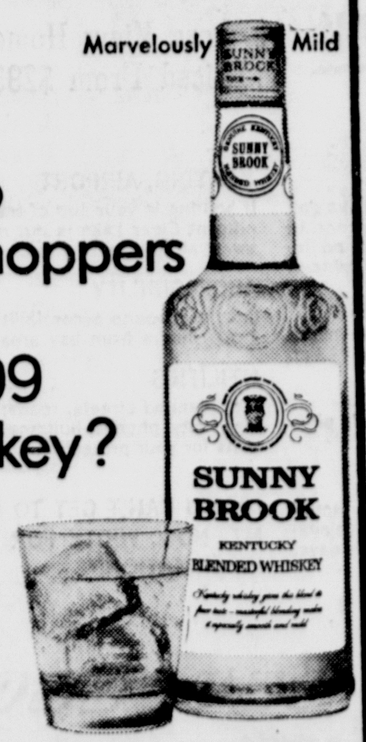

The strike hour, however, came at a time which would have little immediate effect upon production of the Times' next edition, the Friday morning papers. The first press runs for these editions comes in early evening.

CHRYSLER 300 FOR 1966

New cars are styled to provide stronger identity for each of the four series in the 1966 Chrysler line: the New Yorkers, the 300s, the Newports and the Town and Country station wagons. Features include more powerful engine options, new seating arrangements and other equipment options. Most changed in appearance of all models is this 300 two-door hardtop. Chryslers will be on sale Sept. 30 at Doug Dicker Chrysler-Plymouth, San Rafael and Walker Chrysler-Plymouth, Mill Valley.

Market Closes Higher In Rally By Steels

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market closed substantially higher as a rally by steels provided leadership. Trading was heavy.

Steels put on one of their best showings of the year. In late dealings, U.S. Steel and Jones & Laughlin were up 2 or better, Bethlehem more than a point.

Airlines also rallied. United Air Lines gained nearly 3, Eastern about a point and a half.

Auto stocks, which paced Wednesday's rally, faltered on profit taking. Ford was a fractional loser. Chrysler, up a fraction, was very heavily traded.

Volume was estimated at 7 million shares compared with 6.22 million yesterday.

Here was the picture near the close:

Gains of key stocks went from fractions to 1 or 2 points.

Chrysler continued its market leadership of the preceding session, rising about a point as it made a strong bid to repeat as the most-active stock. Close behind it in volume was Sperry Rand, up a fraction.

Other motors were mixed as profits were taken. Ford and American Motors eased. General Motors clung to a fractional gain.

The averages were pushed ahead substantially by blue chips elsewhere in the list. Du Pont and Union Carbide rose about 2 each, General Electric and Kennecott about a point. IBM ran up 3, Xerox and U.S. Smelting more than 2 each.

OTHER PEOPLE'S BUSINESS

By HARRY CRAFT

Executive Building Offices Set; Nelson Vice President Of Firm

Offices will be opened Monday in the Executive Building, 1330 Lincoln Avenue, San Rafael for a branch of N. J. Friedman and Co., a San Francisco firm of certified public accountants.

I've been told that this is one of the largest certified public accountant firms west of New York City—but this is unverified and the company apparently makes no such claim. It does admit to having eight partners and a San Francisco staff of 23 employees. Three of the partners live in Marin: Leon Fish and William Neely in Glenwood; Rick Kraemer in Terra Linda.

The company is associated with C.P.A. Associates, an organization of accounting firms throughout the country, where members exchange ideas and special knowledge and use one another as correspondents when out-of-area work is required.

Fish, a member of several professional accounting associations, will be in charge in Marin, where he says the office is expandable to suit increased business. He has the advantage of proximity of San Francisco headquarters and the specialized tax, audit, management service and profit planning departments there.

OTHER EXECUTIVE BUILDING offices have been taken by the Marin Property Owners Assn. (Mel Rupp, executive director) and the Margaret Day Secretarial Service—which was already there, but has expanded into larger quarters to accommodate new equipment. The building is now almost fully occupied.

JOSEPH A. NELSON of San Rafael, co-manager of the San Francisco brokerage firm of Harris, Upham and Co., Inc., has been elected an assistant vice president of the firm, which changed from a partnership to a corporation on Sept. 1. He has been with the company since 1948. Harris, Upham is headquartered in New York City and has 51 offices throughout the U. S. and correspondents in Canada and Europe.

HOUSE BEAUTIFUL MAGAZINE will decorate the "California Living Idea House" now under constrution at Peacock Gap by San Rafael builder Frank Hanrahan. Robert Martin Englebrecht of New York is the architect; Ruth Cole of Cole-Wheatman, San Francisco interior design firm, will be local coordinator for the magazine; Simpson Timber Co. sponsors the project.

The house will be on public display when completed.

THIS WRITER will expand business reporting to radio commentating, commencing Sunday at 12:15 p.m. over KTIM-AM and FM. The program, "Time to Talk Business," will summarize local events, changes and trends of a commercial nature and will be sponsored by Marin County Office Equipment Co., San Rafael. The program will be featured on the third Sunday of each month at the same time.

MARGE AND ROBERT STORM have expanded their Storm Center on Juarez Avenue, Forest Knolls. Besides continuing to operate their own business in jewelry and apparel originals, they have taken over the adjoining building where space is being rented out to other artists and craftsmen.

PUBLICIST ART BLUM of Sleepy Hollow is principal with Ray McWade in MacBlum's—new San Francisco "gentlemen's grooming parlor" opened this week at 629 Commercial Street—where the polish you receive is equalled only by the glitter of the gold you spend to acquire it.

Frank's Cool, Giants Smoulder; B. B. Hurls Tonight

HOUSTON (UPI) — "All that is left now is to play it game by game," was manager Herman Franks' relaxed comment on his San Francisco Giants' 13-game win streak that threatens to bust the National League race wide open.

The cigar-puffing Franks told newsmen after last night's 3-2 win over Huston that he is too concerned about the day-to-day pennant stretch drive to get excited about the over-all National League race. But the Giants' win left them 3½ ahead of Cincinatti with fast-fading Los Angeles 4½ back and Milwaukee and Pittsburgh more or less out of the race.

Last night it was the Giants' two pitching surprises of 1965 who combined on the eight-hit win. Reliever-turned-starter Bob Shaw and starter-turned-reliever Frank Linzy pitched seven and two innings respectively with Linzy getting the win to run his record to 8-2.

Shaw was a flop in the Giant bullpen in 1964, but is 16-8 in 1965. Linzy, who turned 25 yesterday, bounced back and forth between Tacoma and San Francisco in 1964 and showed little, as evidenced by his 11-12 record at Tacoma. But Linzy has 11 saves in addition to his flashy won-lost record in 1965 for San Francisco.

While the two hurlers held Houston in check, the Giants did not exactly wear out the Astro hurling, but they somehow got the job done.

San Francisco grabbed a 1-0 lead in the fourth on Dick Schofield's single, an infield out, and another key hit by incomparable Willie Mays. It was 2-0 after Tom Haller was safe on the first of two crucial errors by Walt Bond at first and then came home on Shaw's triple.

Houston fought back with a tainted run in the sixth on Bob Aspromonte's single and a two-base throwing error by Shaw. Rusty Staub's homer tied the count and set the stage for Linzy's entrance.

Robin Roberts scattered four Giant hits in his seven innings on the hill and then Dave Giusti took over. In the ninth, Mays got to second on Bond's second error and scored on Willie McCovey's hot single down the right field line which deflected off Bond.

The 13-game win streak was the best the National League has seen since the Dodgers matched it in 1962. The 1951 Giants won 16 straight, but the current skein is the best since then by a San Francisco club.

In 1962, the year the Giants won the pennant, they had a 10-game winning streak.

1965 Kickoff! Big Weekend Schedule In Marin

ALONG MARIN'S SPORTS TRAIL

By JIM GILMARTIN
I-J Sports Editor

Comics Dominate Stars List; Ex-Drake Pals Now Enemies

The uncertainties of show biz have taken a toll on Sunday's Marin Tournament of Stars at Peacock Gap with cancellations by some of the Hollywood stars for an assortment of reasons.

Sending messages of "Sorry, but I can't make it after all" to tourney chairman Bill McDevitt were Bob Hope, Andy William, Randolph Scott and Phil Harris, but at last report the "definites" included some favorites, led by Bing Crosby, who has helped the cause immeasurably by taping promotional messages for radio use.

Comics will be here in full force, reported McDevitt, including the team of Rowan and Marin, Jim "Mr. Magoo" Backus, Jan Murray and Gary (Mr. Lucille Ball) Morton.

OTHER "NAMES" on the definite list include Forrest "Music Man" Tucker, who'll emcee the tourney's $20 per plate banquet Saturday nite, Hal March of $64,000 Question fame, Robert Sterling, Tennessee Ernie Ford, Richard Crenna of TV's Slattery's People, John Agar and many more.

Among those listed as "possible" are Uncle Miltie Berle and Jim Garner, the latter a popular attraction here last year. A complete list, including starting times for the stars and amateurs, should be available for publication in Saturday's I-J. The field of 40 "Stars" and 80 amateurs will start teeing off at 8:30 a.m. Sunday. Adm. $2.

I CHECKED IT out and there is absolutely no truth to the rumor that the U. of Cal. grid uniforms this year will include dirty sweat shirts and sandals. Moreover, the Bears'll be clean shaven and the only four-letter word they'll use will be "hike."

FORMER DRAKE High grid teammates Lee Jamison and Charles Hahn will be enemies in the great Northwest for the next four years—the former enrolling at Oregon State and the latter at Oregon.

PRO TOM McHUGH informs that greens fees at the new San Geronimo National Golf Course opening to the public next Tuesday, will start out at $3 weekdays and $4 weekends and holidays until the new clubhouse is completed, then jumping to $4 and $6.

HOW'S THIS for overcoming a cruel handicap: As an infant Jeff deRecat of Novato was stricken with polio; last month in Portland the 11-year-old Jeff drove in the run that gave Novato's All-Stars a 1-0 last inning victory over Covina for the State of California Little League championship.

IN CASE anyone cares (whaddya mean you DON'T!), here's how I rate Marin's prep football teams for the 1965 campaign: 1, Novato; 2, Drake and Redwood tied; 4, San Rafael; 5, Terra Linda; 6, Tamalpais; 7, Marin Catholic. Of course, this is subject to revision after we get a look at the teams in practice prior to league action next month.

WELL, HERE WE go again. Turn to page 22 for the season's first Fearless, Peerless Pigskin Prognostications. As champ in 1963 and co-champ last year, the little old linemaker(me) is rated "man to beat." Newcomer on the staff is statistician Bob Alvarado replacing Paul Miller in the crystal ball race. Miller, an also ran in this tough league, is now drawing editorial cartoons for the I-J. That'll teach him.

Namath Awaits Report After Taking Physical

NEW YORK (AP) — Now that his draft physical is out of the way, high-priced Joe Namath can concentrate today on trying to win the No. 1 quarterback job with the New York Jets. He won't know for several weeks how he made out in the pre-induction test.

The 21-year-old rookie was examined by an orthopedic consultant during his five-hour stay at the examination center yesterday. The former Alabama star underwent successful surgery for removal of loose cartilage from his right knee last winter.

The services, following custom, made no announcement of the results of Namath's examination. It was indicated that his draft board probably won't receive a report for about two weeks. If he is declared physically fit there is no telling when he could be called.

IT'S A STEAL FOR MAYS

Giants' Willie Mays, hero in San Francisco's torrid drive toward the pennant, steals second base in fourth inning of last night's game in Houston as Astro shortstop Sonny Jackson awaits tardy throw and umpire Augie Donatelli sets to make the call "Safe!" (AP Wirephoto)

BRING ON THE BEARS

49ers Ready For Chicago

Coach George Halas of the Chicago Bears has repeatedly denied persistent reports that his team tries to confuse opponents by jamming their offensive signals.

But the San Francisco 49ers, who meet the Bears in their National Football League opener Sunday, are taking no chances.

And the drill was successful — in a way. Several offensive linemen jumped offside as defensive players barked signals along with the quarterback.

Christiansen said most NFL teams hold such drills before meeting the Bears.

"We can expect anything from them. They're not trying to jam others, they're only calling their own defensive signals," he said. Then pausing he added, "...they say."

Halfback John David Crow, who has been out since he broke a hand in an exhibition game against Pittsburgh Sept. 4, has been cleared for action. Linebacker Matt Hazeltine has been sitting out practice this week with a knee injury suffered in the Los Angeles game last Sunday, but he is expected to be ready for the opener.

Boxer Still In A Coma

BOSTON (AP) — Willie (Pineapple) Stevenson, veteran Boston welterweight boxer, remained in poor condition today and was still in a coma after brain surgery for an injury suffered in a bout last Saturday.

Stevenson, who has been a pro since 1954, was floored three times before losing on a technical knockout in the sixth round of afight with Roscoe Gregory of Brooklyn, N.Y.

Motorcycle Race

Eric Dahlstrom of Sausalito will be competing in the 20-mile Grand National Championship motorcycle race at the Sacramento state fairgrounds Sunday. Purse is $6,000.

Eight Games On Tap For Local Gridders

By RALPH CHATOIAN

Marin County high school football for 1965 in unveiled tomorrow when a weekend slate of eight games is spread before the eyes of fans throughout the county.

Seven of the eight games will be in Marin and only one prep battle is scheduled on "foreign" soil, and that game only 22 miles away. To add even more to a big opening weekend, College of Marin opens its season with a home game against Menlo College tomorrow night.

Things get started tomorrow afternoon when San Rafael High School hosts McClymonds of Oakland at 3:30, Albany plays at Marin Catholic at 3:30, Redwood plays Mount Diablo (of Concord) at Kentfield, 4 o'clock, and Tomales Bay plays at San Rafael Military Academy, 3:15.

In night action tomorrow, Terra Linda takes on Clayton Valley on the San Rafael High School field, 8 o'clock, and defending Marin Athletic League champion Drake travels to Petaluma, 8 o'clock. The Tars' game with Menlo, at Kentfield, starts at 8 o'clock also.

Two afternoon games Saturday will wind up the opening weekend prep schedule, Tamalpais vs. Riordan at Kentfield, 1:30, and College Park of Pleasant Hill at Novato, 2 o'clock.

SAN RAFAEL

One San Rafael starter, right half John Easley suffered an ankle injury yesterday and was knocked out of the starting lineup. Coach Bob Muster said today his place would be taken by Billy Meredith, a little 135-pounder, with Randy Swanson and Paul Giampaoli seeing a lot of action in that spot also.

Quarterbacking seems to be the biggest question mark for the Bulldogs since Jay Widmer, a starter last year, has missed opening practice because of injuries. His younger brother, Roger, and Bill Joost will be filling in for Jay until he returns, with Roger expected to start tomorrow.

In the starting line for San

JIM MURRAY

Twist Of Lemon, And Make It Dry

I don't think you have to go bothering the U.N. about it, but over the past week, an historical land grab took place. Gene Autry, who already has more than he can handle, reached out at the stroke of a mimeograph machine, and acquired more real estate than the Roman Empire in its heyday.

sports std hed Jim Murray

For the second time in their existence, the "Los Angeles Angels" ceased to exist, and the "California Angels" came into being.

At that, Gene's acquisition was modest. I mean, he could have called the team, "The Pacific Coast Angels" or "The West-of-the-Mississippi Angels." The "North American Angels" was even possible, not to say the "Western Hemisphere Angels."

The maneuver is another triumph of baseball logic. If you can't make it in a city of 2,500,00, why, just move to a city of 200,000. If you can't make it there, I guess you take the thing out to the Mojave Desert. There, you can call the team the "Earth Angels."

AT THE moment, the Angels are really the Blue Angels. For four years, they bucked the L.A. Dodgers' deal, sometimes without getting a good look at the cards. But, finally, with all the bravado of one of his old movies, the old songless celluloid cowboy, Autry, has pushed his chin up to the Dodgers' and snarled, "Mister, this town isn't big enough for both of us!" Then, he added, "I'm going."

I have to say, even though I applaud Gene's audacity — claiming California without a shot being fired—that I deplore the lack of exploratiodn for a more fitting title for the team. Now that it has left the City of the Angels, and has been, so to say, cast out of Heaven, does it qualify to be called "Angels" anymore?

I THOUGH of some more fitting terms. Like, how about "California Oranges?" I mean, you have the Cleveland "Browns," don't you? And the Cincinnati "Reds"? The fact that, thanks to the bulldozer, the baseball team woud be the only "Oranges" in Orange County in a year or so weighs heavily in its favor. So does the fact headline writers can get through their work easier with "Oranges Get Picked, 20-0," not to mention "Oranges Get Sprayed" or "Oranges Rotten." A guy sliding into home on his belly would be sure to be identified in a caption as a "Navel Orange."

IN THIS spirit, how about the "California Earthquakes?" The "California Suicides" The "California Traffic Tolls?" The "California Drowners?" The "Brush Fires?" "Landslides?" The "Droughts?" "Smogs?" And, if we have to name them after an agricultural product, why not San Francisco's favorite, the one it consumes most? The "California Olives" or the "California Twists-of-Lemon?" And go easy on the vermouth and make it a double on the rocks, please.

BIG WEEKEND SCHEDULE

Rafael will be Sam Crowell or Bill Tetu at left end, Mike Rosso at left tackle, Gordon Jones at left guard, Darryl Ralston or Jim Bouchillon at center, Ed Pascoe at right guard, John Balzan at right tackle, and Al Heisler at right end.

"I hope to get a lot of kids into the ball game," said Muster who will be employing the wing-T formation against McClymond's pro set. Because of the heat factor and because many of his chargers need game experience, "a lot of boys will play," said Muster.

REDWOOD SECRET

Redwood coach Bob Troppmann is throwing away his league trademark, the wing-T with unbalanced line and is installing a "secret" formation. The Giants will need quite a few secrets to beat Mount Diablo of the rough Diablo Valley Athletic League. Mount Diablo is picked to win the championship of their east bay league.

In 1960 Redwood opened its season at Mount Diablo and put a nine-game winning streak on the line. Well, Redwood lost, but oh how the Giants lost—30-0. When MCAL action started that year, Redwood started winning and never quit, going on to an undefeated league season and a second straight championship. So you never know.

"This time it won't be like that game," said Troppmann, although he knews the Diablos will be favored.

Missing the Redwood opener because of injuries are tackle Bill McNamara, guard Bill Dunn, fullback Stan Tobiason, and quarterback Craig Scott.

MARIN CATHOLIC

The Wildcats from Marin Catholic had better be in good shape physically, for coach Chuck Vaughan plans to have most of his boys going both ways in tomorrow's heat.

He said 8 of his starting 11 will be required to stick it out offensively and defensively. Vaughan just doesn't have enough kids of varsity caliber on his small team. Starting in the backfield against Albany will be quarterback Bob Nelson, halfback Kurt Guehring, wingback John Grady and fullback George King. Tight end will be John Komo and split end will be Mark Stemple.

Interior linemen include center Rich Woodall, guards Ed Lencioni and George Croke and tackles Gary Wittenmeier and Mike Keith. Keith will be replacing Tony Turrini, out with a leg injury.

Warriors Like Ex-Bruin Star

SAN JOSE (AP)—The San Francisco Warriors of the National Basketball Assn. have held their third official scrimmage of the season.

Coach Alex Hannum said workouts were started early so the team's 17 players can be cut to the 11 available berths. Hannum praised rookie Keith Erickson of UCLA, who the coach said, "has been a big surprise to everyone around."

Dodger Problems Mount; Braves: 'Beware Giants'

Things Growing Dimmer For Slumping Dodgers

CHICAGO (UPI)—For a team knocked from first to third place in 10 days, there was little today to comfort the Los Angeles Dodgers.

Their hopes of winning the National League pennant diminishing with each loss, the Dodgers suffered another indignity yesterday in the 8-6 loss to the Chicago Cubs. It was almost doubly painful because of a minor foot injury to Don Drysdale, but the giant right-hander survived without apparent serious harm.

If there was a bright spot for the Dodgers it was the 13 hits collected in the loss. Another of the frequent hitting slumps —particularly involving key men—had the Dodgers in even more trouble than loose fielding.

The Dodgers tried again this afternoon against the Cubs, with Claude Osteen going agains Dave Faul of the host nine in this dark, cold and dreary city.

With 16 games remaining, the Dodgers are 4½ games behind the San Francisco Giants and trail second place Cincinnati by one.

The Dodgers held a 3-0 lead after one inning yesterday on the strength of Al Ferrara's bases loaded double, and Drysdale appeared coasting to his 20th win.

But in the second, Drysdale was hit on the right foot by a ball lined off the bat of Ernie Banks. Don had to leave the game and it appeared there might be serious injury.

X-rays later established he was not seriously hurt.

"It was just a bruise. I won't miss my next turn," he said.

But the injury kayoed Drysdale for the day and he wasn't around for the decisive fifth inning, when the Cubs scored three unearned runs on three Dodger errors. Dick Tracewski, in a rare starting role, bobbled Banks' grounder to set up a run-scoring single by Harvey Kuenn and Ferrara juggled the ball to allow two runners to advance.

The third error was a wild throw into right field by pitcher Howie Reed one of the Dodgers' unlucky seven pitchers this day—that permitted another run to score.

The Cubs built a 7-3 lead before the Dodgers recovered to score twice in the seventh and once in the eighth.

Casper Fires A 72 In Portland Open Preliminary

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — Defending champion Jack Nicklaus was among the leaders yesterday in a pro-amateur prelim for the $50,000 Portland Open golf tournament.

Nicklaus, golf's leading money winner, shot a three-under-par 69 over the Portland Golf Club course. The course, par 35-37—72, is 6,445 yards long.

The four-day tournament began today.

While Nicklaus did not disappoint his large gallery following, he only tied for second in the event.

Ron Funseth, playing in his first tournament in two weeks, and two-year veteran George Archer, fired 68s to share first prize in the pro-am.

Billy Caster, of Peacock Gap, San Rafael, three-time winner of the Portland Open, was far back in the pack as he shot an even-par 72.

Milwaukee Gunning For Sweep

"The Giants are going to have to earn it," said Milwaukee Manager Bobby Bragan last night after his Braves snapped a three-game losing streak with a 4-2 victory over the Philadelphia Phillies.

"They've got 13 games with the Braves and Cincinnati," said Bragan. "We've got to beat the Phillies tomorrow Thursday and sweep the Giants over the weekend."

Milwaukee is six games back of the front running San Francisco club with 18 games to play. The Giants have 17 remaining in the tense National Leageu pennant fight.

"We needed this one badly," said Bragan of the win over the Phillies. "Things look a little brighter.

"We got some long overdue hitting and some long overdue breaks," said the Braves' skipper.

Bragan already is thinking ahead to the Giants' series starting in Milwaukee Friday. With right-hander Ken Johnson nursing a sore elbow, he plans to start relief pitcher Phil Niekro in the opener, follow Saturday with either Denver Lemaster or Wade Blasingame and Sunday Tony Cloninger, who went six innings for his 22nd victory of the season last night.

Ace Contest

Two Marin Stars On Cal Aggie '11'

Jack Edwards, a junior, is a fullback on the team and aLrry Garrett is a senior guard. Both boys are from San Rafael. Edwards is majoring in food science and Garrett in political science.

Series Ducats? Not Quite Yet

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — World Series tickets are being printed for the San Francisco Giants, but the team management says it won't accept orders from fans for a while.

Club publicist Garry Schumacher said the Giants, who lead the National League by 3½ games with 17 left to play, have received permission from the Commissioner of Baseball to print tickets.

"But no ticket applications are being accepted yet," Schumacher said.

"We'll make an announcement by the end of the week on how to apply for tickets, but any orders we receive until then will be returned to the sender," the publicist emphasized.

All clubs which are pennant contenders this late in the season have been authorized to print series tickets. In the National League, these include Los Angeles, Milwaukee, Cincinnati and Pittsburgh in addition to the Giants.

COLLEGE GRID

Secret Session For Cal's Bears

BERKELEY (AP) — The California Bears are holding their last practice session today before meeting Notre Dame in the season opener Saturday at Berkeley.

Coach Ray Willsey has been holding short workouts this week and expects most of the lineup to be ready for this weekend. The only absentee expected is halfback and track star Forrest Beatty, who has a sprained ankle.

The Bears' workout yesterday was closed, but Willsey said today's practice would be open.

INDIANS READY

STANFORD (AP)—The Stanford Indians were slated for light workouts today and tomorrow to get ready for Saturday's opener against San Jose State at Stanford Stadium.

The team went through only a one hour workout yesterday. Ralston said his men were leg weary from the long workouts that began Sept. 1.

SAN JOSE DRILLS

SAN JOSE (AP)—The San Jose State Spartans have been working on their kicking game to get ready for Saturday's opener at Stanford.

The team went through a dummy scrimmage and kicking drills yesterday. The punter was Jim Webster with Ted Mills as field goal kicker and extra point men Rich Tatley and Colin Lindores.

TIGERS LOAF

STOCKTON (AP)—The University of the Pacific Tigers planned an easy practice session today and are scheduled to leave Friday for their Saturday opener at San Diego State.

No. 5 Lucky Post At Bay Meadows' Opening Program

SAN MATEO (AP)—Hoist Bar took the featured $10,000 Bay District Handicap yesterday as Bay Meadows opened an 83-day horse racing meet.

Hoist Bar, ridden by Alvara Pineda, paid $5.60 to win.

In the third race, a $5,000 claiming event, a one-eyed horse by the name of Dover Ed romped to an easy victory, paying $20.20 on a $2 ticket.

Sugar Wins By Kayo; Opponent Suspended

NORFOLK, Va. (AP) — Ex-middleweight champion Sugar Ray Robinson of New York notched another victory in his boxing comeback last night with a second round knockout of Bill Henderson of Paterson, N.J., who immediately was suspended for alleged failure to put forth "his best effort."

Henderson, who weighed 164 to Robinson's 162, slumped to the canvas at 1:20 of the second round and was never even counted out. Referee Jackie Levinson strode out of the ring, told newsmen "I was disgusted," and ruled it no contest.

Bill Brennan, executive secretary of the Virginia Athletic Commission, suspended Henderson for his poor showing and held up his purse pending a hearing before the full commission.

Robinson said after the bout he could see during pre-fight instructions that Henderson "was scared to death ... he couldn't even look me in the eye. Knowing this, I went out to make quick work of him."

But Robinson added that he thought Levinson "made a mistake by leaving the ring without making a count and attending to what duties he had."

Ward Far Back In National Amateur

TULSA, Okla. (UPI) — Jim Vickers and Jim Grant, an oilman and a college boy, carried a one-stroke lead into the second round of the 65th National Amateur Golf Tournament today, but favorite Deane Beman was among a half dozen golfers applying heavy pressure.

Grant, 23-year-old University of Houston star from Wethersfield, Conn., and Vickers, a 36-year-old Wichita, Kan., oil firm executive, played early yesterday and recorded identical two-under-par 34-35—69's before the big field wore down the greens and the temperature rose to 100 degrees.

The big field of 150, which stretched play out so long the final twosome quit the 18th hole because of darkness, will be cut to the low 60 scorers and ties after today's round. The cut is an innovation that comes in with the rule that changed this year's amateur to medal play, rather than the match format in the past.

With two-time champion Beman at one stroke under par were 20 - year - old Tommy Barnes of the University of Georgia, 27 - year - old Walker Cupper Don Allen of Rochester, N.Y., and 32 - year - old Ray Terry of Jacksonville, Fla., the son of former basseball great Bill Terry.

At even par 71 were Bob Dickson of Muskogee, Okla., Jim Tom Blair of St. Louis, Charles Lewis of Santee, Calif., who got into the tournament as an alternate, and Cesar Sanudo of El Cajon, Calif.

San Francisco's Harvie Ward, former two-time champion of this event, was eight strokes off the pace after a 77.

The FISHIN' FOOL

By RALPH STEVENS
I-J Fish and Game Writer

STEVENS

Put out by the Sonora Pass Vacationland, Inc., this map is in four colors and is free to hunters and fishermen. It is an accurately scaled 22x29-inch map which shows in detail all topography, including rivers, lakes and streams, roads and trails, campgrounds, ranger stations and other special features.

Depicted on the back and cover of this map is important information pertaining to the scenic Highway 108 route. Also included is information on the Mother Lode region and the historic cities of Sonora, Jamestown, Columbia and Tuolumne.

The map is free to anyone sending his name and address on a postcard to Sonora Pass Vacationland, Route 2, Box 53(H), Sonora, Calif.

SO THAT'S that. Now for a looksee at the fishing picture as of the present. Salmon trolling has continued very spotty. I talked with Joe McGill at Caruso's Sausalito Harbor, Tuesday, and only token salmon have come in for over a week. "Only one boat went out this morning," said McGill.

However to underestimate the potential is a mistake. By the very nature of things, the present slump must be only temporary. In fact one boat, the Chinook out of Lee Anderson's shop in Oakland, fished the Duxbury area on Monday and netted seven nice kings to 27 pounds, and the Whirlaway landed four salmon to 26 pounds the same day in the same area.

HAL BOENNER, of Lee Anderson's in Oakland, is back on the job after a rest in hospital for a long time. Glad to know he's okay again. Hal mentioned a nice day was had for the small party fishing from the Duke No. 2. "Three limits of big bass—15 to 24 pounds, at the Rock Pile. Landed 'em and started home by 1 p.m. The RSP netted six bass to 20 pounds in the same area. Old-timer Herman Furham and two friends went out after cats and loaded up. Limits of large ones two days running. Herman fished out of Bruno's resort."

Fishing for stripers while using live bait, artificials and even cut bait rewarded the lads who plied the Racoon Strait on Monday. Joe McGill of Caruso's waxed eloquent over the wild and wooly action, by boats of all sizes and shapes. "Everybody got fish, and most of them had limits—all nice stripers," reported McGill.

CARL BENNETT of Rodeo Marina reported quite a bit of fast action with stripers near the Union Oil Wharf. "One of them weighed in at 30 pounds, but mostly they were fresh-run mediums," said Carl, and added that 12 lunker-sized sturgeons also came in over the weekend.

Frank Joseph of Rodeo reported some fairly good returns made by a few of the "regulars." "Preston Blue of San Leandro caught bass to 16 pounds last week and took a 14-pounder later in the week. Joe Spinler landed a 15-pounder on Sunday. I think the fish are in right now."

I HAVE BEEN challenged to make a prediction as to the approximate date fishing in the San Pablo Bay, especially the upper bay, will start. I don't expect any real fast fishing in the area until the weekend of Sept. 18 and 19, and even then not the old-time fast action. I do believe that the real general bait fishing season will be in full swing by the end of this month and the first week in October.

Joey Giambra Returns To Ring

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Former middleweight Joey Giambra said Tuesday he was returning to boxing after a 30-month retirement.

The 34-year-old fighter said he expects to fight in Boston Oct. 9 against an opponent yet to be announced.

Ring statistics credit Giambra with winning 65 fights, 31 by knockout and losing ten. He won two decisions in three fights with present middleweight champion Joey Giardello.

Water Ski Tourney At Bel Marin Keys

A number of the nation's leading water skiers will compete Saturday and Sunday in an open tournament at Bel Marin Keys, it was announced yesterday.

The competition, which will include slalom, jumping and trick events in addition to exhibition performances, will be held from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. both Saturday and Sunday.

Among the entries, according to the sponsoring Water Skiers of Marin, are national and Masters champion Chuck Stearns of Bellflower, former national champ Larry Penascho, national boys champ Mike Suyderhoud of San Anselmo and world record jumping champ Dennis Rahlves of Oakland.

Gals Tie At Peacock Gap

Mrs. John Cardinal and Mrs. Ted Broedlow, with 74's, tied for top honors Tuesday in trophy day action at Peacock Gap Golf and Country Club. Mrs. Broedlow tied with Mrs. E. J. O'Grady for low putts, 31.

Sports Writer Fullerton Dies

ELIZABETH CITY, N.C. (AP) — Hugh S. Fullerton Jr., a sports writer for The Associated Press for 38 years, died last night at the age of 61. His death resulted from an embolism — an obstruction of a blood vessel.

Fullerton was on vacation at Nag's Head, N.C., when he was stricken. He was brought to Albemarle General Hospital in Elizabeth City where surgery was performed. He died at 1 p.m.

His home was in Englewood, N.J.

MEETS MAYANS' HEIRS

Sausalito Teacher Spends Summer With Indian Tribe

By BRUCE COLEMAN

A Sausalito bachelor, who teaches Spanish for a living but has a side yen for anthropology, has just returned from a remote part of Mexico where he studied and photographed a vanishing Indian group—the Lacandon.

Lionel K. Cleary, tanned after his two and one-half month trip, claims the reason the group is so special is that it represents the last pure, direct descendants of the ancient Maya.

They were defeated by the Spaniards and, at the end of the 18th Century, chased into the jungles. But they were never conquered, said Cleary.

They speak Mayan. They make bows and arrows, some barbed to shoot monkeys, others blunt-ended for birds, some with tips of stone. They build dugout canoes and make some cloth from wild cotton.

It was his second trip to visit the Lacandons. He accompanied Gertrude Duby Blom of Switzerland, widow of the archaeologist, Frans Blom. She is author of several books about the few remaining Mayan descendants and has an anthropological research center in her home in Bern.

There are now but about 100 Lacandons, Cleary said. They live in two independent groups in the jungle in the state of Chiapas, near the Guatemala border.

Favorites for Cleary were the 46 Lacandons living in thatched huts near Lake Na-Ha. The other group, Lacanja, live near the ruins of Bonampak, site of famous Mayan murals.

Cleary spent much of his tour at the town of San Cristobal, making two trips into the jungle. Getting into the Lake Na-Ha area is very dangerous, he said, because the airplane runway is in a jungle clearing and during the rainy season is muddy.

The Indians have shotguns and .22 rifles which they use to hunt wild pig, jaguars and monkey. When they run out of ammunition, they use bows and arrows, said Cleary.

"The Lacandons are pagans," Cleary explained. "Missionaries have gone there but failed in their attempts to convert them. The missionaries said their crops would fail. The crops failed but they remained pagans."

The Indians are polytheistic. They believe in gods of nature —the winds, stars, lightning and gods of water. They have god pots, in which they light incense, then take to a god house and chant in Mayan.

The Lacandons are dying out, said Cleary.

He said the influenza epidemic of 1917 killed many of the Indians.

Asked how he communicated, Cleary said some men have had contact with chicle workers and have learned some Spanish.

Cleary described the Lacandons as "extremely friendly, very generous, and always laughing. They have an unoccidental approach to life."

The jungle in which they live has a tremendous number of birds. "At night the whole jungle comes alive. . . . You can hear all sorts of movements and sounds underneath your hammock," said the Sausalitan.

Cleary also visited a completely different group of Indians, Los Tzotzlies, who reside in mountain areas of Chipapas, to witness Indian religious fiestas in villages of San Andres, Santiago, Santa Marta and Magdalena. The Tzotziles, linguistically related to the Maya, are Christians.

People save up all year to buy fire works and homemade bombs and liquor for the fiestas, he reported. "They believe that the drunker they are the closer they are to God because they feel when they are drunk they are no longer part of the world. This is one of the religious reasons they drink."

VANISHING AMERICAN — Jorge, one of the dwingling Lacandon Indian tribe, descendants of the Mayans, is given box of rifle bullets by Lionel K. Cleary of Sausalito, who spent summer with the Lacandons in jungle near Guatemalan border.

Expedition Souvenirs Shown At Exhibition

NEW YOR K (UPI) — An unusual art gallery exhibition here is made up of salvaged treasure, maps, rare photographs and fossils resulting from famed scientific expeditions of the 20th century.

Called "To the Edge of Tomorrow," the exhibit is drawn from the files of the National Geographic Society and is being shown at the Hallmark Gallery to Oct. 1. It covers more than a dozen explorations of earth, sea and sky, ranging from Admiral Peary's discovery of the North Pole in 1909 to the American assault on Mt. Everest in 1963 and the recent Ranger moon-shot.

Not Friendly Enough

LEE, Mass. (UPI) — Three youths were fined $100 each in court for beating up two customers in the Friendly Ice Cream store.

Launder Your Wig?

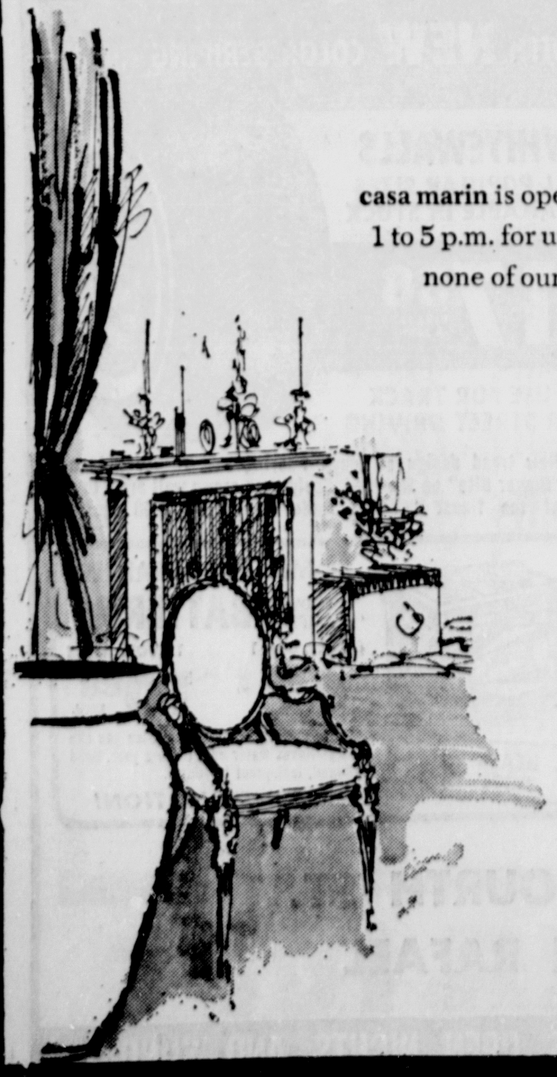

CHICAGO (UPI) — The first hair curling irons came from the laundry room and consisted of 16th century pressing tools such as crispers and crimpers. The curling lotions included flour and water, fruit juices, honey, sugar water and tree sap boiled with water.

In Quebec, English remains the language of most business, an irritation to many.

Today's biggest home entertainment value...

MAGNA-COLOR TV* with ASTRO-SONIC Stereo

*Only MAGNA-COLOR brings you all these exclusive, advanced features

New Magnavox Brilliant Color Tube—brings you truly spectacular pictures half-again as bright as most others today. Colors are far more natural and vivid—overcoming the dim, dull color that has so retarded program enjoyment. And with Magnavox, it's no longer necessary to dim your room lights or draw the drapes to obtain satisfactory viewing!

Automatic Color—always holds colors true, and eliminates the necessity of critical "fine tuning" that usually degrades pictures. With new MAGNA-COLOR TV, just select your channel—color pictures will appear instantly and perfectly!

Chromatone—adds another exciting dimension to color, lending depth and beauty to the picture. It also produces a warm sepia-tone on monochrome telecasts—thus eliminating the drab gray and black pictures seen on most other makes.

Constant Color—(degausser) automatically keeps all pictures pure, both monochrome and color! Lets you move your Magnavox—even to other rooms —without the necessity of calling the service man to re-adjust the picture.

Total Remote Control—eliminates at-the-set tuning after your color program has been selected. Lets you change channels, turn TV on/off, adjust volume, or cut-off the sound entirely. Please refer to page 6 for description of radio-phonograph functions.

Highest Reliability—magnificent MAGNA-COLOR TV also sets a new standard in dependability. The advanced circuitry (the same type used in today's aero-space electronic devices) is so reliable, the Silver Seal Warranty guarantees parts and picture tube against defects in material and workmanship for one year under normal usage—replaced by dealer. Service (labor) furnished by dealer without charge for first 90 days.

Quick Pictures—eliminates the annoying waiting period during set warm-up. Perfected MAGNA-COLOR pictures appear in just 12 seconds—four times

The EL DORADO—Model 2-RT575, is gracefully styled in Mediterranean—Old Spanish design with Pecan finish. The heavy acoustical cabinet, of hardwood solids and veneers, is enriched by decorative front panels, and measures 62½" L, 20½" D, and 30" H. On concealed swivel casters. $995.00.

Enjoy thrilling 265 sq. in. color pictures—the most dazzling you've ever seen—blended with famed Magnavox sound for unequalled program realism. All models have tone control. Let a demonstration prove that Magna-Color is truly the finest . . . and your best buy . . . on any basis of comparison.

THE SUBURBAN SCENE

Sing Along Party To Open Fall Festivities Saturday

By MOLLY MARIN

An oldtime sing along party and spaghetti dinner will open fall festivities for the Mill Valley Tennis Club Saturday. A happy hour at 7 p.m. will precede the 8 p.m. dinner with keg beer. Co-chairmen are the Paul Vogelheims. Other committee members are Mesdames Sam Farber and James Stephenson, reservations; and Mrs. J. Paul Limont, decorations.

Red and white invitations decorated with an oldtime scroll border and birds were designed by Mill Valley artist Gerald Mertens. Jim Goldsmith will lead singing during the evening. The musical program will be composed of a number by Jim Rice, banjo, and Paul Govelheim, piano; a pantomime skit by Bob Toft, Jim Rutledge, Sam Farber, George Gustafson and Bob Morgan; and vocal numbers by Mrs. John Preisinger, Jim McManus and Mrs. Charles Guichard and Jack Kennedy.

MR. AND MRS. FRED J. PARKER of Loma Verde have invited Mr. and Mrs. Richard Schlobohm of the Marin Country Club Estates, and Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Hewitt of Walnut Creek to a cocktail party at their home Saturday evening before they go on to the Tom Thumb Chapter of the Children's Home Society dinner dance at the Meadow Club.

MRS. JOHN D. MAYER of Belvedere entertained at a luncheon Tuesday in honor of Mrs. Eric Bellingall of the Belvedere Lagoon, who is leaving with Mr. Bellingall on Saturday for a four-week tour of Europe. Guests were Mesdames Frederick Supple, Robert Hopps, James Michael and Charles Lennihan, all of Belvedere, C. F. Kumler Jr. of Mill Valley and Mrs. George C. Bertricevich of Tiburon.

THE LAMBDA CHAPTER of Kappa Delta Rho fraternity of the University of California hosted a rushee party Monday night at the Arthur G. Lindauer home in the Marin Country Club Estates, with three generations of the fraternity represented. Arthur G. Lindauer, his son, Stewart Lindauer of Terra Linda, and his grandson, John Pritchard of San Rafael, all attended.

Hosts and hostesses were Mr. and Mrs. Robert Pritchard of San Rafael and Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Roke of Alameda. Chairman for the affair was Robin J. Bollinger of Sacramento and co-chairman, Bill Scott of Los Angeles. Sam Merell is president of the fraternity. Guests danced around the pool and a buffet supper was served.

A Parliamentary Workshop Planned

Marin County clubwomen, including officers and members, are invited to participate in an all-day parliamentary workshop sponsored by Northern Area, California State Assn. of Parliamentarians, to be held in San Francisco at the Woman's Athletic Club on September 25.

The parliamentary institute will cover many phases of parliamentary procedure including three workshops conducted by national registered parliamentarians.

Registration is at 9 a.m. in the assembly room. Workshop chairman and moderator is Mrs. G. Frederick Norman assisted by Mrs. Richard A. Wilson.

Tea To Honor Founders Of Outdoor Club

The Outdoor Art Club in Mill Valley will open its 63rd season Sept. 23 with a festive tea to commemorate its 1902 founding and to honor founders and past presidents.

For the program starting at 2 p.m. Ed Radenzel will lecture on "The United States, Communists and Asia." News commentator on KQED-TV, he has been foreign news editor of the San Francisco Chronicle for 25 years and has been associated with World Affairs Council of Northern California since its inception.

Starting on Oct. 8 Radenzel will lead a 30-day international relations tour of Russia and India.

Mrs. Thomas Harris and Mrs. Adolph Laurence will greet members at the door. Pouring at the tea following the program will be Mesdames Gerhard Becker, John C. Burnham, Homer J. Hixon and Edmund Mahon.

Annual Holy Family Conference Planned

The annual Holy Family Conference will be held on Saturday at St. Sebastian's Church in Kentfield. Mrs. Alfred J. Ruggiero of Greenbrae, president of the Marin Guild, and Mrs. William Fahy of Mill Valley, cofounder of the Guilds, will greet delegates from throughout California.

Events scheduled include registration at 11 a.m., with luncheon at noon.

Guest speaker at the 1 p.m. conference will be the Rev. Edward Dingberg of St. Isabella's Church in Terra Linda. His topic will be "Holy Family Sisters and the Community."

Larkspur Club Luncheon Party Will Be Benefit

A luncheon and card party to assist the Golden Gate Federated Women's Clubs scholarship fund and president's assembly will be sponsored by the Larkspur Women's Club Wednesday in the club rooms of the Larkspur City Hall.

Mesdames Albert Heston, Donald Denton and Harold Myers are in charge of arrangements and are reservations chairmen for the noon benefit.

Southern Marin Voter Unit Opens Drive For Finances

The League of Women Voters of Southern Marin will initiate its annual finance drive on Monday with a breakfast meeting for committee members at the home of Mrs. Homer Hixon, 50 Lower No. Terrace, Tiburon.

Mrs. Edward C. Basstt is chairman of the event, assisted by Mesdames John Giuliani, James Moran and L. M. Wahlquist.

Letters will be mailed to local businessmen and past contributors. In addition, a committee will personally get in touch with citizens who may be interested in furthering the efforts of this nonpartisan, civic-minded group.

Contributions may be mailed directly to Mrs. Bassett, 167 Lovell Ave., Mill Valley.

Korean Girl To Sing Concert Tomorrow

By MAYBELLE SPECKMANN

Marin people who have been interested in the career of Young Ja Shin, 22-year-old mezzo soprano from Korea who hopes to become an opera singer, will have an opportunity to hear what she has accomplished in the last year.

She will present a concert tomorrow at 8 o'clock at the First Presbyterian Church of San Rafael, which sponsors her. Last September, Young left for New York City and was accepted as a student at the Juilliard School of Music when she passed the tests. Given her choice of vocal teachers, she selected the noted mezzo soprano Jennie Tourel, who opened the Marin Music Chest 27th season in 1961.

"I chose her because I liked her," she said. Apparently the liking was mutual, for Miss Tourel has been of great help to her and has great faith in her potentialities.

IN NEW YORK Young lived in International House, where she sang the mezzo role last spring in a production of Bizet's opera "Dr. Miracle." After a full year at Juilliard she received a nine-week scholarship to continue her studies with Miss Tourel in a master class this summer at the Aspen Institute for Humanistic Studies at Aspen, Colo. She lived with Miss Tourel during this time.

Last week she came with the noted singer to Los Angeles, where Mrs. John W. Chapman met her and brought her back to San Rafael. The young Korean girl lived with Mrs. Chapman last year when she began her studies in this country at Dominican College. Her subjects were voice, piano, music theory, English, speech and chorus.

IN MAY, 1964, she gave her first solo recital at the First Methodist Church in San Rafael. Those who attended were astounded to hear that this apparently shy young girl, who is the personification of the gentle feminine Oriental graces, had a powerful, mature-sounding mezzo soprano voice.

Very proud of her protege, Mrs. Chapman read this quotation from a letter she had received from Miss Tourel: "I find her gifted and promising. . . . I have done everything in my power I could to help her through the summer and only hope you have other people who believe in her as much as I do."

Young was offered the opportunity to sing in a San Francisco Symphony pops concert this summer by Maestro Arthur Fiedler, but she was unable to accept it because of her studies at Aspen. At the end of this month she will return to the Juilliard School of Music with a scholarship and also one from International House, but expenses are so heavy that she still needs assistance, and contributions from Friday night's concert will be used to further her musical education at Juilliard.

After the concert a reception will be held in Canoles Hall of the church.

'Lawapono Ku' Theme Of San Marin Dinner Dance

"Lawapono Ku" is the theme chosen for the benefit dinner dance to be sponsored by the San Marin Improvement Assn. at the San Marin Club in Novato on Sept. 25.

Lawapono Ku means plenty parks, and proceeds from the event will be donated to the Novato Civic Foundation, a nonprofit organization established to help Novato create parks.

A social hour will begin at 7 p.m. and dinner will be served at 8:30 p.m. with dancing following and guests have been requested to wear island attire.

Vicki Roberts Is Bride Of Joel DeSilva

MR. AND MRS. JOEL DE SILVA
(Ken Nunes photo)

The First Presbyterian Church in San Rafael was the setting for the Saturday nuptials of Vicki Roberts and Joel DeSilva of San Rafael, the Rev. Wesley C. Baker officiating.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Virginia Harris of San Rafael. She was given in marriage by Silvano Giovannelli, a friend of the family. Vicki wore a white gown of lace and silk. Her maid of honor, Marlene Kramar of San Rafael, and bridesmaids, Jean Kelly of San Rafael and Helen Jokoova of San Anselmo, wore full length dresses of turquoise crepe.

Ronald DeSilva, the bridegroom's brother, was the best man, and Steve Metcho of San Rafael and Dave Hillsman of Daly City ushered.

A reception followed at the San Rafael Improvement Club. After a Southern California wedding trip the couple will live in San Rafael.

The bride was graduated from San Rafael High School and attended College of Marin. She is employed with Steve Liggett Beauty Supplies, San Rafael. Steve Harris of San Rafael is her brother.

Joel is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph DeSilva of San Rafael and the grandson of Mrs. H. C. Drossel of San Rafael. He was graduated from San Rafael High School and attended College of Marin. He is now attending Heald's College and is employed with a San Rafael furniture store.

Newlyweds To Live In Corte Madera

Eulalia M. Gunn and Sgt. James A. Keenan of Hamilton Air Force Base were united in marriage at Our Lady of Loretto Church in Novato Saturday. The Rev. Alan Armstrong performed the double ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Sittenauer of Novato. She wore a street length gown of pale green brocade as she exchanged her wedding vows. Mrs. Phil Sittenauer was her only attendant. She wore a dress of gold brocade.

Best man for the bridegroom was Joseph Sittenauer Jr. of San Rafael, a brother of the bride.

A reception was held at Cloud 5 Restaurant in Novato. The newlyweds will reside in Corte Madera where the bride is employed at Gabel's Litho.

GEN. TANG TZU-CHANG
One-man show

Peacock Gap Art Exhibit Is Scheduled

Gen. Tang Tzu-Chang of San Rafael, who was once second in command of the Chinese Army, will present a one-man art exhibit at the Peacock Gap Country Club throughout next month.

General Tang, who served in the army and air force of the Republic of China from 1924 to 1949, has retired from military life to concentrate on writing, lecturing and painting.

During the past 15 years, his paintings have been exhibited at universities and galleries in Washington, New York, London and Paris.

New teachers are Mrs. Oweda Dickey, Susan Doll, Bennett Harris and Garnet Gorin in business education; Sandra Bowles, Joseph Brighenti, Mrs. Marilyn Tritenbach, Victoria Russell, Margaret Freedman, Albert Lozano and Mrs. Irene Suppiger in English; Rosemarie Beitzer, homemaking; Richard W. Grossner, industrial arts; Charles J. Metz and Reed Volin, mathematics; Mrs. Carol Whitelaw, Karen Hart and Norma Simon, physical education; Kristen Camphouse, T. W. Freeman and Sam Wilcox, social studies, and Louis G. Ferrario, art.

Rail Crossing Hearing Re-Set

A California Public Utilities Commission hearing originally scheduled for yesterday on the financing of a railroad crossing necessary for extension of Civic Center Drive north of the Marin County Civic Center has been postponed until Sept. 30.

The railroad petitioned for the hearing after an earlier hearing brought consent of the commission without specifying whether the county would pay the entire cost of the work as the railroad wished.

The meeting will be at 10 a.m. in the State Building in San Francisco.

Retired Warrant Officer Gets Merit Cluster Again

CWO Jack K. McPherson (Army, ret.) of Tomales has been presented the Oak Leaf Cluster to the Legion of Merit (second award) in ceremonies at the Presidio of San Francisco.

Presentation was by Brig. Gen. Charles R. Meyer, Sixth Army chief of staff. McPherson, said the citation, "distinguished himself by exceptionally meritorious service" while serving as intelligence officer with the 13th Army Security Agency Field Station, Harrogate, England, from 1959 until his retirement in 1963.

Born in Douglas, Wyo., McPherson entered the service from Arizona, in December, 1942. During World War II he served as a machine-gunner with the 415th Infantry Regiment in the European Theater. Other major assignments during his military career include: Operations and maintenance officer, Korea; intelligence officer, Okinawa and instructor, Army Security Agency School, Fort Devens, Mass.

In addition to the Legion of Medal with Oak Leaf Cluster, he wears the Bronze Star with Oak Leaf Cluster, and Army Commendation Medal.

He and his wife, Carol, have three children, Kathy, Terry and Candy.

Marin Youth Council Pens First Report To Sponsors

The first draft of a report to the board of supervisors was discussed and revised by the Marin Youth Council at a meeting Tuesday night in the Civic Center.

Suggestions for revisions will be sent to each member of the council and another meeting held at 8 p.m. on Sept. 28 to make the final draft, said Mrs. Patricia Reynolds, secretary.

The report should be submitted to the board of supervisors within two weeks of that date, Mrs. Reynolds said.

This report is a compilation of material gleaned from three questionnaires.

The first was a questionnaire given to students at all high schools in the county. Approximately 900 of these were answered, Mrs. Reynolds said.

The second survey was of all county agencies involved in youth programs, such as churches, youth organizations and recreation departments. The third survey was sent over the signatures of co-chairmen Ralph GioVanniello and Richard Nave to the council members. It asked what they thought of the year's study and what direction they thought the council should take. It also asked for ideas for further study.

Air Force Personnel Courses Scheduled

Registrations are being taken this week and next for four courses designed for Air Force personnel and given at Hamilton Air Force Base by College of Marin, according to Joseph Berruezo, assistant dean of technical and vocational education.

The courses, which all run from 7 to 10 p.m., are: Beginning auto mechanics, Monday; intermediate auto mechanics, Wednesday; airframe mechanics, Tuesday, and air conditioning and refrigeration, Wednesday.

New Teen-Age Service Slated

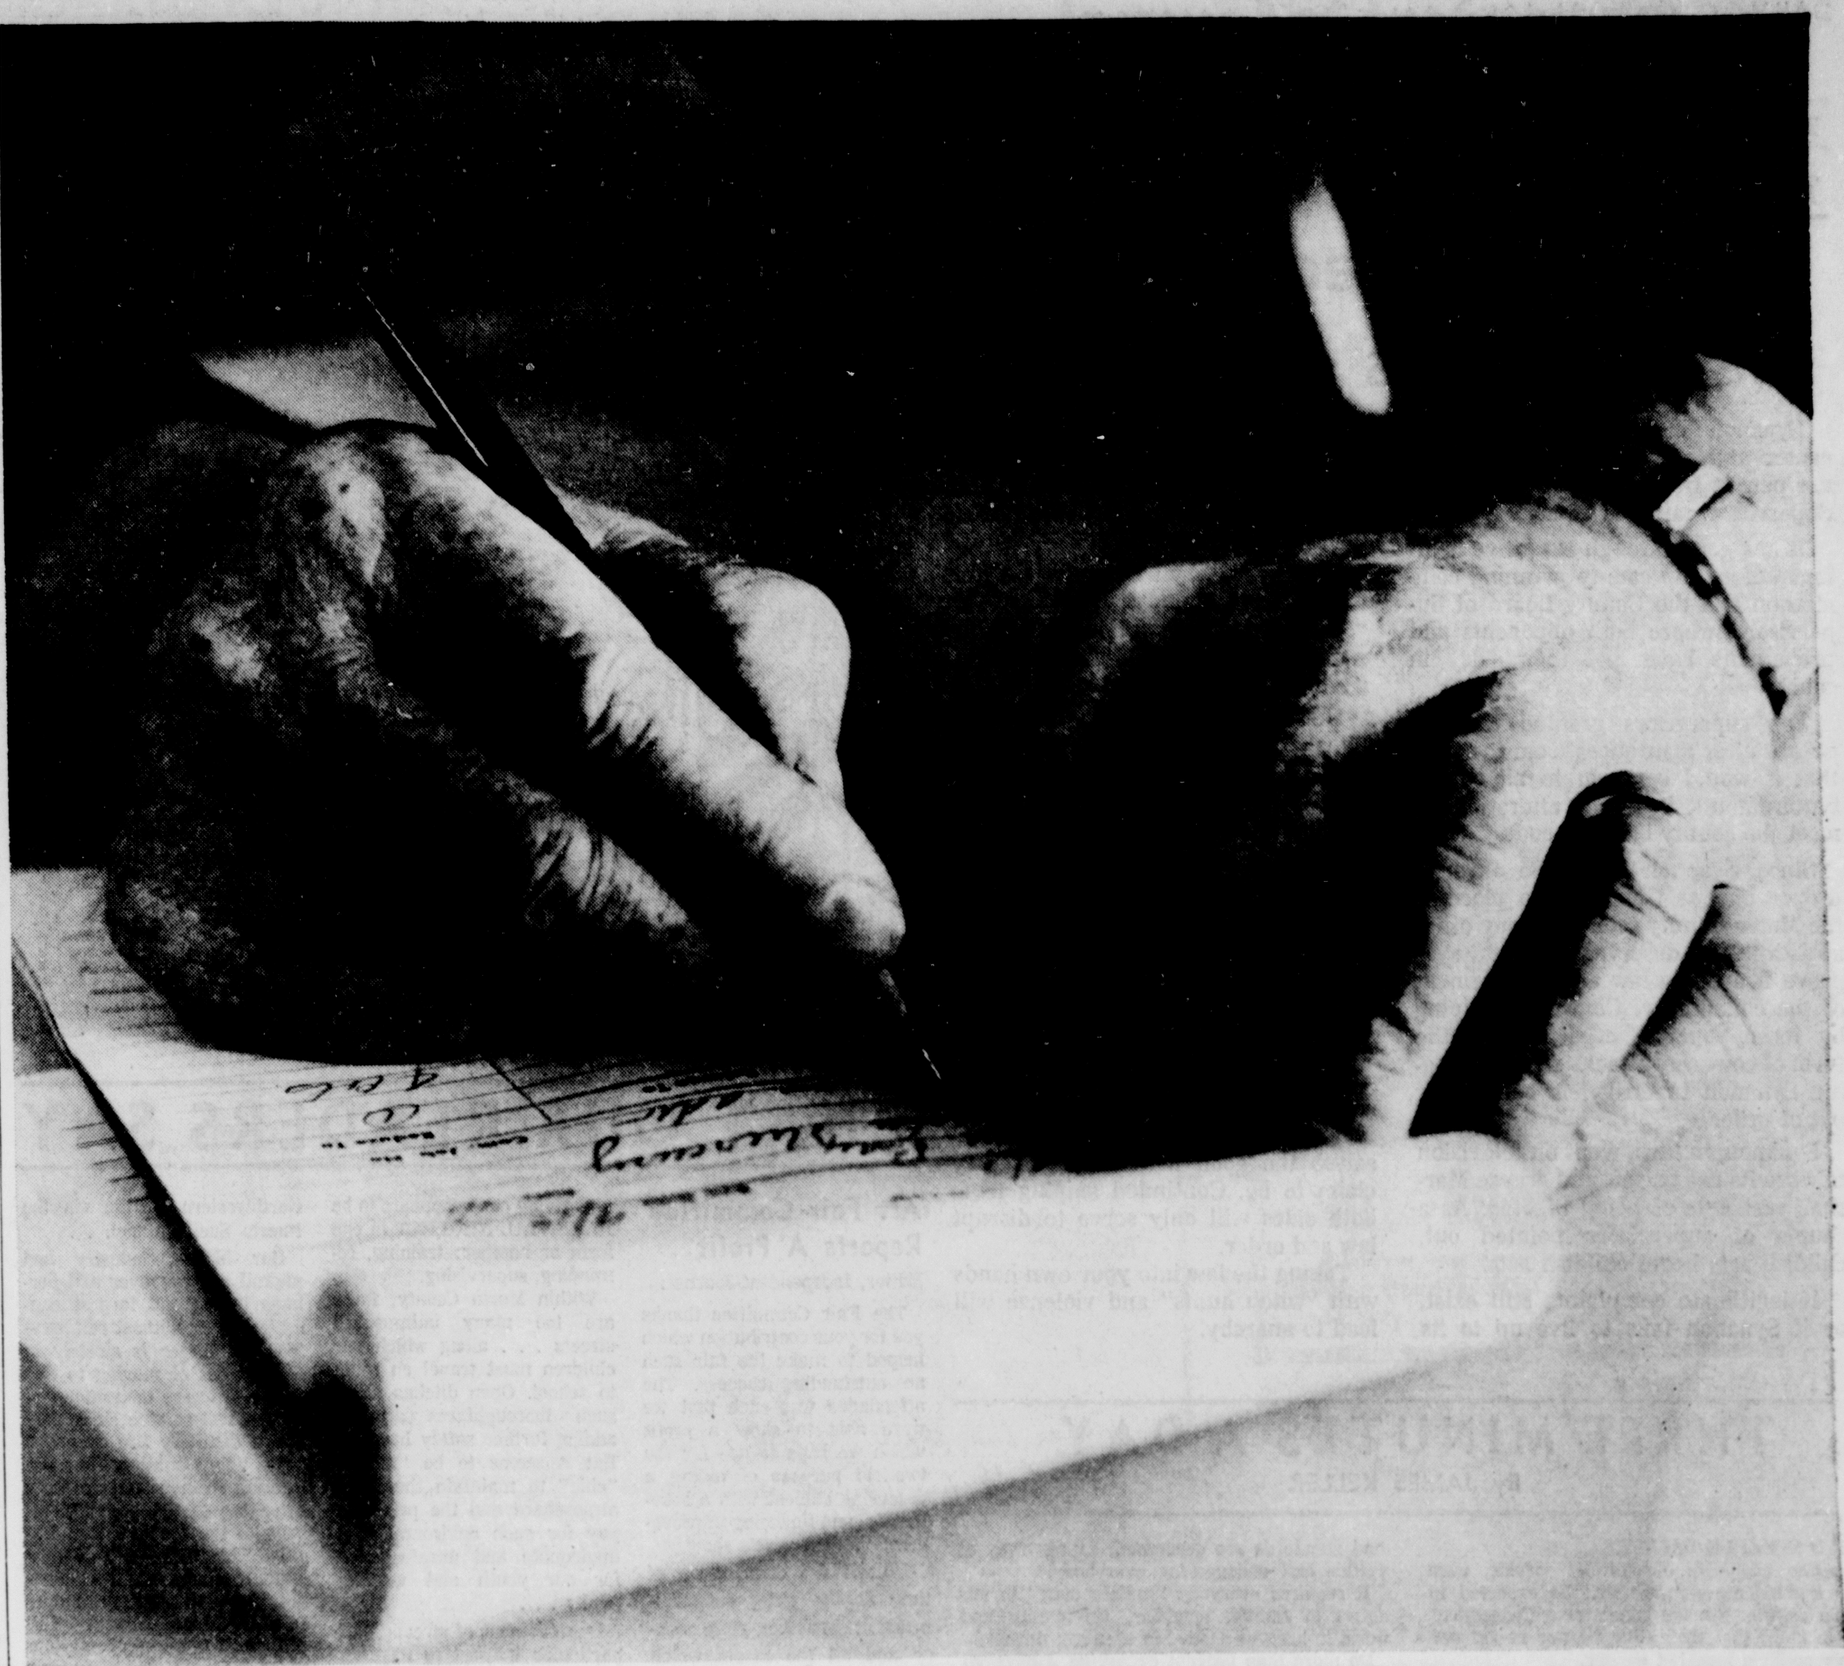

Catholic Social Service of Marin County has launched a new teen-age counseling service aimed to meet the needs of problem youth.

Operating from an office at 179 Los Ranchitos Road, San Rafael, the service is a United Bay Area Crusade Agency and is available to anyone regardless of religious affiliation.

The teen-age program is headed by Karl Livengood.

How to put your store in Marin's best-selling location

There is ONE LOCATION in Marin County where more buyers shop and make buying decisions than in any other. It's the #1 location for traffic, for convenience and #1 as the accepted place to shop.

It's not on a corner, on a street or highway, yet it is the MAIN MARKETING THOROUGHFARE of Marin County.

This is the best-selling location in Marin for good reason. With it, you close the gap between your store and the consumer. With it, your merchandise moves to the ONE AREA where most buying decisions are made – in the home.

As a businessman, you know that the best merchandise in the world can sit on the shelf if you don't tell someone about it. You know that random, drop-in traffic seldom pays the bill. For people today WANT to know all about merchandise, prices and values before they hop in the car.

Reader traffic is store traffic

In the I-J, the whole county reads about your store, your merchandise. Because, next to news, the advertising columns are the most-read feature in the newspaper. Readers buy the I-J, in fact, in order to read advertising! Which proves that people want to look, compare, discuss and then decide on WHAT to buy and WHERE to buy it before they go to the store.

That's the critical thing to consider. That's why the best-selling location in Marin County is the most economic way to sales and profits. The I-J EXTENDS YOUR STORE throughout the county to the families that read most, buy most, and have more buying income. It gives you vastly greater CONTROL over your whole marketing and selling operation. You're not left by the side of the road, waiting for customers. THEY COME TO YOU.

Marin's most successful merchants have proved this time and time again. Small stores, big stores, selling every kind of merchandise.

You can do the same. You can have MARIN'S BEST-SELLING LOCATION any day you please. The space is waiting for you, and the cost is low. Just call DISPLAY ADVERTISING at the I-J (454-3020). Best investment you'll ever make.

Everyone's reading Marin's Best-seller

- More local, Marin news
- More advertising
- More features
- More circulation

I-J paid circulation is now 36,731 – more daily Marin circulation than the S.F. Chronicle and Examiner combined. Definitely Marin's best-seller!

Synanon Played Fair, Now Its Neighbors Should, Too

Synanon Foundation's rehabilitation center at Marshall has finally won a use permit from the County Board of Supervisors fair and square.

It has gone through extensive hearings before the county planning commission and the County Board of Supervisors, where both opponents and proponents have had their "day in court."

The supervisors granted the use permit after assurances from Synanon that it would conform to all county requirements, including alterations to meet the county building code.

Since Synanon has gone through proper channels and won a place in the Marin County scene like any other applicant, it deserves a chance to prove itself as a law abiding segment of the community. Continued sniping by its opponents, especially in the form of cowardly attacks such as hanging Synanon in effigy, is completely out of order.

Synanon, in turn, went on television to wave its use permit and accuse Marshall residents of being bigoted. As a couple of supervisors pointed out, childish acts beget childish acts.

If legitimate complaints still exist, or if Synanon fails to live up to its promises or to meet county requirements, the place to air those complaints is in the open before the planning commission and the board of supervisors.

Last year, when Synanon first entered Marin County with plans for "one big family" and insisted it did not need a county use permit, we too were critical of its approach.

But that attitude has been changed. Synanon did apply for a use permit and did win a permit after open hearings.

Let's not resort to harrassment or name-calling from behind the cloak of anonymity.

Hangings in effigy, irresponsible name-calling and other acts of intimidation are forms of blackmail. They represent frustrated acts of the cowardly who, having lost in a fair and open discussion, are resorting to sneak attack.

The community should give Synanon residents a chance to prove themselves the good neighbors that they claim to be. Continued sniping from both sides will only serve to disrupt law and order.

Taking the law into your own hands with "witch hunts" and violence will lead to anarchy.

OLD STEEPLE FALTERS

After 103 years of stalwart service, even a church steeple might well be expected to lean a little. But the people of a Connecticut town knew that their tilting tower meant not only possible loss, but danger.

When passers-by noticed that the steeple was off center, it was found that the 21-inch list to the east was caused by rotting timbers in the base. Needed repairs have set it again in a heavenward direction.

Inattention and neglect can corrode and weaken more than material things. Breakdown can also set in where moral principles and standards are concerned, eating away at justice and endangering everybody.

It requires everyday "maintenance" in our duties to family, neighbor, community and world to keep us headed in the right direction.

Do more than prevent decay, be it physical or moral. Strive even harder to make foundations so strong that any danger will be kept at a safe distance.

"Be my rock of refuge, a stronghold to give me safety." (Psalm 70:3)

Deepen my spiritual roots, O Holy Spirit, so that I may carry on strongly, not falter in weakness.

AFFAIRS OF STATE

Court Ruling Emphasizes Need For Revision Of Jobless Pay

By HENRY C. MacARTHUR

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — A recent decision of the state supreme court regarding unemployment insurance gives rise to the question of how far California officialdom is going to go in handing out employer money to benefit claimants.

THE COURT HELD that severance pay or dismissal pay are not wages on which taxes must be paid. At first blush, this might appear to favor the employer, but such does not seem to be the case.

The decision means that a claimant can draw unemployment insurance at the same time his severance or dismissal pay is in effect. And at the same time, employed reserve accounts are being depleted while the unemployed claimant has money from two sources, his former employer and the department of employment.

The department, however, merely is giving away employer funds which according to the original intent of the unemployment insurance law, were deposited for stop-gap purposes between jobs.

The supreme court in its decision says it merely is a "clarification" of the intent of the legislature, and also is "in conformity with the existing administrative interpretation of the law."

THE GENERAL IDEA of having courts in the state is to obtain interpretations of the law from the courts, rather than from administrative agencies which are supposed to administer law, not interpret the statutes.

THE DECISION makes a difference between severance and dismissal pay, and vacation pay and pay in lieu of notice. Therefore, if an employee gets vacation or pay in lieu of notice, he cannot, according to the decision, collect unemployment insurance.

The principles involved, however, are the same in each instance. Whenever the ex-employee is receiving money from his former employer, at his regular period wage, his collections of unemployment insurance amount merely to a bonus payment, which is also paid by that ex-employer.

From all indications, the state's unemployment insurance law needs some kind of going over to go more into specifics as to who shall or shall not be paid. Such revision would leave little to the judgement of the administrators.

Unemployment insurance always has been the target of people holding to the idea it is a welfare program, rather than one of straight insurance. The "rocking chair" money available through legal means has become a way of life for many claimants.

UNION LABOR HAS demanded more and more benefits for its members and the result has been to raise the contributions rates for the employers who pay the entire bill for the insurance. The supreme court's decision has not assisted in the effort to keep insurance on a level basis.

Art Fair Committee Reports A Profit

Editor, Independent-Journal:

The Fair Committee thanks you for your contribution which helped to make the fair such an outstanding success. The attendance was such that we were able to show a profit which we hope to use for the two-fold purpose of aiding a deserving student with a scholarship, and financing improvements in next year's show.

Without the contribution of time at the gate, entertainment, art-in-action, prize money and all the facets which made the fair a hit with the public, it obviously would not have been a success. So it is you who have made it so, and again we thank you.

Work Needed In Traffic

Editor, Independent-Journal:

Thank you for today's (Sept. 9) editorial, Be Especially Careful; Children Back In School.

I wish, though, that you had put the following sentence from the eighth paragraph in "caps:"

THE CAMPAIGN TO GUARD THE SAFETY AND WELL-BEING OF OUR SCHOOL CHILDREN MUST BE WAGED CONTINUOUSLY.

. . . What so many parents . . . fail to realize is that the responsibility rests solely upon them to see their children get to school (or the bus stop) safely. As one reads reports of accidents to children, the underlying cause appears to be PARENTAL NEGLECT in one form or another: training, reminding, supervising.

Within Marin County, there are too many unimproved streets . . . along which our children must travel en route to school. Open ditches along such thoroughfares abound, adding further safety hazards. But it seems to be "in" or "chic" to maintain the rural atmosphere and the price we pay for such environment is inadequate and unsafe paths for our youth and walking adults . . .

Improvement of streets is of particular interest to PTA'ers in this North Marin area. A case in point is Olive School's unit where PTA has been actively involved in this subject and other safety projects . . .

Saftey is everybody's business, and it's PTA's, too. If one PTA unit in Novato can bear with it through voluminous red tape to see an assessment district formed to remove, as it were, a six-foot-deep ditch along the street contiguous to the school grounds, surely other units, organizations or communities can accomplish similar achievements. It just takes time . . .

Perhaps more of us should practice PTA's theme: TO CARE, TO PLAN, TO FOLLOW THROUGH FOR YOUTH.

Big Taxpayers Need Rail Service

Editor, Independent-Journal:

There has recently been quite a few letters written to the editor regarding the problem of restoring service on the Northwestern Pacific via the Puerto Suello tunnel. . .

Our biggest industry and payroll and taxpayer and perhaps the second largest cannot get along without rail service. The larger is already in the process of moving to San Jose due to the uncertainty of getting rail service since they had a distillery fire over two years ago. Doubtless they are locating on industrial property belonging to the parent company of the Northwestern Pacific. This move will further dilute the traffic on the Sausalito line and make a better case for abandonment. The end result is a loss of payrolls and taxpayers, including any taxes paid by the railroad. Such losses will have to be made up by the taxpayers of Sausalito.

Similarly, other communities in southern Marin are being permitted to die on the vine, and communities without rail service cannot brooaden the tax base with industries that are served by tax assisted methods of transportation because they are too costly overall to attract any heavy haul industries. . .

Restoration of the tunnel should again permit the operation of the Tiburon interchange with the Santa Fe.

Instead of the local politicos and powers to be doing their best to get the railroad off the tax rolls, it would be much better that insistence on the resoration of the tunnel be the program of the day and after it is restored, work with the railroad to secure some rail orientated industries. . . By this means the new industries would be assured of continued railroad service and justify maintaining the facilities that are already here.

Lincoln's Use Of Words

Editor, Independent-Journal:

Shortly after he had finished his six-volume work on Lincoln, Carl Sandburg said that the word "responsibility" occurred far more often in Lincoln's speeches and writings than the word "freedom."

This fact may be relevant to our present problems.

BROADWAYITES are laughing at the shapely young singing starlet, new idol of the teenagers, who sailed for Europe to make her first English appearance at London's Palladium Theater. A great crowd of well-wishers came down to the dock to speed the starlet on her way and the president of the starlet's fan club, with cameras popping, presented her with a "good-luck ring"—guaranteed to make her London debut a triumph. The starlet put the ring on her finger, made a gushy speech of thanks — and promptly fell off the dock.

JACK WARNER, irrepressible monarch of the Warner Brothers film flackery, tells of the time an old friend talked him into investing a goodly sum into a syndicate dedicated to rehabilitating a doughty old resort hotel in the California mountains. Warner was in the South of France some months later when he received a cable from his old friend that urged, "Imperative that you wire immediate pledge of fifty thousand dollars additional to keep our hotel from bankruptcy."

Warner cabled back, "Our hotel is now bankrupt."

"THE REASON I'm in such superb physical condition," confides Allan King, "is that I'm up bright and early every morning at 6 a.m. I take a brisk walk to close the window —and I'm back in bed by 6:10."

Kept Election Promises Might Have Averted Asian Bloodshed

WASHINGTON (AP) — In two different places there was talk about letting the people vote on the kind of government they wanted. But that was long ago and it never happened. And now there is war in the two places.

MAYBE there would have been these wars anyway, for they had other roots, too, in deep antagonisms and ambitions. And it doesn't make much difference now that the two leaders who said no to the vote of the people are both dead.

Their successors, in India and Viet Nam, have the same attitude.

When the Communist-led Vietnamese crushed the French in 1954 an agreement was worked out at Geneva with Britain, France, the Soviet Union, Red China, North Viet Nam, Laos and Cambodia taking part.

The United States didn't sign. It was acting as an onlooker. The agreement divided Viet Nam into North and South, with the Communists getting the northern part. The South Vietnamese were left to set up their own provisional government.

But by 1956, according to the agreement which set down some other conditions also, all the people of the two Viet Nams were to be allowed to vote on the kind of single government they wanted for the whole country.

MEANWHILE, in 1955 in South Viet Nam, a republic was created with Ngo Dinh Diem president. When the time came for that nationwide vote in 1956 he said no. His explanation was that he had not signed the Geneva agreement.

In 1958, about two years after the vote was to have taken place, the Red guerrillas slowly started their war against South Viet Nam. Eventually they took over most of the countryside.

BY THE TIME Diem was overthrown and killed in 1963 the United States was well on its way to getting up to its neck in the war, as it is now.

India's Prime Minister Nehru, who died last year, had a problem similar to President Diem's.

When India got independence in 1947, the minority Moslems didn't want to be totally dominated by Hindus. In the fuss that followed, a couple of chunks of India were broken off to become the independent state of Pakistan.

There's still a mixup. In the Moslem-run Pakistan, with a population of about 100 million, about 10 million are Hindus. In India, with 450 million people, about 50 million are Moslems.

But one of the loveliest places in the world, Kashmir, became one of the sorest. There, wedged in between India and Pakistan, with 77 per cent of the people Moslems in a population of 4 million, Kashmir was run by a Hindu maharajah who tried to stay aloof from both India and Pakistan.

BUT WHEN Moslem tribesmen from Pakiestan poured into Kashmir in 1947 and began looting and burning villages, he decided to join India which sent in troops to help him. Pakistan sent in troops to help its tribesmen.

The fighting lasted a year until the United Nations got a cease-fire. When the shooting stopped one-third of Kashmir was on Pakistan's side of the cease-fire line. The rest was on India's side.

The United Nations suggested that all the people of Kashmir be allowed to vote to decide whether they wanted to join India or Pakistan. Nehru agreed, provided Pakistan pull out its troops first. Pakistan wouldn't withdraw unless the Indians got out.

Knowing that 77 per cent of the people of Kashmir were Moslems, and assuming they'd vote to join Moslem Pakistan if given the chance, Pakistan insisted they be allowed to vote. This went on like ping-pong until 1955.

THEN NEHRU switched and refused to permit a vote at all. The picking and pecking continued and now there's a war again, with Pakistan still insisting on a vote and the Indians insisting this is ridiculous, that Kashmir belongs to India.

'Missimo' Fighting Against Peking Set

By ROBERT S. ALLEN and PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON — Madame Chiang Kai-shek's unofficial visit to Washington is turning out to be the most challenging of her long and stormy career.

The diplomatically-shrewd wife of the aging Chinese Nationalist President is desperately trying to head off a settlement in Asia that would bring Red China into the United Nations and include massive U.S. economic aid to Peiping.

IN BACKSTAGE meetings with congressional supporters, Madame Chiang is saying her primary reason for coming to the U.S. is to convince President and his advisers that diplomatic and economic concessions to Peiping at this time would be disastrous not only for her country but the whole free world.

She revealed her mission was approved by President Chiang after his diplomatic and intelligence authorities reported accommodations with Red China were being considered by U.S. officials in a still-secret program for settling the Viet Nam fighting.

While fully supporting President Johnson's latest military build-up in Viet Nam, Madame Chiang warned it will be a tragic mistake if he leaves the door open for Peiping to become the chief negotiator in any Asian peace talks.

TO AVOID a calamitous visit like Madame Nhu's — another Asian lady who tried to influence U.S. policy — Madame Chiang is doing her lobbying privately and making only non-controversial statements publicly.

How long Madame Chiang and her State Department adversaries will be able to keep the lid on their private diplomatic sparring is one of the major guessing games among her Washington friends.

As soon as Assistant Secretary of State William Bundy, head of the group favoring concessions to Peiping, got wind of her visit, he arranged to have Defense Secretary McNamara invite General Chiang Ching-Kuo, 56-year-old Moscow-trained son of President Chiang, to the U.S.

Although Ching-Kuo, one of the heirs to Chiang's position of power, is scheduled to tour U.S. military bases, the real purpose of his visit is to have him on hand to counter both publicly and privately any influence Madame Chiang might exert on U.S. policy.

THE MYSTERIOUS Ching-Kuo is the product of Chiang's teen-age marriage to a parentally-selected peasant girl. He has never gotten along with Madame Chiang, who came into the Generalissimo's life after his divorce from Ching-Kuo's mother for incompatibility.

Ching-Kuo joined the Communist youth corps while in Moscow in the late '20's and is regarded by U.S. military-intelligence experts as an opportunist who would switch to whichever side he believed was winning the cold war.

The chubby, soft-spoken Ching-Kuo admits his earlier Communist leanings, but claims to be strongly anti-Communist now. His wife is a Russian engineer whom he married in Moscow.

Madame Chiang's congressional supporters are giving her all the private help they can, but believe she will have to take her case to the public if Red China's admission to the UN is to be successfully blocked.

These officials point out that Ralph Bunche, American aide to Secretary General U Thant, who is privately trying to negotiate an all-Asian settlement, is saying Red China will be admitted within two years.

Larkspur Almost Has Gimmick Needed To Save Its Downtown

Downtown Larkspur, that strip of small-town commercial property running from the Lark Theater to the Catholic Church on both sides of Magnolia Avenue, is in trouble.

The merchants along the avenue, who sometimes look at themselves as little people in a business world walked by giants, were told as much last week by John David Erickson, Larkspur's planning consultant.

ERICKSON, in a man-to-man talk which rivaled that of the fictional professor Harold Hill on the pool halls of River City, first warned them they were on the verge of witnessing the death of a business community. Then he threw out the life saver—not a River City boys' band, but a plan to "revitalize" the avenue, making it ultimately the business center for the city of Larkspur.

Erickson, of course, was only performing the job he is paid for—planning. He put the business strip under his microscope several months ago, saw that the area "has not necessarily kept pace with progress" and worked up what, in his professional opinion, is the only scheme which will save it.

HE ASKED the merchants to redevelop their area and do it on their own initiative. Under the plan he asked them to follow, the hub of the redeveloped business area would consist of two shopping plazas on either side of Magnolia Avenue, between Ward and Cain streets. The squares would consist of clusters of shops—fronting on two sides—which would be built around open pedestrian malls. Three hundred parking places would be provided in areas peripheral to the plaza.

Erickson estimated the project, to be accomplished in five-year periods over the next 20 years, would cost in the neighborhood of $800,000. He suggested that the avenue's property owners form a private development corporation and finance the changes themselves.

HE WARNED they had only two other alternatives. They could, he said, turn over their property to a redevelopment agency and then have to bid to buy it back when the job was complete. Or, they could do nothing and eventually find their business district rezoned for apartment houses.

The planning consultant's scheme has two basic flaws. For one, it is idealistically based on the assumption that 90 per cent of the property owners will agree he is right and proceed to implement his plan. A hand vote among the owners present at the meeting indicated only six favored his plan.

THE BASIC flaw, though, is the premise that this plan would "revitalize" this business strip, that this area could ever be the business center of Larkspur.

The shops are essentially out of the way of the major flow of traffic through Marin County and a handful of modern, nicely arranged new shops will not necessarily turn a profit. Donald Agner, who operated a variety store on Magnolia Avenue until 1964, reminded the audience at the meeting "all that glitters does not pay off."

WHAT AREAS like downtown Larkspur probably need much more than glittering new buildings is a gimmick—something which makes them different enough to attract people off the main thoroughfares and into their community.

Larkspur, it seems, already has a gimmick—its rustic, small-town atmosphere. And so, the downtown business strip may well be in trouble. The trouble may well be that someone has a plan to change it.

Negro Denied Voice On Watts?

THE PSYCHIC SCARS of the Watts race riot in Los Angeles are still angry and red, and it may be a generation before the marks disappear. But I had had my say on it—sensible or brutally racistic, depending on your viewpoint — and was resolved, to change the metaphor, not to add any more fuel to the still smoldering flames.

But it takes two sides to keep the peace, and the constant barrage on TV and in the press by apologists for what is euphemistically called "civil disobedience" is beyond endurance. Some of these spokesmen compare the rioters to Thoreau and Gandhi, though I do not recall that the hermit of Walden engaged in murder and arson or that Gandhi threw Molotov cocktails.

The attitudes range from "boys will be boys," as though an outbreak in which almost 40 died and 800 were hospitalized —a casualty list larger than in any week of the Viet Nam war —was a Halloween party; while others go the limit and actually make heroes of the mobsters, whom they would apparently award not only anti-poverty pay with time-and-a-half for overtime, but a DSC medal—not to say the Nobel Peace Prize.

I HAVE A LETTER from a policeman on duty during the insurrection, and I can only hope that he will testify before one of the many boards now assiduously searching for "the cause." And there's a note from an elderly woman who was going through Watts on her way home: she was beaten and her car smashed for only one reason; she was white. Her letter ends, "Please excuse my writing — my arm hasn't healed yet."

The great danger is that the white population of the northern cities where outbreaks that have nothing to do with civil rights have occurred will tend to lump all our Negro citizens in one monolithic group. And for this, part of the blame must go—I do not contend for a moment the mischief was done wittingly—to the press and TV, which have pictured the rabblerouser as the authentic voice of his people. It is he who makes the noise—and consequently reaps the publicity.

"THERE ARE AS MANY different kinds of Negroes as there are white, and most of them deplore the bad reputation they have been given by the excesses of the agitational and criminal elements of their so-called race. They respect life and property. They own millions of homes, automobiles and modern utensils and do not cram the jails. They are eager to live in peace and have no illusions about the marching, mobbing, picketing, vandalizinz Negro element. . . .

"(But they have) been reduced to silence by the terrorism of the agitational element. Every Negro who has opposed its illegal and senseless actions has been denounced as an 'Uncle Tom,' an enemy of his people and a lackey of the whites. . . .

"What this country badly needs is public officials who will not temporize with illegality and disorder garbed in the mantle of civil rights; who will supress crime and violence regardless of color; judges who will act with speed and vigor to jail disturbers of the peace; and a more responsible communications media that will refrain from persistently exciting the idle, envious and lawless."

The above paragraphs are not quotations from a Caucasian police chief: they are from the pen of a distinguished American journalist George S. Schuyler, a Negro whom I have had the privilege of knowing and serving with on various committees for over a quarter of a century. If there are better Americans, of whatever extraction, I have not met them.

THE LINES ARE TAKEN from an article he wrote for the North American Newspaper Alliance (NANA). If your paper did not run it, I would urge you to beseech the editor to reprint it, if only in the name of fair play. For it represents—as I can testify from numerous letters from many colored business and professional men, South as well as North—the opinion of a large segment of sturdy Americans who want neither to be bribed nor patronized, but only what the decent white man wants: to stand on their own feet and earn their own way.

But when, if ever, is that point of view given exposure? When race relations are discussed on TV, the speakers are always Dr. King, Roy Wilkins, James Baldwin — never George Schuyler. Adam Clayton Powell draws cheers from his audience, but the president of the 5 million-strong National Baptist Convention is hooted off the stand in Chicago for opposing the professional agitators.

It is time, I suggest, that the iron curtain against the conservative middle - class Negro be lifted and he be allowed to speak.

10 YEARS AGO

A routine shakedown of San Quentin's death row netted prison officials a razor blade and some manuscripts, including three written by Caryl Chessman and "Born to Serve" by Bart Caritativo, Marin houseboy convicted of the Sea Downs double murder.

Murder suspect Rodney G. Sheran calmly took the witness stand in his own defense, insisting he "blacked out" and does not remember a thing from the time he went shopping with his wife in San Anselmo until he found himself driving in Boise, Idaho. He is charged with the murder of his wife, Esme, 42, on a fire trail near Fairfax.

Supervisors' tempers flared, and when the air cleared after a bitter debate, the new plans for remodeling of the county courthouse had been thrown out the window and the architect ordered to prepare tentative plans for construction of a new courthouse wing along Fifth Avenue.

Today is Thursday, Sept. 16th, the 259th day of 1965 with 106 to follow.

The moon is approaching its last quarter; the morning stars are Jupiter and Saturn; the evening stars are Venus, Mars and Saturn.

American historian Francis Parkman, was born on this day in 1823.

On this day in history:

In 1630, the Massachusetts village of Shawmut changed its name to Boston.

In 1893, the Cherokee strip in Oklahoma was opened to homesteaders. More than one hundred thousand persons rushed to claim land.

In 1920, 30 persons were killed and at least 100 injured in a bomb explosion on Wall Street.

In 1963, the nation of Malaysia was established.

Opening lead — ♣ Q

South ruffed the third round of clubs and drew three rounds of trumps. This was pure foolishness, as he soon discovered.

South next led a spade, losing the king to the ace. Now South needed the rest of the tricks, with only one trump in dummy to take care of two losing diamonds.

The defenders were not the world's best, but they knew enough to prevent him from ruffing two losers with only one trump.

South would have made the contract if the four missing trumps had broken 2-2, since then he could have saved two trumps in dummy for the losing diamonds. He would have been safe if West had held the ace of spades, since then he could have discarded a diamond on one of dummy's high spades. Still, he asked more of luck than he really needed.

LEAD SPADES EARLY

After ruffing the third club South should lead a spade at once. If West has the ace of spades it can do no harm to find out the good news at once.

Actually, East would take the ace of spades and return a diamond to the ace. Now South should draw one round of trumps with the king, since he is safe if the jack happens to drop. When only small trumps appear, South should starf a crossruff without drawing the rest of the trumps.

The idea is to cash the queen of spades and the king of diamonds and then ruff two diamonds in dummy or two spades in the South hand. This will be perfectly safe if West has length in spades or if East has length in diamonds.

Even if the wrong opponent is long in spades or diamonds, the worst that can happen is that declarer will have to ruff with dummy's nine or his own 10 and hope that the next player cannot over-ruff with the jack.

Viet War Has Little Effect On Tropic Kwajalein Atoll

By FRANK FARRARA

The Viet Nam war has brought increased air traffic to the small island of Kwajalein in the Marshall Islands, but otherwise life is relatively unchanged.

"I don't think they are as much aware of the war as we are," said H. Edward McKinney, a San Rafael resident, who returned last month after 39 months on the island as a newspaper editor and payroll accountant.

The island, which has been used as a test site for the Army's Nike X anti-missile missile, and tracking station, is now a refueling stop for military planes, McKinney said.

Civilians working on the island, a U.S. trust territory, get their news from Armed Forces Radio, a small daily newspaper McKinney once edited, or belatedly from hometown newspapers which arrive by ship about a month late.

McKinney, who worked under contract, said he quit his newspaper job last fall when he had a "run-in with the Army who wanted to run the newspaper," and switched to payroll accountant.

"It was like a small town weekly, covering the local scene, but it was daily," he said. "They (the Army) wanted a glorified billboard."

During his stay McKinney witnessed the first successful U.S. missile interception over the Marshall Islands, which he described as "bullet hitting bullet."

An Atlas ICBM launched from Vandenberg Air Force Base in California was intercepted by a Nike-Zeus launched from Kwajalein in a show that was spectacular, McKinney said.

He admitted that Kwajalein "is off the beaten track, but few people realize how modern the island is."

Thet natives have been removed and live on another island about a half-hour ferry boat ride away, he said. "They are brought in by ferry to work as laborers, maids and general helpers," he said.

NOTICE TO CONTRACTORS

1. NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that the Governing Board of the Marin Junior College District will receive bids for furnishing all labor, materials, transportation and services necessary for Landscaping of an approximately 3 acre parking area, including earthwork, at the College of Marin, College Avenue and Stadium Way, Kentfield, Marin County, California.

2. Each bid to be in accordance with the plans and specifications now on file with Wertheim & van der Ploeg, 2650 Vicente street, San Francisco, California, where same may be examined and copies obtained upon deposit of $10.00 per set, which deposit will be refunded upon return of such copies in good condition within five days after the bids are opened.

3. Each bid shall be made on a form to be obtained at the office of Wertheim & van der Ploeg, 2650 Vicente street, San Francisco, California, and must be accompanied by a certificate or cashier's check or a bid bond for ten percent of the amount bid, made payable to the School District, and shall be sealed and filed with the Clerk of the Board on or before September 23, 1965 at 2:00 P.M. of the day in Room 3, Harlan Hall, College of Marin, Kentfield, California.

4. The above-mentioned check or bond shall be given as a guarantee that the bidder will enter into a contract if awarded the work and will be declared forfeited if the successful bidder refuses to enter into said contract after being requested to do so by the Governing Board of the Marin Junior College District.

5. The successful bidder will be required to furnish a labor material bond in an amount equal to 100% of the contract price and a faithful performance bond in an amount equal to 100% of the contract price, said bonds to be secured from a surety company satisfactory to the Governing Board of the Marin Junior College District.

6. Bidders are hereby notified that pursuant to the Statutes of the State of California or local law thereto applicable, the Governing Board of the Marin Junior College District has ascertained the general prevailing rate of per diem wages and rates for legal holidays and overtime work in the locality in which the work is to be performed for each craft or type of workman or mechanic needed to execute the contract which will be awarded the successful bidder. The prevailing rates so determined are as follows:

Classification	Wage Per Hour
Bulldozer Operators	$4.895
Carpenters—Journeyman	$4.33
Cement Finishers	$4.265
Laborers:
Group I	$3.875
Group II	$3.725
Group III	$3.625
Plumbers	$5.425
Power Grader Operators	$5.075
Dumptruck Drivers—
4 - 6 yards	$3.98
6 - 8 yards	$4.19
8 yards and over	$4.44

7. The working days shall be eight (8) hours unless otherwise specified above. The per diem rate shall be the hourly rate multiplied by the number of hours in the working day.

8. All other trades not hereinabove mentioned to receive wage prescribed for that particular craft or type of workman.

9. All labor to receive time and one-half for overtime, double time on holidays unless otherwise specified.

10. In addition to the hourly and/or per diem wages for the crafts, classifications or types of workmen listed above, contractors may be required to make employer payments for health and welfare, pension, vacation and similar purposes as required by the executed collective bargaining agreements for the particular craft, classification or type of work involved.

11. The Governing Board of the Marin Junior College District reserves the right to reject any and all bids and/or waive any irregularity in any bid received. Unless otherwise required by law, no bidder may withdraw his bid for a period of thirty (30) days after the date set for the opening thereof.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Fear Double-Edged Emotion —It Can Harm Or Help You

VAN DELLEN

Fear, a double-edged emotion, is harmful when uncontrolled because it clouds judgment and alters bodily functions. In contrast, the emotion is good when it becomes a means of protection by keeping the individual alert and in a position to anticipate and react to trouble.

The British minister of aviation is aware of this fact and stresses the value of fear in helping pilots keep their wits in a potentially dangerous situation. In this regard, the emotion is normal. Subtle apprehension keeps the airman watching his instruments and scanning the sky for signs of the unusual. Fatigue dulls this sense but it is difficult to avoid, considering the daily life of the commercial pilot. There are many responsibilities, decisions, changing hours, and irritations brought on by petty delays.

TRANQUILIZERS, sedatives, antihistamines, and alcohol depress this alerting system and have been responsible for several fatal aircraft accidents. Pilots are warned not to fly until the effect of these chemicals wears off and the nervous system is back to normal. According to an editorial in Lancet, the value of fear can be expressed in the venerable witticism: "There are old pilots and bold pilots, but no old, bold pilots."

We learn through experience and judgment to evaluate danger and avoid painful contact. This is not lack of courage unless lives are at stake because of unavoidable situations. A weakling often survives because he backs down at the right time. We may be critical of this attitude yet it is better than harboring needless or uncontrolled fears that are capable of reducing efficiency and making invalids of the strongest men. Many bodily functions can be altered by pain, hunger, and especially by fear and rage.

IN ADDITION, many hysterical and psychoneurotic states originate in some past emotional upset. The relationship between severe anxiety and illness or surgery is well-known. Optimism and security promote healing by maintaining calm and paving the way for full cooperation.

BLOOD TYPE

N. Z. writes: Is it possible for a person suffering from cancer to have his blood type change? He was getting type O transfusions last year and now has a transfusion with type A plus. Please explain.

REPLY

The blood type does not change and I assume he is A plus. Almost everyone can receive type O plus (universal donor). There is a possibility that some of the donors of type O also have high amounts of anti-A, anti-B, or both in their blood. To avoid reactions and to play safe, A plus is used.

BLOOD DONOR

C. S. writes: Our community is starting a blood bank and I would like to be a regular donor. Is this harmful during the menstrual cycle? The flow is heavy and I become weak during the last few days.

REPLY

There is no harm in donating blood provided you are not anemic as a result of too much loss during the period. A pelvic examination should be done as well as a blood count.

INFECTIONS AND BLOOD TEST

REPLY

Yes. Many infections are associated with an elevation of the white blood count and sedimentation rate. Changes in enzymes and antibody response also occur. The causative bacteria can be isolated when blood poisoning is present.

EARLY CHANGE

Mrs. U. writes: Does the change of life hit harder when it occurs before age 40?

REPLY

No, except perhaps in highly emotional women.

CHRONIC EMPHYSEMA

E. K. writes: Is emphysema considered a terminal disease?

REPLY

Not terminal, but chronic. Many victims are short of breath and cough for years before they are incapacitated and the disease lapses into a terminal stage. This is the usual story unless they stop smoking during the early stages of the disease.

Nitery Revives The Taxi Dance

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A San Francisco night club owner has come up with what he hopes is the answer to the bare-bosomed entertainment offered by competitors.

Frank De Natale announced Wednesday that he has revived taxi dancing at a club of which is is a co-owner.

He introduced three young ladies who will dance with customers at 10 cents a ticket.

Investigation Of Jupiter Will Be Hard

PASADENA (AP) — Scientists pooling their knowledge of outer space say Jupiter will be one of the most difficult of the planets to probe because of its dense magnetic field.

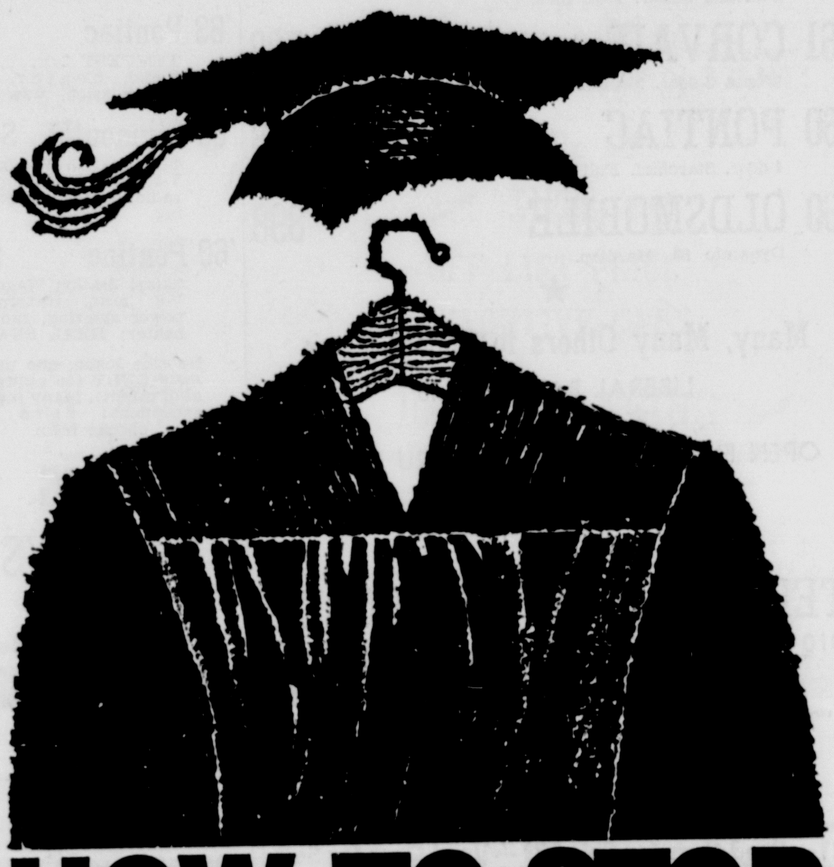

Reports on the Jupiter-probe problem were delivered yesterday at a week-long lunar and planetary conference at the California Institute of Technology.

J. W. Warwick, of the University of Colorado, said density of Jupiter's magnetic fields could overwhelm any vehicle sent on a fly-by probe unless the spacecraft were specially protected.

Jupiter, largest of the planets, has a mass 318 times Earth's. Like Earth, it has inner and outer magnetic fields between which are trapped electrons, Warwick said.

The dense collection of electrons—tiny electrical charges—would destroy an unprotected space vehicle, he said.

In another report on the planet,M. M. Komesaroff, of the University of Maryland, said radio signals from Jupiter are believed to result from volcanic eruptions or powerful bolts of lightning.

HOW TO STOP FRITTERING AWAY YOUR SON'S COLLEGE EDUCATION

Not a nice thing to think about but you could be doing just that if you don't have a regular savings program. Paychecks have a way of disappearing into thin air. And your best intentions to save often get postponed until the "next time around."

But there is an easy and sure way to save called the Payroll Savings Plan. And it works automatically.

You just ask your employer to set aside a small amount from your check each payday to be put toward the purchase of a U. S. Savings Bonds.

For example, just $4.33 a week adds up to the $18.75 you need to buy a $25 Bond every month. More than likely you'll forget you even set it aside (a pretty painless way to feather your nest).

This way, those few dollars you never see now will be keeping Junior in tuition and textbooks later. What's more, they'll be working for Uncle Sam to keep the world strong and free for his generation.

So why don't you point your willpower in the right direction by joining the Payroll Savings Plan? And see how you, too, can be a reformed fritterer.

Quick facts about Series E Savings Bonds

- You get back $4 for every $3 at maturity (7¾ years)
- You pay no state or local income tax and can defer payment of federal tax until the Bonds are cashed
- Your Bonds are replaced free if lost, destroyed or stolen
- You can get your money when you need it

Bill Approved For $2 Soldiers' Insurance

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Veterans Affairs Committee has approved a bill that would allow members of the armed forces to buy a $10,000 group life insurance policy for $2 a month.

The insurance, provided by private companies, could be continued when the servicemen return to civilian life and without a medical examination. No figures were given on the after-service rates.

Spanish Speakers Claim Bay Bias

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A Mexican-American group claims governments in the San Francisco Bay area's three most populous counties "systematically discriminate against Spanish-speaking citizens."

Bert Corona, vice president of the Mexican-American Political Association, says 10 per cent of the population in San Francisco, Alameda and Santa Clara counties is Spanish speaking.

"Yet less than two per cent of the government employees" speak Spanish, he says.

The association filed charges of discrimination with the Federal Equal Employment Opportunity Commission and the California Fair Employment Practices Commission yesterday.

Mill Valley Youth Dance Tomorrow

The Mill Valley Youth Council will hold a dance at the city's community and youth center tomorrow at 8 p.m. Music will be provided by the Opposite Six.

This will be the last dance at which the Opposite Six will play, since afterward the band is breaking up. The dance is open to youth council members and their guests only, reported council co-director Les Mize.

Bill Cosby Takes A Bow In 'I Spy'

By RICK DU BROW

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — "I Spy," the first network prime-time entertainment series to costar a Negro—comedian Bill Cosby — bowed in last night on NBC - TV, an hour of secret agent stuff blending adventure and humor. Robert Culp and Cosby share the billing as a couple of agents roaming the world pretending to be a tennis bum and his trainer-companion. The first show, set in Hong Kong, was delightful.

What made the premiere delightful—and what immediately revealed the program as more attractive than all the other spy series around — was the fact that its strength lies in pleasant human relationships rather than in gimmicky tools-of-the-trade. Culp is an actor with good comic instincts, and Cosby is a comedian with good acting instincts. They blend beautifully, Culp the more dashing, Cosby the rascal incarnate—but each perfectly capable of switching these roles.

Meanwhile, back at the ranch, ABC-TV was introducing a new one-hour "Bonanz"-like Western called "The Big Valley"—only instead of Lorne Greene as head of a big family, it has Barbara Stanwyck as head of a big family. There are other differences too:

Though the premier was cut from the standard cloth-with the railroad trying to take over land, and a young son trying to claim what he thinks is rightfully his—the heroes of "The Big Valley" at least act like grown men, instead of like grown children with a daddy, as in "Bonanza." Dan Blocker of "Bonanza" is pretty wonderful and pretty incomparable as "Hoss." But "The Big Valley" is a great big brawling, lusty, rich-looking, blood - and-thunder Western, with Peter Breck, Richard Long and Lee Majors strongly cast among the sons—and Linda Evans, a stunning, wholesome-looking blonde with eye appeal and acting ability, as the daughter. It is straight and unpretentious, and maybe that's the best way to make a Western after all.

Judy Garland Cancels Singing Performance

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Judy Garland's scheduled performance in the Greek Theater was canncelled last night and rescheduled for Sunday on advice of her physician.

The 42-year-old singer fractured her arm in two places Tuesday when she tripped over her pet dog in her Brentwood home, but went on with her show Tuesday night.

Bagley Asserts Cranston Needs To Do Housecleaning

Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael, told a Santa Rosa audience today that State Controller Alan Cranston should "conduct his own housecleaning instead of just masquerading as Mr. Clean."

Bagley spoke at a luncheon meeting of the Santa Rosa Kiwanis Club. He criticized Cranston's statements made last week at a San Francisco news conference.

"The controller aptly tarred certain county assessors with a dirty-money brush," said Bagley. "He advocated taking 'money out of politics' and supported 'purity of election' laws."

Bagley charged that Cranston has "made no progress toward cleaning his own kettle of political fish" and continues to appoint some 140 appraisers, who then contribute time or money to his campaign.

Two Autos Reported Missing In San Rafael

Joseph C. Mildreth of 1012 Los Gamos Road, San Rafael, told San Rafael police at 6:10 p.m. Tuesday that he had just discovered his 1955 Chevrolet was missing from a parking space at the Montecito Shopping Center.

He said he left the keys in the ignition.

He said he parked the car at 11 p.m. Tuesday and found it missing at 1:03 a.m. yesterday.

Art Director To Judge Seals

Frederick J. Herschleb of Kentfield, an advertising art director and member of Marin Society of Artists, will be one of the judges of Bay Area entries in the TB Christmas Seal design contest.

This year, for the first time, tuberculosis and health associations from the five counties are sponsoring a local contest with a $250 prize. Among them is the Marin Tuberculosis and Health Assn.

Designs will be shown to the public and forwarded to New York for competition in the national contest for a prize of $1,000.

Blue Cheese Not Too New To United States

NEW YORK (UPI) — Blue cheese has been made in the United States since the turn of the century, but the first commercial production of the blue-veined cheese was in 1935, says the American Blue Cheese Assn. It differs from the French Roquefort, in that the latter is made from sheep's milk, and the former, from cow's milk.

Like most hard cheeses, both are best served at room temperature, but stored at the average refrigerator temperature of 40 to 50 degrees Fahrenheit.

1965 FALL FASHIONS

SVELTE IN SUEDE

Just arrived from Belgium is the first of the new fall collection of hand tailored suedes for H. Liebes at the Northgate Shopping Center. The selection of the wonderful coats, accented with stitching, was made by Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Liebes on their recent European tour.

'Gray Is The Biggest Color Of All'

"Gray, from charcoal to rock, is the biggest color of all," announced the New York couture group of designers-manufacturers. The group this week is holding shows of fall and winter apparel for reporters in town for this, the 45th semi-annual "National Press Week,"

GRAY FLANNELS, worsteds, and jerseys were big in the Harvey Berin collection Tuesday. Designer Karen Stark paired gray with pastel tones, as in a slim gray wool coat worn over a vanilla shade of dress.

Montesano & Pruzan showed "Madison Avenue gray medium, slate, flagstone and in the beige family, yeast and a dull peach called nude.

Samuel Winston's designer Roxane used gray wool for theater suits with bead motifs in the same steely shades. Among the houses pairing gray with camel was Junior Sophisticates with a two piece costume resembling the Girl Scout uniform. Tunic length top in camel went with a slim charcoal gray skirt.

PAUL BARNES showed an assortment of camel costumes. In some cases, tweed coats in camel and pink tones went over solid camel wool dresses. Or camel suits were paired with pastel, such as pale blue, blouses.

Just the opposite of this batch of neutrals were wild clashes of colors—pink with purple, bright green with jet, orange with royal blue, sunflower yellow with black.

BY INDIVIDUAL FIRMS, here were other items to watch in collections:

—Berin. The firm, known for its trim figure dresses made much of natural, belted waistlines, neatly set-in sleeves, and often showed gathered yoke treatments like a smock.

—Winston. Said Roxane, "Women are tired of straight lines. It is up to us to give them movement and flexibility, new slimness, with just a few seams and the skillful use of bias. Jackets and coats came with smooth look to shoulders, neat necklines and straight backs."

—JUNIOR SOPHISTICATES. For day, the firm showed many casual trench coats in light weight wools. For evenings at home, there were floor length shirtwaisters, one notable one in apricot velvet, and brocade culottes with bell bottoms. For stopping the show anywhere — a white feathered dress made entirely of French coquil.

SMART YOUNG ENSEMBLE

Waistline Debate Raging In Italy—

ROME (AP)—In Italy's fall and winter fashion collections, the waistline debate has the Italian couture divided into two camps —high and low.

Ognibene-Zendman offered a compromise, not just one focal point, but two. They showed high waistlines counterbalanced by low seams or pocket detail between thigh and knee.

Their slender silhouette, skimming the knee, was softened by kimono sleeves cut in one with the high bodice.

How short is short seemed to be the key question in the Italian shows. The first dozen high fashion collections presented in Florence and Rome indicated that short hemlines are here to stay —at least for the coming season.

Most designers settled for skirts that ended somewhere on the knee. Maria Antonelli raised the short skirt banner higher than most of her fashion colleagues by hoisting hemlines up to completely bare the entire kneecap.

Two In One Skirt Is Sporty, Smart

The "slip skirt" is two or more smart and sport outfits in one. Without removing it, a female simply unties the skirt, flips the extra panels around her and, presto, a whole new look. For fall, the skirt features gray flannel and rust paisley on its two sides. It also comes in camel flannel and red paisley. Matching paisley blouses have long sleeves, a rounded collar and button down the back.

Drapes For Shape

Revival Of Bell Bottom Pants And The Double-Breasted Suit

NEW YORK (UPI) — Double-breasted suits are making a comeback, helped by popularity of the double-breasted navy blazer. One of the men who pioneered in this revival is still a step ahead — he's making double-breasted suits with bell bottom trousers.

The manufacturer is Andrew Pallack whose clients include movie and television stars who wear his more conservative clothes and an avant garde younger group of men (19-24) inclined to leather boots, continental pants and some of the more strenuous new dances.

IT WAS THIS combination of boots and tight pants legs that brought on the bell bottom trousers which Pallack calls the "Flair Look" and not bell bottom. If you tucked the tight pants into boots you couldn't dance — and they were too tight to go outside.

So they came to Pallack and he produced a modified flare to suit their needs. The pants have very narrow knees and taper to the ankle where there is a slight flare at the shoe line. The back dips down to the heels and the front tips up to show more of the boot.

THE PANTS have extremely wide waistbands with 1¾-inch belt loops and are worn with a heavy web belt or garrison belts. The pants have continental type pockets, that is, they are almost straight across the top.

The coat to be worn with them is a six-button model in navy hopsacking with widely spaced buttons in antiqued gold. The lapels are wider and the pockets are straight — the old classic but with two very deep side vents and welted edges. The whole effect is mildly nautical.

Bell bottom pants are nothing new, of course. The Oxford bags of the 20s carried it to the extreme. Sailors have been wearing them for years. Spanish Dons have too and this is more the Pallack "Flair Bottom" look. The French tried to revive them recently but without success and bell bottomed blue jeans are the rage in some Scandinavian countries now among Beatle-haired teenagers.

"IN THE PAST spring and summer I sold a limited amount here and in California," Pallack said. "The older man has seen the look and, the stores tell us, wants to wear it. I wore the suit on a trip to California and Las Vegas and it was a conversation piece.

"Right now we are going into pretty strong production of it and it looks like it will have a tremendous impact on good dressers of all ages — providing that the look doesn't become too extreme and look too nautical."

Pallack also will show it in extreme shape in low single and two button models a la James Bond and for Spring will bring it out with solid jackets and narrow striped trousers. He believes it will catch on because of the growing popularity of boots and the fact young men are ready for a change.

PALLACK ALSO reports increased sales of "ordinary" doublebreasted suits with slight shape, a wider button stance and generous lapels. He ran a newspaper advertisement recently of Skitch Henderson lounging in one and was deluged with calls.

He reports the shaped suit in single and double-breasted models "gaining in popularity" and in that "last bastion, the midwest." The over-all market volume is now about 2 per cent in shaped suits but Pallack estimates it will be 50 per cent in another year or so.

Leather Rings Belt

For fall, leather rings the belt with a dozen different textures — smooth and patent leathers, suede and brushed leathers, waxy and antiqued leathers, rugged harness leather. Many of the belts are color-cast to team up with leather shoes and handbags.

Fire, Brymstone Are Fall Colors

A new fashion and grooming awareness among young men is an important part of the back-to-school story this fall. Top-to-toe color coordination is the key, according to Michael Stern, men's clothing manufacturers.

"Fyre 'n' Brymstone" is one highlight color combination that will be featured in suits, sportcoats, slacks. These tones: a blue-green and a brown, both highlighted with touches of russet.

PERSONALIZED MAKEUP NOW AT KWAN YIN

Miss Roberta, face makeup specialist, is shown applying the last touches to a model at the House of Kwan Yin. Co-owner Ray McWade announced the opening yesterday of this new department at his San Rafael salon. "There's long been a need for personalized makeup to enhance the new hairstyles," he said. "Why have a stunning coiffure then look less than your best with improper makeup?" Kwan Yin also announced that Terrance Armstrong, formerly of Los Angeles, has joined its staff of stylists.

The British Are Coming Again

One of the most important results of this English revolution is the "Mod" look, a trend that defines itself in fashion with "little-look" suits, slightly Victorian dresses and decidedly young-in-style coats. These Mod clothes are ingenuous and simple and while they can be extreme in their total look, they offer unvarnished flattery when taken in small doses.

A great many American designers have interpreted this London Look in corduroy for fall. The new wide wales and sculptured thick 'n thins lend a soft and supple hand to the garments and an added luster to this season's rich shades of coffee brown, British blue, burgundy and chianti red.

Coats in solids and tiny checks go almost "baby-doll" in their designs with slightly full straight cuts or gentle flaring taking precedence. Tailored tab closings, slivers of leather belting and powder puff rows of frou-frou complete the little girl effect.

Dresses are charming with their long sleeves, tatting lace and polka dots, and the only shape they cater to is a subtle dipping under the arms. Tailoring tells the story in Mod suits, with simple, slightly A-line skirts topped by the almost skimpy set of a high pocketed jacket or the floppy bow and lace blouse that reflects a Lord Fauntleroy influence.

Practical Addition

The leather skirt is a practical addition to your fall line-up of basic togs. Like leather pants, leather skirts team superbly with every type of top — bulky and flat knits, man-tailored shirts, wild or pretty blouses.

MARCH OF BUTTONS

White buttons march diagonally down this gray wool dress by Patullo-Jo Copeland. The Oxford gray wool gown has a matching stole lined with white satin. It was previewed for buyers by the New York Couture Group. (AP Wirephoto)

Mary Jane Meets The Beatles—Ye-Ye-Ye

Teens who have a swinging sense of fashion can swing fashion their way. The Mod look, more the teens' own than any in fashion memory, has influenced the whole field of design until the way for all ages to look is unmistakably young.

Teens made the child's Mary Jane shoe their very own, until fashion conscious women spotted its unique charm.

THEY WERE the first who took to the little heels, to boots, to buckles, to shoes in the wild colors. This fall their shoes are the ones with the most exhuberance; the ghillies, the proper nanny oxfords in double-take color combinations and off-beat materials, the ballet dancer looks, the sweet and swingy little low cuts.

Boot shoes are big for slacks, like all the booted warmers for fireside sitting or taking a cold weather campus by storm.

Teens have the nerve to wear kooky colors, and the maddest new shapings. They love the new non-flats — strapped, from T's to adaptations of children's classic two-strap.

THE WAY to tell teen-age boys' styles from men's is by their look of "go." They like a slender look even in their beefed-up brogues. They go for the racy Beatle boot, the new flat cowboy boot; and the desert boot is still favored in neutral shades.

For dates, boys like the buckled or gored slipons in alligator grains or dark leathers and the look of handsewn moccasins, particularly blacks or burnished cordovans.

Intrique Behind The Paris Label

EDITOR'S NOTE—The fashion shows in Paris are over and the styles Paris has decreed for the well-dressed woman will soon be in the American shops. In this dispatch, a reporter who watched the fashions come to life tells how it all is done.

By ALINE MOSBY

PARIS (UPI)—A wealthy middle-aged woman, clutching a blue satin blouse she wanted repaired, strode into the usually quiet salon of one of the posh Paris dressmakers during the August showings of the Paris winter fashions.

As she opened the door, she was stunned by the sight: A frozen-faced, spindly mannequin dragging a fur-lined tweed coat on the floor, hundreds of male and female fashion writers smoking and chattering and arguing over who sits where and salesladies calling out numbers.

THE PARIS FASHION show, one of the most celebrated rituals of modern Western society, is an oft-misunderstood spectacle, possibly because it is purposely shrouded in misinformation and mystery by the salons themselves.

It has been around ever since Paris became the world fashion capital some 100 years ago. Until World War II, Paris designers made custom clothes for a few thousand wealthy customers.

But since the war, "haute couture" or high fashion has become big business. Now clothing manufacturers and department store buyers flock to Paris to purchase models to reproduce for mass markets. Many Paris designers themselves have launched lines of ready-to-wear copies of their styles.

By now other cities have fashion showings which run for about a month before the Paris collections are shown.

BUYERS STOCK UP on sportswear in Rome and Florence, suits in London and Madrid, clothing of all types in New York. London women's ready-to-wear has become enormously popular around the world with the "campy"or "ye ye" set. But Paris remains the most creative center for original ideas for truly elegant city clothes.

The biggest Paris houses usually owned by perfume makers who hire designers to create fashion collections, such as Chanel, Yves Saint Laurent, Lanvin and so forth.

The outfits usually are made first in cheap white cotton to see how they'll look although some designers prefer to work directly with the expensive fabric. Chanel rips, drapes and cuts directly on a live mannequin.

AFTER NUMEROUS changes and fittings on the mannequins, the actual clothes for the fashion shows are made in workrooms at the salons. Each workroom has an expert male tailor in charge of girls bending over needles and sewing machines. It's a complicated art. The very shape of a coat depends not only on how it's cut, but how the seams are stitched,whether a stiff material is used and so on. A new seam in a show can send a New York manufacturer into ecstasy.

The designers also instruct the beautiful models how to walk. Designer Pierre Cardin makes exotic, far-out clothes, so he likes his girls to weigh 98 pounds, be 5 feet tall and preferably have Oriental ancestry. Chanel models always walk with hand on hip, 1935 style; Dior's girls have a backward slant. Most Paris mannequins are flat-chested; you're supposed to look at seam construction, not bosom.

PARIS HAS HUNDREDS of custom clothes-makers in small shops. But only the 40 to 50 top designers belong to an association, the "Chambre Syndicale de la Haute Couture Parisienne." Its rules say members must make truly creative designs in finest fabrics at stiff prices; otherwise it's low, not high, fashion.

After twice-yearly fashion shows for the press and buyers, showings are held for buyers. They pay $1400 and up, about twice the price for a private customer, for the right to reproduce a model.

The stores or manufacturers can use the designer's label if an identical copy is made using the same fabric as the original. If the outfit is modified, the manufacturer uses his own label.

SOME SMALL DESIGNERS come to Paris to buy models. I know one American designer who gets ideas for as many as four dresses for her own collection from just one Paris dress.

TALL AND SHORT OF IT

Hart Schaffner & Marx tailors a total of 253 different size-and-shape combinations to fit men ranging in height from 5 feet to those 6 feet 3 inches and in width from slenderizer to stout. The bulk of the company's production falls within the size-shape combinations shown above—37 short to 50 extra long. At Schwartz, Inc. in San Rafael.

NINA RICCI LOOK

Swinging toward fall, designer Gerard Pipart of Paris, uses a young soft look for the Nina Ricci collection. These tendency sketches note the young designers feeling for the longer jacket, and front and back-wrap skirts for suits.

(UPI Cablephoto)

NEW BELTS: A Colorful Holdup

Once again stylists have produced a number of new and good looking belts, according to the American Institute of Men's and Boys' Wear. Fashioned for young and mature men, keyed to business and sportswear, the new fall belts come in widths both wide and narrow. Many belts are two-colored reversibles that switch from leather to leather or from leather to fabric.

THE YOUNGER the man, the wider the belt — is the rule this season. Some of the widest slated to be worn on low-slung hip-hugger slacks and jeans measure two inches or more. On the other hand or more appropriately, under the other loop, are the slim 1-inch favorites of the mature crowd.

Smartest belt leathers include dull waxey finishes, glossy tannages — some of which are smooth, others of which carry just a hint of graining, soft nappy suedes, velours swiped from the smart sport shirts, Madrases, tweed-like fabrics, paisley patterns culled from smart neckwear and leather-on-fabric combos.

BUCKLES LOOK new when bearing authentic university crests, double-tongued for a rugged look, horse-shoe-shaped, and with either square center posts or swivels on the reversibles. Look for bold brass grommets instead of punched eyelets on some sportsters. Luxurious alligators span both the traditional and contemporary groups.

Wiry-Like Antennas

SCULPTURED KNIT

A return to the soft, feminine look is this attractive sculptured wool knit sweater with petal cuff. The sweaters are featured in two-tone avocado and pink or almond and spice with matching pants in avocado or spice. At Stan's Apparel for Sports, San Rafael. Available soon at Stan's in Strawberry.

NAUTICALLY STYLED

Styled to attract a sailor in any port these bell bottom pants are the latest silhouette in sportswear. Crisply shaped of black and white check stretch denim, they have a wide red patent belt accent. The fashion look is enhanced and completed with a ribbed T-shirt worn tucked into the waistband. At Montgomery Ward's, Corte Madera Center.

Fall Evening Shoes Have The Look Of The Dancing Slipper

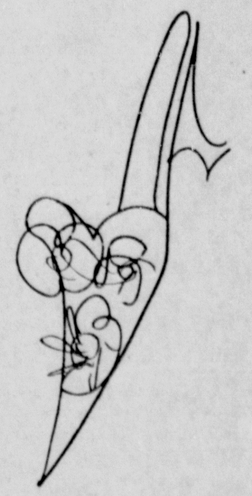

The new fall evening shoe has that great "again" look of the 18th Century dancing slipper. The pared-down pump with its little curvy heel and shaped arch is beautiful by itself and smashing with the added sparkle of buckles, bows and glittery trims.

BOWS AND cocardes are full blooming flowers in satin, silk or grosgrain — some floppy and puffy with fringed edges, some diminutive and subtle. Intricately folded fabrics form fascinating shapes. Black velvet bows contrast with a white silk or satin pump. Leather ruffles trim the throat line of a kid shoe. The show-stopper, an intricately cutout vamp with a picot edge.

The mule over-exposes the heel; and the sandal of last season is more important than ever for this year's leggy look. The shoestring straps lace and wind about the foot to produce dramatic effects. Many sandals are elaborately jeweled; the thong sandal has an Indian princess look about it. Some discreetly display a jeweled buckle closing. A boot entirely sequined in gold or silver adds to the sparkle look for fall.

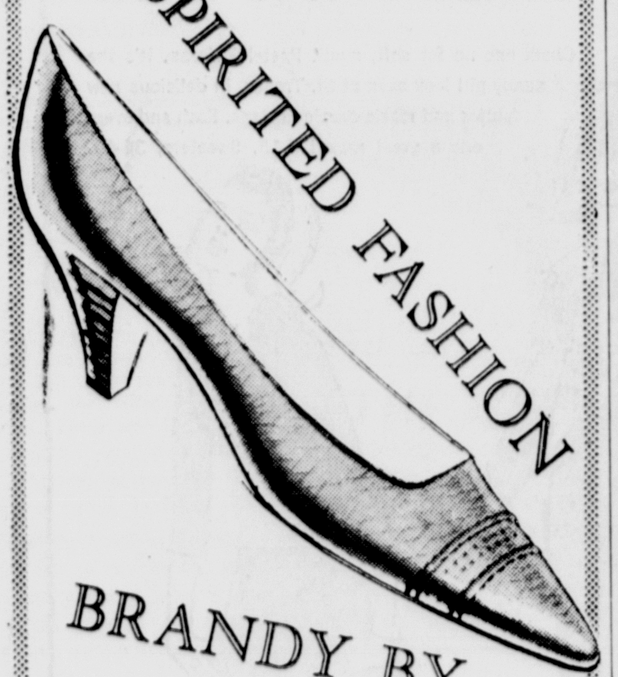

RICH BROCADES, sumptuous velvets, creamy silks and satins whirl in a blaze of unbelievable color. The man-made fabrics broaden the picture to reveal materials that won't crush or stain. A stunning example is in the use of finely woven chiffon gold lame, gently gathered over kid in a "little girl" evening sling back with a squared toe, tiny curved heel, topped with a bow high on the instep.

Lower Heels

Coats Enjoy A Color Fling!

Gone is the day when a winter coat meant a somber one. Instead, there is a veritable palette of exciting tones—even two tones together — reflecting the American interest in art.

Two tones are very new in a coat—one for the body, one for collar and cuffs. Sometimes a reversible coat provides the duotone theme. Rose, raspberries and wines are heady, luscious leaders. Green-tinged browns and golds. Blues, ginger and copper . . . greens, oranges and reds. For the more conservative, chocolate, oxford, black. Most women, however, will enjoy a color fling!

BIG NEWS IN coats as well as suits is skirt motion. Fitted coats make a comeback with new restraint. No nipped-in waist, no whirl skirts. The new silhouette is gently flared for a demi-dirndl look. Occasionally, clusters of pleats provide motion.

The narrow coat is not yet ready to depart. To give it new importance, fly fronts with concealed closings come to the fore. The result is uncluttered elegance. Even the pockets are flat slits in front seams. Trench coats leave the realm of the James Bond world and go high fashion. They appear in new art-conscious tones of opulent wools. Fur-trimmed coats are back in royal regalia. Borders of fur look new and lavish—but collars and cuffs have their rooters—particularly those that detach for versatility.

FUR-LINED COATS are more fashionable than ever. Furs spill from linings to collar. Newly supple and lighter in weight, they are warm and wonderful. Something more opulent is added, too. A matching dress to sum up the costume supreme.

Belts are important—even when they play peek-a-boo, tunneling in and out of many of the new suits. Often, they are half-concealed under pockets. And, with the young look still a favorite, sets of pockets are in fashion esteem.

Fabrics are flattened, but interesting in surface via weaves and color usage. Tattersall, houndstooth and diamond checks feature "broken" weaves. Foulards and calico types are seen in wools. Twills, gabardines, coverts and crepe are luxurious. Tweeds, Shetlands, Harris and Argyles are crisp. America runs on suit time—and now this national fashion is destined to make women more colorful, more elegant.

ON STAGE FOR FALL

THE TOTAL LOOK

The Emporium Fur Salon in the Northgate Shopping Center features a selection of "Fun Fur Coats" that are up-to-the-minute. This "Black 'N White" pattern coat for town or country is French rabbit dyed to resemble fitch fur.

ON TOP

Show Of Plumage In Space Fashion

Elegance is also riding high, with a great show of plumage. The "star" — ostrich, reminiscent of the glamorous 20s. One designer shows ostrich in a triangle that billows about the head . . . also a model complemented by woolen plaid.

One leading designer shows hat shapes leaning over backward, as well as models with forward movement. She also endorses a new, dramatic pitch on visors. Velvets, suedes, velours are prominent in interpretation.

Fall geometrics have infinite fashion possibilities and — add up to a most exciting look. They begin life as squares . . . some with drapery — to be crushed and shaped as you please.

Various materials lends their own drama — plushy pile fabrics in disguise as a way-out black-and-red ocelot, or in black-and-white houndstooth — they are especially favored, since they are washable.

Costume suits are every woman's joy. There's one with baby topcoat over a slim skirt and jersey weskit. There's a Princess coat over a slim sheath. Every shape, jacket or coat length contributes to the costume look.

Certain to be a big hit are the many duets . . . slim fit dresses with flattering coats or jackets in such wonderful materials as cashmere, mohair, wool and boucle tweed.

Artists Mix Up New Shadows And Shade

Hair styles are working out headlines to enhance the new silhouettes . . . make-up artists are busy with their alchemy, mixing up new shadows and shades for fall.

SOPHISTICATED TUNIC

Medieval magic has cast its glamorous spell on Helga, internationally renowned couturiere, who created this sophisticated tunic for Adde' Originals this autumn. The dress of wool tweed comes in charcoal and mist green. Available at Luana's in San Rafael and Corte Madera Center. (John Arms photo)

Whimsy Mood For Textured 'Leggy Look'

From 9 a.m. to 4 a.m. the trend is to the textured look. Subtle, kicky, demure and elegant designs are represented. The freshest, youngest shoes for fall and winter pair off with textured stockings to create the contemporary look, reports the National Shoe Institute.

DIAMONDS ARE NOT limited to "ice." They also belong on the leg . . . dapper little diamond shapes of nylon and dacron in black and white . . . a tweedy look of a larger diamond shape almost like a geometric tile in an orlon and nylon up-to-the-knee . . . and a dainty diamond-within-a-diamond for evening—new, exciting, and fresh with the gently rounded shoe shapes.

Dots, scrolled hearts and flocking like velvety velour are neatly knit into stockings to dramatize the beautiful mesh textures. These are the "evening beauties" and draw attention to pretty ankles and the sorcery of strippy sandals.

FLOWERS TURN up for fall—daisies tell in two colors, and tulips and rambler roses bring life to the limb . . . in orlon, nylon and dacron fashioned to fit all sizes.

The new Courreges calf-high boot creates a mood of whimsy and enchantment when worn with the marvelous mosaics of textured stockings. The white-washed boot — base for unexpected colors — combinations and designs—all gaily exposed to flatter the shorter skirts, and add to the pristine look of youth.

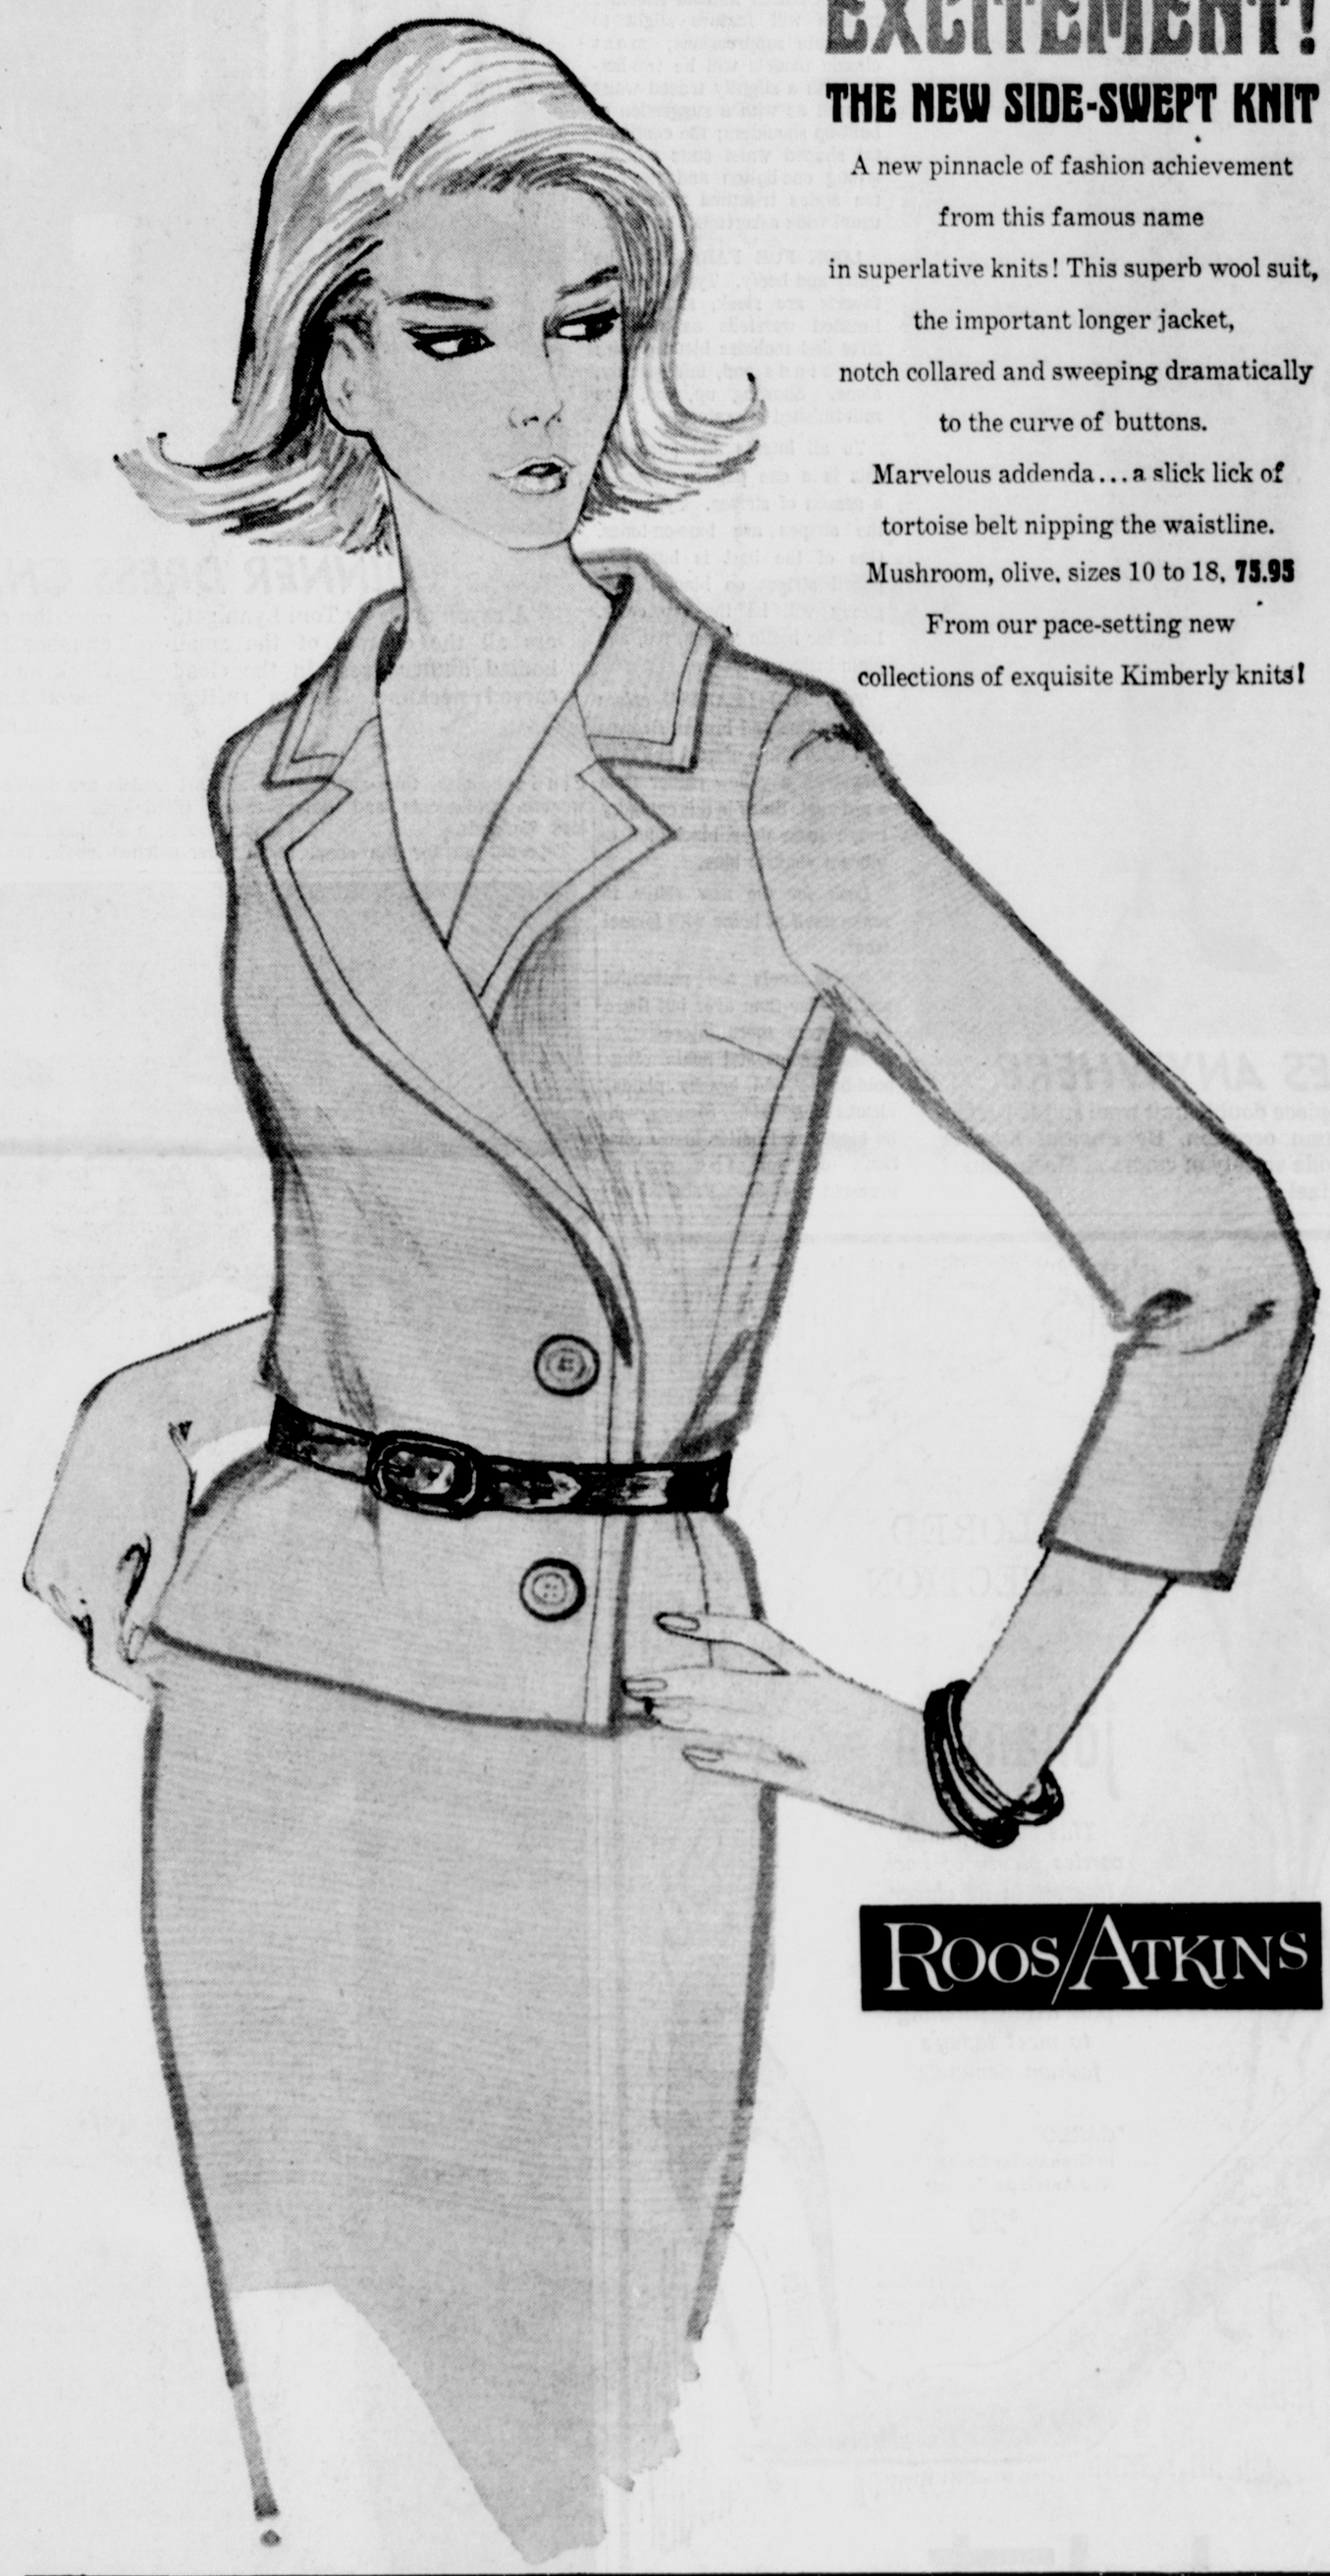

THE LIVELY LOOK

Flick on the fashion this fall by wearing this smart little shoe. It mixes the lively look of kidskin with textured leather for undeniable daytime elegance. Very light and luxuriously cushioned on a new low heel, Shindig, a Cobbie by the makers of Red Cross Shoes, is available at Kramar's Shoes, Corte Madera Center.

Men Better 'Shape Up'

GOES ANYWHERE

This three-piece double knit wool suit is perfect for any autumn occasion. By Puritan Forever Young. In a wide variety of colors at Marin Smart Shop, San Rafael.

Men's wear for fall is off and running. Although the bulk of men's suits are in three main styles—natural shoulder, classic or the continental—"shape" will be the style of the day. A shaped silhouette suit is a must in your fall wardrobe.

What is a shaped silhouette suit? Basically, it is a jacket with a slight suppression or nip at the waist, a flare at the back and slightly built-up shoulders. All shaped models will carry vents; you can choose from side or center vents. All vents will be deep.

Three-button natural shoulder models will feature slight to moderate suppressions; most classic models will be two-button with a slightly traced waist as well as with a suggestion of built-up shoulders; the continental shaped waist suits will be strong one-button and two-button styles trimmed with their usual wide assortment of lapels.

LOOK FOR FABRICS to be gutty and beefy. Typical of the fabrics are sleek, slick, hard finished worsteds as well as silks and mohairs blended with worsteds and, infrequently, alone. Showing up, too, are mill-finished worsteds.

To all intents and purposes, this is a one pattern season—a season of stripes. Typical of the stripes are tone-on-tones. One of the best is burgundy pencil stripes on black. Burgundy will be the top color. Look for bottle greens, too, and plain lustrous blacks.

THE TWO LEADING colors will be blue and brown. Browns will have glints of gold and copper—with a yellow rather than a red cast. Blues in this category range from deep black-blue to vibrant electric blue.

Sports coats are patternful and livelier than ever but there never were more interestingly colored plains and neats. Big-bold-bright and brashy plaids, checks dominate. Blazers will be bigger and better than ever. Don't overlook the double-breasted blazers. Fabrics include boucles, thick-and-thin weaves, iridescents and flat-look worsteds.

Topcoats go for the shape, too. Latest models are double-breasted fitted coat with L-shaped lapels; a 2-button model with wider notched lapels. Traditional Chesterfields are in semi-fitted style, slim-shouldered full-raglans in colorful heathery mixes will be the tops.

DINNER DRESS CHARMER

A rayon dress by Toni Lynn gathers all the charms of the small-bodied dinner dress in the clean-carved neckline. Sleeves ruffling over the elbow and a flounced bow enhance its femininity. In beige with black and royal with green. Available at Marion's Maternity, San Rafael and Mill Valley.

The Glittering Look From The Far East

The fashion sun rises in the East . . . the Far East, and is never more evident than in jewelry. You'll see collars of jewels worthy of a maharani . . . impressive necklaces and matching earrings with big stones, pigeon-egg pearls, punctured gold and pendants that swing and dazzle.

All this drama complements the wonderful one-shoulder look and the strapless evening gown . . . also the luxury fabrics, the furs, the lavishness that is seen, paradoxically, along with a subtle line of simplicity, this season.

Scarf designers are also inspired by the Oriental "invasion." Scarfs are being shown as head fashions as well as neck fashions, even dominating the costume.

You'll see authentic patterns from India, hand-screened and set with tiny mirrors . . . and the classic paisley done with large motifs, printed separately on rich, dark silks.

Costume jewelry is going around in the best circles . . . the favorite, a pin, going round and round . . . shaped like a ram's head, in gold with jeweled red eyes. Also seen, the gold snake pin.

Rings are very big, sometimes worn on several fingers, or many on one. (More of the Oriental feeling).

Glamour slippers continue to play the harem theme more importantly than ever. For fireside evenings designers offer mere shapings to slip into and beguile the eye.

The "Kismet" slipper has oriental, turned up toes, comes in gold braid glistening on gold velvet and other colors.

White Leads Fall's Wonderful Parade

Day and evening looks for fall are exciting and new . . . sure to make a smart woman want to update her wardrobe.

Look for . . . the guardsman's coat back again, shaped and double-breasted, with a panache of pleats in the back of the full skirt . . . lending free-swinging motion.

No need to look for . . . it's here, everywhere! — the one-shoulder dress for late-day and "little" evenings. Often in midnight black velvet, with trapeze shaping giving swing to the skirt.

Look for . . . short evening dress adrift in swirls of net . . . the Cage repeating its success, for fall.

SORCERESS

Your eyes will light up when you see fall's enchanted color spectrum. Interpreted by Palizzio for utter femininity with matching velvet trim for daytime or evening. Coordinated handbag by Palizzio at Netboy Shoes, San Rafael.

New Boots Point Like Robin Hood's

By JEAN SPRAIN WILSON

NEW YORK (AP) — Those people who predicted a fade-out of the boot fad were as accurate as those who forecast the election of Thomas E. Dewey.

Despite the numerous dissenting votes cast by male population decrying the disappearance of the ankle, the boot has won the plurality and is sure to be in for several more seasons.

How could boots win against strong resistance? One answer is compromise. Today they're worn with short, short skirts—giving the confirmed leg watcher more knee to see although less ankle to ogle.

Moreover, they're ever so practical. Men can hardly argue with any real conviction against these garments that save on hosiery bills, and possibly doctor bills by keeping wives' feet warm. After all, boots are marvelous mud and snag guards, and there is no comparing their serviceablity to shoes in a snowstorm.

Still, as any student of the female mind will attest, practicality is not a necessary element for winning feminine approval as long as there are plenty of fashion ingredients. And there are those.

Boots are so cute. And varied. Isn't that reason enough for popularity?

A lady can hesitate undecidedly over a dozen different kinds of leathers: grained and smooth; brushed; waxed or glossy patent; velvety suede or rugged; or in gay patterns or in leathers duplicating reptile and animals markings, even ostrich grains. No wonder she winds up buying several pairs.

She can be as old-fashioned as the high button shoe, or she can be as new-fashioned as the ankle-length white Andres Courreges boot. She can choose toes that are round, pointed, or pointed up like Robin Hood's. With boots she can be sportive, of course, but she can also be glamorously boot-iful in boots spiffy with sparkling jewels, bows, and dipping throat lines.

She can be very chic in boots again this winter, even more so than she was in them last year.

To Wear Earrings

One way to wear earrings without pinching the ears — attach them to jewelled bandeaus which fit across the top of the head and swing down to the ears to end in clusters of jewels. The idea came from designer Luciana of Florence.

HEN FEATHERY HELMET

James Galanos of California showed this fall evening outfit with its feathery "bird disguise" worn over a long black wool dress cut like a column. The headdress is done entirely of hen feathers and stretches over the shoulders to the bustline fore and aft. (UPI Telephoto)

Ladies Have A Fistful Of Gloves To Choose From

You'll give a hand to leathers such as kid, suede, doeskin, deerskin, pigskin and capeskin. Their natural beauty enhances new dress, casual and sport gloves alike — in both lined and unlined styles.

SMART LEATHER shorties may be elasticized at the wrist, closed with a pearl button, or sport a scallop. Other gloves, more simply finished, go from four to eight-button lengths.

The line-up of glove linings range from unlined to silk, orlon and wool-knit. For fireside-warm fingers, gloves lined in shearling or fur are the thing. The leather color gamut runs through the standards (black, navy, brown), neutrals (taupe, bone, natural), and high fashion shades (berry, amber, spruce green, mink).

DEERSKIN, CAPESKIN and cabretta are rugged glove leathers especially suited for sportswear. Many of these gloves increase their flexibility with stretch insets at sides of fingers. Linings vary, depending on time, place and activity involved.

For gala gallivanting, your wardrobe might include fine kid and suede leather gloves, rising to elbow or below-shoulder length. On shorter gloves, glittering jewels or soft fur cuffs add glamor.

Slick styling is to be found in smooth and patent leather belts, 2 to 3 inches wide, which circle the hips on a daytime shift. To be worn at the waist in fast or loose fashion are skinny strips of smooth or suede leather, many interlaced with chains.

FUR WRANGLERS

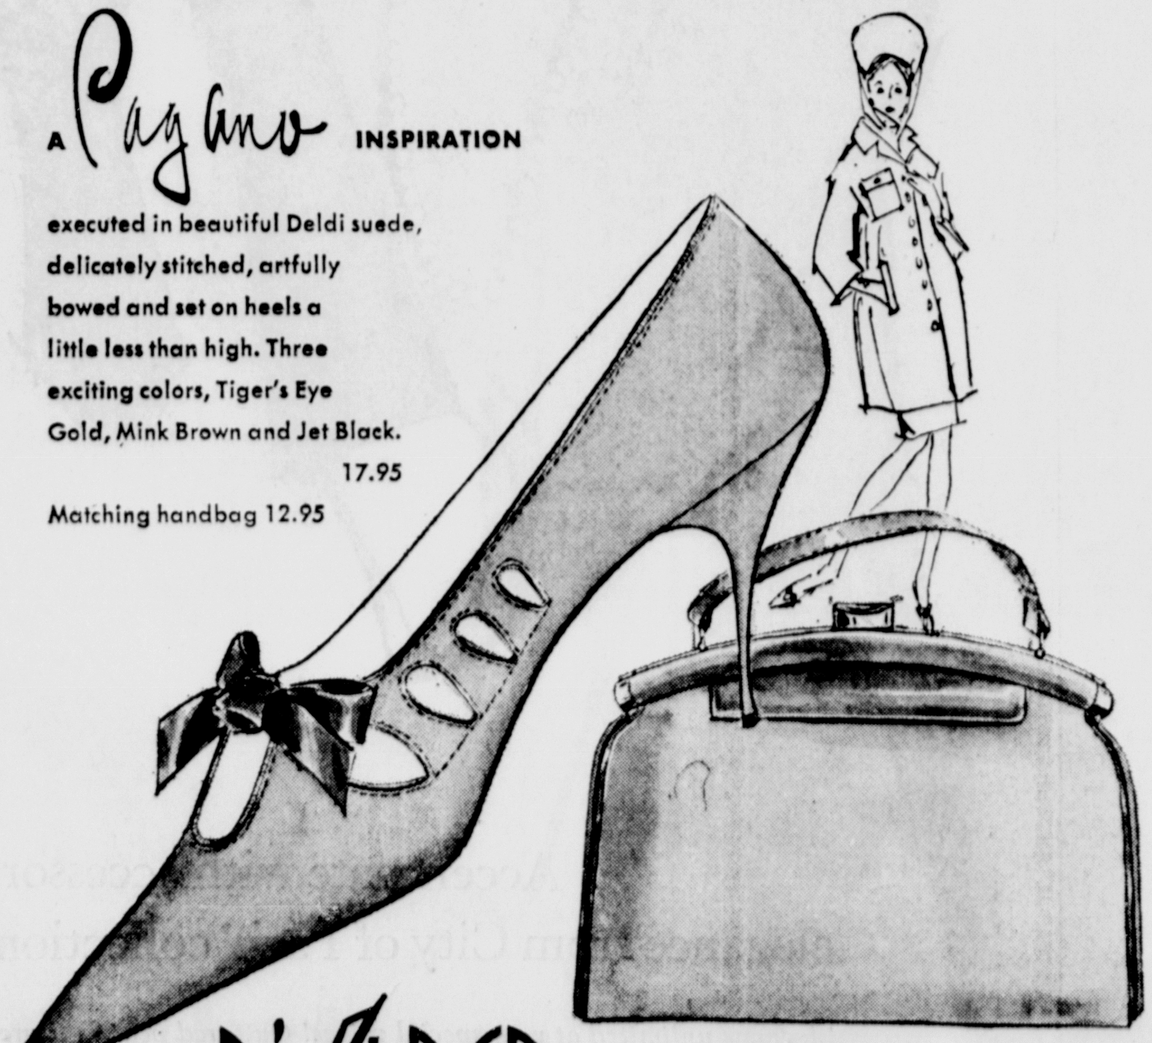

Blue Bell has created these Wrangler jeans that look and feel like real Chinchilla, but are actually made from matched Chinchilla rabbit skins. At Little Daisy, Strawberry Town and Country Village.

A Pagano INSPIRATION

executed in beautiful Deldi suede, delicately stitched, artfully bowed and set on heels a little less than high. Three exciting colors, Tiger's Eye Gold, Mink Brown and Jet Black.

Milady May Tote Essentials In A Deep Gusseted Handbag

Fall poses a paradox in purses: How can the new leather bags be so compact, yet so capacious?

Fashion has found a way, in fact, several ways. Milady may tote her essentials in a double-handbag with two entries, a deep-gusseted bag, an accordion purse, a bag with outside pockets, or a handbag that's actually three or four small bags stitched into one. These leather handbags are all designed to look little, yet hold a lot.

THE LEATHER LAVISHED on these small-scale smarties, and on their big sisters, covers a multitude of textures. Striking grained and embossed leathers, delicate smooth and suede leathers, handsome brushed leather, rugged waxy leather, and gleaming lustre and patent leathers make their own double entry in the handbag field: quality and service.

DOUBLE UP ON style and space with a new leather double-bag. Two compact handbags are attached back to back, each with its own opening. Sometimes they are identical, sometimes one has an individual touch—such as a different closing, or a bit of contrasting color or leather. For even more room, this Siamese-twin style may have gusseted or accordion sides. Variation on the multiplicity theme is the trick of stringing several leather petites of the same or different sizes together.

Playing it solo, the conventional leather bag may also have deep gussets or accordion pleats at the sides. "Expandable elegance" aptly describes these trim pouches, satchels and envelopes, which may feature gold closings and trim, quilting or shirring, and scalloped or unusually shaped flaps. Handles may be soft double straps, single rigid type.

Patch pockets a la Chanel and swagger-bag full-depth pockets are other space-stretchers to be found on handbags both large and small. Inside compartments —open, zippered or turn-locked— further increase carrying capacity.

STILL VERY MUCH in the casual and sports picture is the bigger bag. Crafted mostly from grained, waxy and embossed leathers, these totes, satchels, pouches and shoulder-strappers are rugged yet rich-looking. From students to suburban housewives, an up-and-coming favorite is the leather shopping-bag tote. Major decorative devices used in the casual group are brass trim, heavy stitching, and two-leather or two-color themes.

TOWN-AND-TRAVEL

Saddle And Monk Straps Latest In Men's Casuals

For those to whom men's casual footwear conjures up nothing more than sneakers and slippers, the current variety of men's casuals will come as something of a revelation. Actually, it was more like a revolution. Not too many years ago, manufacturers made a startling discover; they found that men were becoming as fashion conscious about their footwear as women. And to prove it, this year they have come up with a strikingly varied collection that combines style, comfort and sturdiness to an unprecedented degree.

THE RUGGEDLY assertive casual boot has been coming on strong. Its fleece-lined models are a great favorite with the apres ski crowd, and with fleece lining or without, it is being worn in the dressiest of circles. Boots come in many different grains, and can be buckled, laced, or tunnel-tied.

The soft shoe has been tip-toeing its way up the popularity ladder. Flexible — even collapsible — it is the most casual of casuals, and yet can be worn with dressy clothes. Shoe styles have recently been expanded, and even include patent leather for fall and winter.

For fall footwear, men have shown a fondness for casual shoes with heavy stitching. This gives the shoe a particularly bold look, and is featured on plain or winged bluchers.

THE MOST traditional of men's casual footwear — the loafer, or slipon — has also been decked out with some attractive new features. Saddle straps and monk straps are available in an almost unending variety of designs; and the side gore is being used in increasing number to give the shoe a sleek appearance and provide maximum comfort. Slipons, too, are being seen at occasions calling for a more dressy look In a low, flat model, they add a particularly elegant look at even the most formal gatherings.

Famous Brand's 'New Look'

Norman Norell decided three weeks before "show time" that the collection he had designed for this fall just wouldn't do.

The Indiana-born dean of American fashion designers wanted something very new and very American. So he scrapped his earlier efforts and came up with what he has dubbed "the new proportion"—an essentially slim look with the skirt just touching the top of the knee and the waist down around the hip bones.

"THE NEW PROPORTION" is also a flat one. In some low-backed versions of the Norell look for evening, his models' shoulder blades protruded further than their busts. Hips are out of the question.

Before unveiling his collection, the designer handed out written statements of his intent.

"IT SEEMS to me that the most pleasant balance and proportion to the very short skirt is the lowered waistline," he said. "Not just a trifle lowered, but well down on the hip. This is the theme of this collection."

Norell set the tone with a group of three-piece costumes for daytime wear. The skirts are either straight or accordion pleated. A slim overblouse is belted at the hip bone under a jacket which covers the hips and carries a matching belt. The suits and similar full length or seven-eighths coats are often double breasted, sometimes v-necked, only occasionally without any fastenings.

THE COLORS range from dusky shades of rose to vibrant purples with lots of clear blues, greens and some pale yellows.

Also for the daytime, there are belted jumpers with bibs cut out worn over long-sleeved blouses with bows at the throat and three-piece outfits giving the same jumper effect.

At night Norell returns to the 20's and earlier with brilliantly colored dresses—both long and short—of solid sequins, flouncing from mid thigh with flapper fringe.

Halston of Bergdorf Goodman provided variations of helmets, cloches and tricorns for the daytime and sprays of feathers and ostrich plumes with matching fans for evening.

AND RHINESTONES were everywhere—glittering in chunky clusters on hats, as buttons and as belt buckles. Long loops of rhinestones replaced waist length pearls for after dark necklaces.

NORELL said earlier he regretted he hadn't had time to work up some at-home clothes. But he managed to include a pants suit with white trousers a cross between pajama bottoms and bell-bottomed trousers, a long red blouse, a sporty blue jacket and beret and a red plaid scarf to knot around the throat. That won a round of applause from editors and buyers.

It and the rest were all nicely proportioned but only for those whose proportions are meager.

KIMBERLY PRESENTS

This peanut-colored wool knit dress from Kimberly's fall 1965 collection has a double row of bone buttons accenting the welt seamed front panel. It has a gentle rounded collar and cuffed three-quarter sleeves. At Roos/Atkins, Northgate Shopping Center.

Covered-Up Conical Shapes Dominate The Paris Scene

By LOUISE HICKMAN

PARIS (AP) — Conical shapes, well covered up, dominate the new Paris fashion collections for fall and winter,

That's the outstanding impression one has after viewing advance showings of the new fashions.

Buyers who have seen the new Yves Saint-Laurent collection hail it as the best in Paris, commenting particularly on his brilliant use of color in creating geometric patterns outlined in bars of black.

No one mentions hemlines at Saint-Laurent, and in other fall-winter collections lengths play lesser roles than had been expected. The acceptable average would seem to be mid-knee.

The prevailing shape is a slender cone, which gives new dimension to the A-line. Shoulders and long sleeves are slender. Collars are high, loose rings. Suit jackets are longer.

Belts circle but never clinch. Most of them are slung loosely around the hips, on dresses.

Heim has many knee-length full-blown knickers, in fur or fabric for any hour of the day, and Lanvin showed the same harem shapes for at-home wear. And that is about it, as far as pants are concerned.

In short-skirt collections, leg-covering gaiters in fabrics to match coats or dresses take the place of boots.

IN BOTH French and Italian collections, the search is on for new coat shapes. There are twirly wide coats in the Ricci and Molyneux collections. At Ricci they are scarf-wrapped around the neck and buttonless. Molyneux buttons them high, once, at the neck.

The newest evening look is strapless, cut high to cover cleavage. The gowns are cut close to the rib cage, circle the body in a slender, stiff cone from a point above the waiste. They always have some sort of covering — a jewelled jacket, a long coat, or a scarf wrap.

RIGID DOMED hats dominate the collections. But the newest-looking hat is Dior's wide, soft black "cavalier" felt. At Lanvin and Ricci there were bandanna wraps in firm felt. Patou showed a bandanna-wrapped "sphinx" coif, often in suede.

SCHOOLDAY SWINGER

Youth Takes The Play In Woolknits

The bright spark of youth sets the pace for Fall '65 woolknit fashions. In a recent preview of Fall knitwear, there was no doubt that fashions for the young exerted the strongest influence, and that the most creative collections for the younger generation merited the industry's three Woolknit Design Awards.

RUDI GERNREICH received a Special Merit Designer Award for his original collection of double-knit wools produced by Regal for children. Predictions are that he has created a whirlwind of fashion excitement that will have a worldwide influence. His designs interpret bouncy, free-action leotards combined with smocks, jumpers, and tiny skirts.

ACT III received the Woolknit Design Award for coordinates, citing their awareness of styling in a fresh, young look sparked by imaginative pattern combinations.

MARSINA OF CALIFORNIA was awarded the trophy in the sweater category for its youthful fashion excitement, daring color development, and vivid treatment of textures.

Fashion spotlight of the youth movement was on "little girl" dresses of double-knit wool with high drawstring bodices; short, uncomplicated slip dresses; victorian touches of crochet ruffles and bouncy ball fringes; eye-catching "op" art patterns; rich-textured Shaker knits with a hand-knit look; and the total knit look of shift dresses and sweaters with matching stockings.

Feature attraction was a special group of Mod originals, designed by Ingeborg in wool dougle-knits and crochet fabrics.

Are You 'Hep' On Fashions?

Want to discover if you are hep to the latest fashions for the fall season? Then we suggest you check off the new from the old in this informative fashion game:

1. Lots of bulk in fabrics, in tweed and mohair.
2. Smooth stocking, or the no-stocking look.
3. Mixing checks, dots and stripes.
4. Lace and frills dawn to dark.
6. Boots and low-heeled shoes.
7. For evening, fashions that plunge either in front or back, or are off one shoulder.
8. Pleats.
9. Sleepwear to match lingerie and foundations.
10. Loving the natural 1930 look from blonde curls to beige body shapers.

If you checked ideas three to ten, your fashion score couldn't be higher. If you included one and two, you need a quick brush-up on what's in the fall fashion scene.

Hoods From Pucci

If you want to look far ahead in fashion, one forecast for spring is for the fuller toed shoe. The National Shoe Retailers Assn.

Revival Of Marabou

Ghillie-Tie Shoe Afoot For The Kids

The newest thing in back-to-school shoes: the Ghillie-Tie Loop. This makes eyelets outdated, according to Herbert Posner, head of his own shoe firm. What else is new afoot for children; shoes of lustrous, though durable, nylon velvet. The most popular colors: red and black.

A fuzzy and furry look in campus casual outerwear will dominate this fall, bringing lining fabrics — from inside — out. The fur and fur-like trims will add a soft touch to most masculine casual coats and jackets. Warm, fleecy linings, such as polyester shearlings, will contrast with other materials.

Also, corduroys, suedes and other napped materials will be teamed with bright solid wools and wool plaids. It's all a result of the increased participation of young people in outdoors activities, even in the coldest months of the year. This has created the need for outerwear styles that utilize warmth-giving fabrics not only as the functional part of a garment, but as a fashion asset.

'Alice-Sit-By-The-Fires' Rampant With Decorations

Designers have come out for the Alice-Sit-by-the-Fires this fall, with a collection of at-home slippers that combine the most beautiful materials with a sense of contemporary style.

Mules are full of whimsy and ready to be paired with slim velvet pants and to-the-ankle skirts. Bright pink smooth leather teams with brighter pink braid and an elasticized throat to fit snugly and enhance a neutral or black skirt; silver brocade is teamed with gold leather and an adjustable gold kid tie to rest on a sturdy little brocade heel; floppy bows in bright taffetas and grosgrains enhance patent mules.

DAMASKS AND brocades — spun glitter—deep toned velvets —once used only for the most elaborate ball gowns, make the perfect at-home shoe. Black is a favorite, particularly with gold or silver and the art nouveau tones. Blues range from star sapphire tones to the hot flash of turquoise; purples are high fashion treats, specially the jeweled amethyst shades.

The jungle invades the home with lush velours in tiger prints of fiery oranges and burnished browns. There is the sleek look of zebra print set on a red patent stubby heel.

THE 'IN' LOOK

For the In-Group is this 100 per cent wool petite dress by Betty Barclay Jr. Petites. Loana's of the Northgate Shopping Center carries an excellent selection of Junior Petites for this fall's fashion.

James Bond Ivy Look

NEW YORK (UPI) — If you can afford only one pair of slacks you should get a lightweight medium gray flannel. If you want a basic slacks wardrobe you need at least five pairs, plus the usual array of cotton jeans for washing the car or mowing the lawn.

Mac Lewis, an expert on such things, lists five different categories — business wear when you might wear slacks with a blazer, spectator sports for use with a sports jacket, slacks to wear with such outer garments as a stadium or car coat, a pair for lounging and a pair for active sports such as golf.

THERE ARE MANY new, or improved, features in slacks this fall. Permanent crease has been around for some years but now it is chiefly used only for fabrics which really need it—soft flannel or hopsacking. Lycram Spandex fibers are used in sports and leisure slacks for stretch, a term in disfavor in the industry.

THERE IS AN improved stain resistant ingredient, Du Pont's Zepel, which is similar to Scotchgard. This stabilizes the fabric to prevent shrinkage but also repels such stains as catsup and mustard. Mud can simply be brushed off when it is dry.

Used chiefly for golf slacks, it is worn by people who play golf all day in a pair of slacks, then wear them that night.

Mac, who has been in the business for 27 years, listed some of the preferences for the five categories.

He reported an increasing use of slacks in business wear and suggested a flannel or a tropical, depending on the season, worn with a blazer or a modest sports jacket.

FOR SPECTATOR sports such as football there is flannel or hopsacking in many shades to color coordinate with the sports jacket. These fabrics often are treated with permanent crease chemicals to keep them from bagging.

When the emphasis is on an outerwear coat such as a car coat or a stadium parka, the fabric could be a cavalry twill or some coarse material to coordinate with the outercoat either in fabric or color.

For lounge wear Lewis suggests corduroy or cotton. The emphasis here is on comfort and they are made somewhat looser fitting. One variety was designed for a lot of sitting—the rear pockets are moved forward toward the front pockets so you don't sit on your wallet.

The front pockets are cut straight across Western style so you can thrust your hands in them while standing up.

For active sports there are many varieties. Golf slacks, for example, do not have to have all the gadgets they sometimes are equipped with. But comfort is necessary and 4 per cent Lycra is sometimes used for a bit of stretch, plus the stain repellant.

SOME OTHER Lewis observations:

White slacks sold in great quantities for summer wear, but not the old-fashioned see-through white flannel as much as an Arnel sharkskin weave. A new type of slacks on the market is for use with tuxedos—black with a narrow satin stripe which bends inward to mark the top of the horizontal pockets. It has a satin waistband and could do away with a cummerbund.

PLEATED SLACKS haven't been worn in the New York area for several years but are about 70 per cent of volume in the midwest. The trend is away from pleats and manufacturers are compensating by making the fronts fuller to accommodate pot bellies. Buyers now go in for eye appeal whereas they used to check fabric content. Now they're happy if someone tells them it's a blend.

George's Four-Cornered Hat Among New Federal Millinery

BY GAY PAULEY

NEW YORK (UPI) — President Johnson's campaign to get Americans to see America first gets a brimful of support from the millinery industry.

Patriotic themes come from such designers as Sally Victor, whose clients include Mrs. Hubert H. Humphrey and Mrs. Dwight D. Eisenhower.

"I'm not against aiding our country," said Mrs. Victor, who through some 30 years in hat making has ranged the world for inspiration. "We're always helping others. Let's help ourselves."

With that, Mrs. Victor reached into America's past to produce 1965 versions of the Priscilla Alden bonnet, a face-framing number in fur with a tie under the chin; the Annie Oakley, a wide brimmed off the face felt; the Virginia Cavalier, a turned up brimmed hat done in felt or leather; and hats copied from the "federal" period including the four cornered hat of George Washington.

Several milliners liked the rancher's upturned brim, often showing the hats worn over snug fitting turbans or wimples. Others dipped into history too with copies of the tricorn of colonial days.

Whatever the inspiration, the soft look is the dominant one in the new hats, said the Millinery Institute of America at its trends show. The institute is an auxiliary member of the New York Couture Group, which this week is staging its 45th annual "National Press Week" for fashion reporters.

Softness shows in the materials and the trim-draped turbans, for instance, in velvet, jersey, felt, crushed leather and fur; in hoods of both fabric and fur and most often tied or snapped under the chin; or in snoods. In the snood category, designer Adolfo perched one at the back of the head in white ermine, added a dash of ermine tails, and then gave the model an ermine trimmed eye mask.

For late day and evening, the small hats stood out, some of them jewel trimmed velvets and satins, some of them exotic feathered jobs, still others combination of furs and jewels.

FOUR DESIGNERS of coats, suits and dresses also showed their collections. Designer Bill Blass at Maurice Rentner did a number of suits with lightly shaped jackets topping dirndl skirts. To complete the costumes — satin blouses, most of them bowed at the neck. Blass, whose clients include Barbara Striesand and Mrs. Nelson Rockefeller, showed many dresses, some coupled with jackets to turn them into costumes.

THE FURRY TOUCHES took over at the Jack Sarnoff collection, designed by Molly. She used muskrat, in blonde, white or black, to line coats done in herringbone twill, needlepoint wool and double-faced worsteds. Other furs, many of them combined with such colors as persimmon and cornflower blue, included fox, sable-dyed opossum, lynx, nutria, gray squirrel and mink. A standout: a reversible coat of black silk on one side, horizontally worked natural ranch mink on the other.

More Stretch And Color Seen In Fall Lingerie

This fall women can look forward to lingerie that features more stretch, is a lighter weight and more colorful. So says Mary Rose Bruckner, lingerie designer. Mrs. Bruckner notes that with the wide selection available today, there's no reason women can't combine what is practical with what is fun to wear.

She advises fashion-conscious women to buy not only lingerie they need but also lingerie that makes them happy and suits their personality.

To get the best out of your fashion dollar, Mrs. Bruckner suggests familiarizing yourself with the many lingerie fabrics and recommends taffetas, nylon tricot and cotton/polyester blends as the most comfortable and long-wearing of the fabrics available.

When purchasing lingerie, check for workmanship, she reminds. Is there double seaming at points of stress, are fabric edges finished neatly. Straps should be attached to body of garment, not just to trim. Check the fabric . . . it should be firm without being stiff, soft without being sleazy. Test it with your hands to see if it will bear up under months of stress.

Embroidery should be checked for broken threads; laces should be finished neatly and have firm net backing for support and shape. Seam stitching should have some elasticity so it doesn't break at tension points.

When choosing styles, Mrs. Bruckner suggests that bikinis be left to the very young and extreme styles should be avoided . . . stick to what you need and like.

As far as color is concerned, black, white and beige are good choices as they can be worn with almost any garment, but this is a season of brilliant hues, so do indulge yourself.

Picadilly Look Fashion Theme For The Moppets

The fashion themes for children this fall are many and very definite. All the important trends have been adapted for children and will be much in evidence. The "Mod" or "Picadilly" look —straight from London; the Courreges adaptations with the welt seaming and a clean straight silhouette; the feminine look which includes the empire line, the "bunny" smock silhouette, and the ruffles at hemline, on the sleeves and at the neck; the "proper look"—emphasized by crisp white collars and cuffs, neat and lady-like.

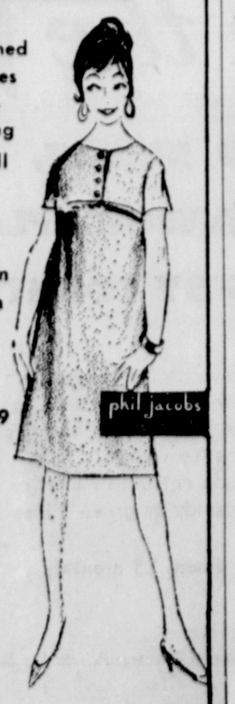

Sleeves are often long; collars are sometimes large and platter-like; high yokes are treated with either smocking, ruffles, or just soft gathers or straight pleats below them. Skirts have low pleats or low flounces, or bias flares, or are narrowed to a skimpy look.

Go-Go-Go With Rounded Toe— Fresher Young Girl Look In

The sensational shoe story for fall and winter is "Go, go with the rounded toe," reports the National Shoe Institute. This youthful concept is strongly represented in a variety of new toe shapes, each lending its look of high fashion and natural grace.

THE ROUNDED, SLIGHTLY blunted and charmingly feminine quality of the new silhouettes up-dates fashion for a fresher, young girl look — one that joins supreme comfort with timeless chic.

The straps and ties that came into their own last season are making an even bigger smash now. The new toe shapes are perfect foils for them.

The cross strap is found in limitless versions, both broad, narrow and in color combinations — tawny tans with green-grey tones, winter pales with darker taupes, and the startle of bright blues teamed with tomato reds.

The toe story is the go story! As contemporary as the discotheque, as classic as the fox trot — the natural, rounded toe is in for every phase of modern life.

TOTAL DISGUISE

Shrouded, Hooded, Masked And Wigged—Women Veiled

If a man wants to be sure he knows the true identity of the woman he is with, learning to identify fingerprints may be his only recourse, now that total disguises are the latest fashion.

Even at that, some shrouded, hooded, masked and or wigged woman may foil him by covering her digits too with gloves.

Indeed, so disturbed are men over the latest fashions hiding women behind purdah-like veils sacks, or masks that a vociferous organization, the American Society of Girl Watchers, has launched vehement protests.

And if there is anything to watch, it isn't what it was a minute ago.

The trend toward disguises began shortly after World War II. Gradually it came about that a woman could tint her hair without tainting her reputation. The later acceptance of wigs as fashion, not a corrective cosmetic, brought about quicker change in hair color.

Meanwhile milliners have been doing their part to masquerade women. Never have they been more serious about their work than this season when nearly every fashionable feminine visage may be hidden from view.

As if this were not enough the milliners and the hair people have combined forces in creating the total disguise. That hat makers and hair stylists are working together again, after working against each other for so long, is news in itself.

In the past hat makers hated hair dressers who piled locks so high on heads there was no room for their creations; and hair dressers despised hat makers that covered heads so beautifully they made hairdos unnecessary. Now hat makers make the hats and hair stylists add the locks to the hat making it possible for the wearer to change hat and hair at the same time.

And that's exactly what they are doing. Dangling from the brim of a large-brimmed black hat are excelsior-blonde curls. Swirling gracefully from the peak of Swami's turbans are luxuriant black waves. Flaming red curls gently around the edges of berets.

The pioneers in this hat-hair coordination plot were Michel Kazan the coiffurist and the John Fredericks millinery house. The plaintiffs are the males, more baffled than ever as women become more mysterious than they ever were.

CLASSIC COAT

HOPSACKING CHOICE

The Ascendancy Of The Versatile Blazer

NEW YORK (UPI) — One of the current phenomena of the men's clothing world is the ascendancy of the blazer a marvelously versatile garment that can be almost as dressy as a dinner jacket or as informal as a sports jacket.

ORIGINALLY thew were all double-breasted navy blue with brass cuttons, the brainchild of a long-forgotten British naval officer who tired of the scruffy appearance of his crew and ordered them into the garment. His ship was H.M.S. Blazer and that name stuck.

In the 1920s they were made in loud stripes which really blazed and were worn with white ice cream pants. They never did go out of style but their popularity waned until four or five years ago when Stanley Blacker, a leading sports coat manufacturer, brought them out in a dozen different hues.

SOMEHOW they caught on again and, according to Blacker, "are part and parcel of a man's wardrobe." Navy blue still leads in popularity in a three-button model but the in group already has moved into double-breasted models and these are expected to be best sellers by Spring.

They are far more versatile than a sports coat. Worn with neat striped tie, usually a regimental stripe, and a crisp pair of dark grey flannels and black shoes they have entered the business world and Saturday night at the country club.

Worn with an open collar and a less formal pair of pants—sometimes even with corduroy—and with sports shoes they are as much a part of the outdoors as tweeds and leather. A favorite trick of the fashion conscious is to wear a blazer with an ascot and open shirt.

TE MAIN difference between blazers and sports jackets is that the blazers are almost invariably solid color with three patch pockets. The breast pocket often carries some sort of emblem or patch and the two lower pockets are sometimes flapped. The sports coat can come in a variety of fabrics, usually woolly, and patterns and there is no limit to the cut.

THE MOST popular colors at the moment are Navy blue followed by some derivative of green or olive and then burgundy and black. Other popular colors are some in-between color such as French blue. Somehow camel shades never really caught on.

The No. 1 fabric choice is a hopsacking effect of 60 percent wool and 40 per cent orlon, woven in a loose, open weave which has a mild resemblance to burlap. The second choice and preferred for the navy set is an all wool flannel. But there are silk, linen, synthetics, denim and combinations, often with dazzling linings.

METAL BUTTONS usually are worn although the double breasted blues sometimes appear with white pearl buttons. The metal can be silver, brass or solid gold for around $125 a set. Blacker currently is using Swedish buttons of baked enamel.

One spectacular blazer seen this summer was by Petrocelli — a rich burgundy red silk which the owner once used as a dinner jacket with black tie and white shirt then used with white flannels and an open necked sports shirt for an all-out resort effect.

"DOUBLEBREASTED has certainly reentered the sports coat field, more than ever before," Blacker said. "Spring will see them an important part of the wardrobe — in linen, worsted, terylene et cetera. In the meantime the single-breasted in a variety of solid colors is still tops."

Sweaters Updated With Knit-On-Suede And Stripes

Sweaters and slacks make the fall sportswear scene in a host of new ideas, new colors and new patterns. According to the American Institute of Men's and Boys' Wear, many of the classic sweaters have been updated with suede fronts. Some of these are in multi-colored panels, others are decorated with perforations and insets of knit-on-suede. Those treatments are found on both pullovers and cardigans.

Cable knits move from the classic tennis whites to both brushed and plain yarns and sometimes are used as a single fancy cable down each side of the sweater. Inspired by the hand-knits of the cottagers on the Irish coast is a wide pick of fisherman knits in pronounced bulky textures and intricate fancy stitches.

THE STRIPES of '65 run around the circumference of the sweaters emulating "competition stripes" and the North Woods markings of Hudson's Bay coats. There are also cross-striped versions of the popular collarless Henley neckline in brushed mohair-wool blends.

The new patterns are both big and "placed." They show to excellent advantage on both smooth and brushed knits and they include everything from square panels to giant herringbones.

One very notable "comeback" is the collared sweater. Many look just like ribbed sport shirt collars. Very smart!

The new fall slacks get a leg up on fashion via new giant rib corduroys, heathery-toned hopsacks, subtly shaded oxford weaves, rugged twills and a welcome revival of neat patterns. For knockabout wear, permanent press holds the crease and sheds the wrinkles of the wash slacks. The durable press treatment is also growing fast in the dressier slacks, too.

THE BIG RIB corduroys will be worn in many models including the standard Traditionals, the low-slung Westerns and the self-supporting beltless types. Look for wider belt loops and some with smart leather piping. Putty, clay and rust are but some of the colors that will star in the new wool and wool blend hopsack slacks. Mini-versions of the same basket weave, called "oxfords," share the same tones in a smoother look.

The rage for solid color blazers has brought back neatly patterned checks and plaids in the slacks slated for wear with those classic sport coats. Also look for trim and tough cavalry twills and twisty whipcords in wools, wool blends and cotton blends.

LAST BUT fast on the slopes are the revived ski knickers. Leaner and trimmer than their forebears, the new smart ski knickers make a welcome addition to the now standard stretch pants.

Molyneux Comeback After Retirement—

The 71-year-old maker of quiet, classic clothes returned to work for the summer collections last January after 12 years of retirement.

Before his show some fashion world observers were predicting that Molyneux clothes will, one of these seasons, launch a Molyneux revival in the way that Gabrielle Chanel's designs staged a sensational comeback after years of her retirement.

Molyneux, who scorns boots, trousers and other "novelties," invited the press to his show in the same building as that occupied by designer Jacques Griffe.

Varying Sizes

The National Shoe Institute reports that, for fit and foot accommodation, many shoe styles are produced in 80 to 90 size and width variations, each requiring its own last.

AS DIFFERENT as night and day is the fashion idea from Paris when it hits the U. S. shores. Yves Saint Laurent's daring evening outfit, left, appears elegant, but almost unrealistic or unobtainable when compared to a Paris-inspired coat, right, made by American manufacturer Terina, which retails for $70. Perky Baby Bonnets Worn With Strapped Mary Janes

BL ALINE MOSBY

PARIS (UPI) — A hood-like baby bonnet was designer Guy Laroche's contribution to the Paris earwarmer epidemic that has captured the autumn fashion collections.

Laroche's hood was stiffened in the back and fastened under the chin to give his mannequins "the little girl look" that is also a Paris trend.

Coming on the heels of the Christian Dior hoods shown Thursday Laroche's ear-warmers indicated that hoods may be one of the big fall fashion fads.

Paris fashion houses are hitting the youth idea hard, as apparently that is what sells to department store buyers these days.

In addition to his perky bonnets, Laroche called a new dress design the "young line," using the English words. "Young line" dresses used contrasting colors for the upper part of the garments, or mock boleros indicated by stitching or bands of sequins.

This gave a young high-waisted look. His other young touches were little single pigtails of false hair pinned to the back of the mannequins' heads for evening and day time felt hats with single felt pigtails dangling down behind.

Laroche showed many white wool dresses, another Paris trend. Outfits of camels hair are also in virtually every collection. Laroche's were a charcoal grey dress and jacket trimmed in camel hair.

A SUIT SHOE

The American woman spends countless hours in suits, one reason why Penaljo Softlights offers "Triumph," that teams soft textured leather with touches of smooth contrasting calfskin. Neat and dainty at Chapman's Shoes, San Rafael and Novato.

Standup Collars From Balenciaga

The small Balenciaga collar came on coats and suits which skipped the bulky shoulders shown by Givenchy. Since the two designers work closely, one collection often reflects the other. But one buyer said that the Balenciaga shoulders are narrower than before.

"Newsworthy, not commercial" was a buyer's description of the fake nudity of a beige chiffon "cage" gown hung over a matching leotard.

The buyers passed that one up to concentrate on Balenciaga's tunics and tunic effects.

There were sleeveless or cap-sleeved jersey tunics to wear for sports over slender pants.

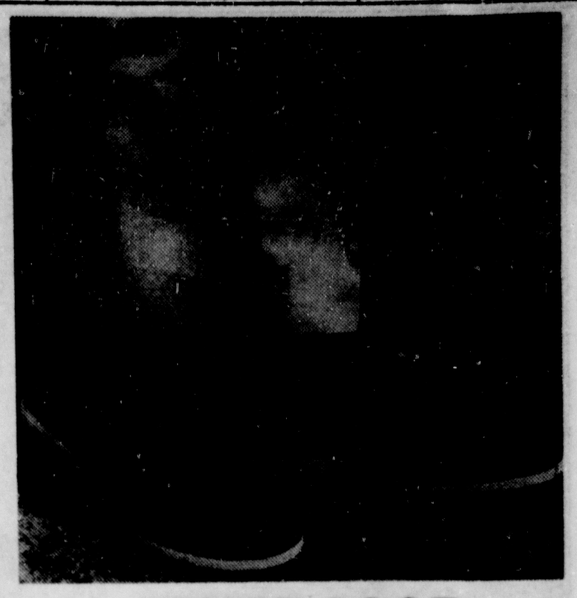

Jersey was used for real tunic dresses and for fakes — these last had low contrast borders creating tunic effects.

Below-hip suit jackets created almost-tunic effects, buyers said. These were semifit in front and straight in back, with raglan sleeves. Collars were cut to look as though they had been pulled slightly back and away from the neck.

There were many three-quarter coats, too, some flared, others straight with a slight barrel effect.

Lush, Deep, Cheery Colors Features Of Fall Landscape

The range of colors is greater than ever. Lush, deep colors. Rose, raspberry and wines go to one's head and suit. Blues, ginger and coppers are rich. Greens, oranges and reds are bold. The more conservative will have their share of beauty-new greys, coffee browns, black.

Skirts are the focal point of interest. They highlight dirndl softness — lightly gathered all around or only in the front. Often, a pair of slit pockets is incorporated in the dirndl look.

Pleated skirts are again on the scene in this year of motion. Pleats appear at each side with wide front and pack panels — or they go all around. When skirts are slim they are eased — and for the truly avant guard, they have a border which sometimes matches the suit jacket.

Jackets aim to flatter and go to every length to do so. Short, longer, slim jackets, tunics.

Closings vary, too. The asymmetric closings with buttons following through to the side is slimming. A double - breasted, squared-off jacket inspired by Courreges is great over a pleated skirt. The short, shaped jacket — cutaway and fly-front are new favorites.

Fur trims are here again. Fur bands and borders — particularly those of sable take honors. Detachable collars and cuffs are smart and practical.

LATEST LOOK

Leathers Have Trimmer Lines For Winter Look

Women's clothes have happily returned to a pretty, more delicate look. This gentle revolution finds perfect expression in the season's leather handbags, fashioned of smooth, grained, suede, brushed, patent, embossed and saffian textures.

Colors fall into several groups. There are the bright true shades —red, blue, gold; the deeper wines and greens; the pale tints; and the "natural" colors, notes Leather Industries of America.

For daytime wear, the handbag takes many forms, all clean-cut and elegantly detailed. You may choose a pouch, box bag, tote or envelope. Lines will be trim rather than bulky, the size roomy but not of suitcase proportions. Elegant example is the popular Chanel-type bag, a compact yet roomy quilted envelope with entwined chain handle and an outside pocket.

New feather-light leathers, developed through years of tanning research, make today's bags almost as weightless on your arm as your own skin.

No Apparel Arbiter For Men's Styles

Who is the Yves St. Laurent of the Men's fashion world, or the Courreges? The truth of the matter is, there is no reigning arbiter in men's apparel.

If men don't look to a name designer for fashion inspiration and interpretation, as does the distaff side, to whom do they turn.

A recent survey reveals that men mention first the name of the local store where they buy their clothing and secondly the brand name they prefer.

Although unknown as far as the public is concerned, the men's designer probably has greater influence over a man's garment as a whole than does a famous women's designer.

A male clothing designer does not try to conceive one masterful design that will sweep the country, or the world of fashion Instead, he concentrates on numerous designs for which he must adapt, modify, refine and enrich the style.

Simultaneously, he must work on styles for the natural shoulder, advance fashion, moderate and the new 'shaped look'.

For Sparkling Togs

If you really want to know what's new, pussycat, it is the new pussycat in fashion—leopard. Charles Howard, designer for Townley, put sequins on leopard and made sparkling togs out of it in that firm's fall and winter collection.

Knowing Slalom From Salaam Unimportant If Well Dressed

The skiers as well as non-skiers want the authentic "ski look." You may not know a slalom from a salaam, but active sport or no, be sure you know your skiwear!

Ski fashions have moved closer to the body contour than ever. The long, linear, close-fitting look is comfortable as well as being fashionable and functional.

The bulky quilted look in parkas is gone. Instead of actual quilting many parkas have employed the use of foam rubber laminate or batting between two layers of nylon for warmth.

Sweaters are mostly in the flat knits to go with the trimmer and flatter parkas. The bulky look is seen much less. Many flat knits are used in classic boat neck and V-neck styles.
